You Need Today's News Today.....

In these days, when the course of the industry is being shaped by hourly news developments, spot reporting of trade news is imperative for the guidance of exhibitor, distributor and producer alike.

THE FILM DAILY has been, is and will continue to be the daily *NEWS*paper of motion pictures.

In New York, it employs a hand-picked staff of highly trained, well informed and alert staff writers, working under the guidance of an experienced news desk.

Throughout the United States and Canada, a field staff of 150 intelligent and widely known correspondents keeps the news vigil.

In Hollywood, and in Washington THE FILM DAILY's bureaus are sensitive to news "breaks" affecting all arms of the industry.

Augmenting this unparalleled American coverage is THE FILM DAILY's unexcelled foreign cable and wireless service.

Thus, to the news desk in the course of 24 hours pours ALL the news, from the stork's arrival at the home of a Sioux City exhib. to a major realignment of company personnel, from a new war-time regulation in England to the announcement of a new producing company in Mexico City or Buenos Aires.

YOUR FIRST "BUY" in the motion picture field

First in A.B.C. total net paid circulation

First in the "Exhibition" field

First in the "Distribution" field

First in the "Production" field

First in the United States and Canada with the greatest paid circulation any film tradepaper ever had!

NATIONAL in Scope—Yet Intensive in LOCAL Coverage

BOXOFFICE is the only trade paper in the industry providing national or local coverage . . . either or both . . . every week . . . in every phase of the industry in the United States and Canada.

THE MODERN THEATRE

Published every four weeks as an integral section of BOXOFFICE, it reports and illustrates every phase of theatre operation and maintenance. The outstanding advertising medium for equipment manufacturers.

BOXOFFICE BAROMETER

Published in January . . . the middle of the season . . . covers all that has happened during the first half of the season and definitely, authoritatively, tells what is coming during the rest of the year. The only annual published expressly for service to theatre owners and managers . . . the only annual that completely blankets the industry.

BOXOFFICE RECORDS

Published annually in October . . . it reports the value at the boxoffice demonstrated by every picture released during the season just closed. An exact measure of the past and a potent guide for future plans.

● Hundreds of exhibitors have increased their business by making tie-ups with distributors and operators of automatic phonographs in their territories.

● These tie-ups, which cost you nothing, are particularly effective when you are planning to show or are showing a picture featuring songs which have been recorded. At such times you make arrangements with your local automatic phonograph distributor to have one of his phonographs installed in your lobby and you tie up with the operators in your territory to feature records of the picture-songs on their machines just before and while the picture is showing at your theatre. People hear the songs on the phonographs, are made conscious of the picture, and come to your theatre to see it.

● Many exhibitors have even made arrangements with operators to have posters, cards and placards prominently displayed on or near the machine, telling the public that certain songs heard on the phonograph are from a certain picture which can be seen at the neighborhood theatre. All sorts of profitable tie-ups with automatic phonographs have been worked out by exhibitors and there is no reason why you can't work them out with your own local automatic phonograph distributors and operators.

● It's a promotion that will not cost you one penny because you can tie in with the local representatives of the film producers, with your local film exchanges, etc.

● It's a tie-up that is sure-fire! It's guaranteed to bring more patrons into your theatre. And The Billboard, which is read by every important manufacturer, distributor and operator of automatic phonographs will be happy to supply you absolutely free of charge with the names of distributors and operators in your territory whom you may contact.

Take advantage of this outstanding opportunity to increase your business. Write today!

‘‘Hotter’n a Pistol’’

That’s what the unbiased reader says of THE OLD MAN’S CORNER, a six-month old feature of 28-year old Greater Amusements and authored by Publisher T. E. Mortensen.

When THE OLD MAN himself isn’t unravelling some intricacy for readers of “The Corner” or telling them what he sees in the horoscope, he calls on Legmen Mike The Dope or Professor E. Thaddius Blurrp or The Jerk to contribute enlightenment on current film business controversies and/or sideshows.

Out of the Great Northwest has come many progressive and aggressive moves for industry trade practice improvements: it has produced many of the top-flight executives in all branches of the business; it has pioneered in showmanship—in selling the pictures to the public and in bringing them the finest in theatre construction and comfort. But out of the same Great Northwest has come militants with good purposes and plans and rabble-rousers with evil purposes and plans.

Activities in 1942

Principal office: 28 West 44th St., New York City. Other offices at 5504 Hollywood Boulevard, Hollywood, Calif.; 709 Albee Building, Washington, D. C.; 11 Bruton St., London W1, England

THE Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., was organized in March, 1922, under the presidency of Will H. Hays. From the first Mr. Hays emphasized that the support of the public is essential to the production of better motion pictures. Improvement of films has been a continuing process in which both the producers and the public have shared.

In all that the Association has done in its twenty-one years of existence, self-regulation has been the constant purpose. Always the aim has been to maintain the integrity of the screen. This is in line with the American tradition of self-discipline, as exemplified in freedom of the press.

After eight years of progressive improvement in film standards, the self-regulative principle was bulwarked by the Production Code, adopted in March, 1930, and the Advertising Code, adopted in June of the same year, both of which continue in force.

Through his Open Door policy, Mr. Hays has interested thousands of community leaders in the industry's efforts at self-improvement. He has given assistance to public groups trying to encourage audience demand for the best entertainment.

Better films councils and committees are operating independently in thousands of communities all over the country. These groups act as leaders in their localities in efforts in behalf of better pictures.

The activities of the Association cover a wide area and include the self-regulation of advertising, community service, conservation, foreign markets, public information, theater service and title registration.

Production Code Administration

Self-regulation of motion picture production evolved gradually from early beginnings in 1922 when the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America was founded. Several progressive steps to establish higher standards of distribution culminated in the adoption on March 31, 1930, of the Production Code, which is still in force.

This Code, a voluntary agreement entered into by the member companies, acknowledges the producers' responsibility to the public and asks in return "a sympathetic understanding of their purposes and problem and a spirit of cooperation that will allow them the freedom and opportunity necessary to bring the motion picture to a still higher level of wholesome entertainment for all the people."

The Code machinery of self-regulation operates at four points:

1. The original story or play is submitted to the Production Code Administration for suggestion and criticism before the first screen adaptation is written.

2. When the script is completed, it is submitted for a check with Code requirements.
3. In the early stages of production, members of the Production Code Administration staff are often called in to discuss sequences that present problems.
4. After this careful reviewing all along the way, the finished picture is reviewed and, if it meets Code requirements, a certificate of approval is issued.

The Code machinery is available to all producers, foreign or domestic, whether or not they are members of the Association.

1. Class "A"—Feature pictures with negative costs in excess of $200,000.....$525.00
2. Class "B"—Feature pictures with negative costs from $100,000 to $200,000 inclusive.....$350.00
3. Class "C"—Feature pictures with negative costs of $25,000 to $100,000.....$100.00
4. Class "D"—Feature pictures with negative costs of less than $25,000

5. Feature-length pictures produced completely outside the United States—Service charge one-half of the regular fee for Classes "A," "B," and "C."
6. Reissues—all feature-length pictures..	$25.00
7. Short subjects (any film of less than 3,000 feet) .....	$25.00
In the course of the year 1942, 1,231 pictures were approved by the Production Code Administration as follows:

Advertising Code Administration

As with all forms of self-regulation in the motion picture industry, the efforts of the member companies of the Association, through the provisions of the Advertising Code (adopted June 6, 1930), are directed toward promoting and maintaining a high standard of advertising throughout the industry. This cooperative effort brings into conformity with the requirements of good taste all press books, newspaper advertising, trailers, outdoor displays, novelties and other forms of publicity and exploitation issued by member companies.

To insure uniform interpretation of the Code, all advertising material is submitted in advance to the Advertising Code Administration at the Hays office in New York or its branch in Hollywood.

Title Registration Bureau

For many years the Association has maintained a system of registration of motion picture titles. The purpose is to avoid the use of objectionable titles and to prevent the use of identical and harmfully similar titles, thus eliminating confusion on the part of producers and public.

A voluntary system of arbitration is provided within the industry for the settlement of disputes as to conflict or as to priority of titles and the methods of registration has become an important part of the industry's system of self-regulation.

Foreign Department

Through the medium of the Foreign Department, the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America assist members in securing fair treatment in the distribution of American films abroad. In the past twenty-one years the Association has taken

The 1942 record shows that 98,335 stills were submitted for review, of which 1,308 were returned for revision or discarded, the vast majority being later retouched and brought into conformance with the requirements of the Code. Of 7,188 exploitation ideas, 11 were considered unsuitable and were revised or eliminated, while 1 of the 9,589 publicity stories required re-writing. Out of the 1,555 posters reviewed, 35 required changes in art work, and 10 of the 918 trailers reviewed needed revisions. The 10,099 advertisements submitted included trade, national and magazine ads, as well as ads for short subjects, and 313 (or approximately 3%) were rejected or revised. A total of 4,999 miscellaneous accessories cleared through the Administration offices with changes in only 8 .

At the present time, there are more than 25 producing or distributing companies which regularly register titles with the Association. New registrations range from a dozen to as many as 40 per day with an average of approximately 18 daily.

The Association has established a comprehensive card index of titles of released pictures. This index now contains more than 40,000 titles and is believed to be the most comprehensive index of released pictures in existence.

a leading part in successful negotiations to solve difficulties due to restrictive legislation.

The department keeps member companies closely informed on legislative and economic developments in foreign markets.

Conservation Department

The Conservation Department directs fire prevention work in all exchanges of member companies in the United States and Canada. As a result of the system of self-regulation it has developed in this field, there was a total of only twelve fires in member distributing company exchanges from January 1, 1926, to December 31, 1942, with a monetary loss of $4,759.54. Because of this record, Association motion picture exchanges are ranked first among all industries of the country from the standpoint of public safety.

One fire occurred in a film exchange not under the supervision of the Conservation Department in 1942. This was in the Imperial Film Exchange, Boston, Massachusetts. The chief of the Boston Fire Department estimated the loss at $6,000.

Another phase of the protective activities of the Conservation Department is its continued survey of all non-theatrical institutions to obtain information on

Theater Service Department

The broad field of trade relations, trade practices, improved methods of theater operation and the structure of industrial organization in the exhibition and distribution of motion pictures is continuously studied by the Theater Service Department. Effort is constantly made to bring about better and broader understanding of industry problems that arise between widely separated units of operation in the motion picture business.

In various ways the exhibitor is encouraged to develop a better appreciation and understanding of the problems of distribution and production and of the economic principles involved in the operation of the business of distribution, which is noted for the speed and precision with which it functions. Every effort is made to assist trade associations of theater owners in developing in constructive ways their own usefulness and service to the local theater owners in their own state and zone, to improve the standards of theater management and operation and to build good will for the local motion picture theater.

Information and statistics on the business development of the industry are assembled, checked and supplied to units in the industry for various uses. Surveys and studies are made of exhibitor problems for the information of those concerned with such developments.

Department of Studio and Public Service

Hollywood Office

Alice Evans Field, Director

The fundamental purpose of the Department of Study and Public Service is to bring about honest understanding between the motion picture industry and the general public, to the end that:

- (1) The studios shall be upheld by public support in their willingness to provide fine fare for cinema audiences.
- (2) The public shall be encouraged to lend this support to the best product and shall be given a better understanding of the problems that confront the makers and distributors of pictures.

The activities through which this department operates are a previewing service, monthly surveys carrying material to key people, radio series, library contracts, constant supplying of material usable in clubs, church bulletins, schools. Briefly outlined, they are as follows:

- (1) PREVIEW SERVICE. Large committees chosen by eleven leading women's organizations are, through studio courtesies, given early showings of pictures on which they pronounce unbiased opinions which in turn they send to their membership. These reviews cover the entertainment values, production values, social values and audience suitability of all the pictures that they see. Supplementing the lists prepared by each of the above groups for their own membership, the department holds a weekly session of all these chairmen at which they unite on joint estimates which are printed on sheets that are used as posters by all the public groups that the department contacts. The organizations (giving their services without remuneration) are as follows:

General Federation of Women's Clubs
National Society Daughters of American Revolution
American Legion Auxiliary, Dept. of California
California Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc.
National Federation of Music Clubs
California Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs
American Association of University Women
Los Angeles Section, National Council of Jewish Women
Southern California Council of Church Women
Zeta Phi Eta
International Federation of Catholic Alumnae

- (2) MONTHLY BULLETINS titled "Leading Motion Pictures" (reviews of the current product), together with a four-page section titled "Looking Ahead in Hollywood," are compiled in this office. Through visits to the studios an effort is made to catch the flavor and secure material of interest concerning pictures in process of production. This booklet goes to some thousands of special correspondents, leaders of motion picture councils, heads of organization motion picture departments, lecturers and educators.

- (3) THE RADIO SERVICE called "What's Happening in Hollywood" involves a weekly bulletin which can be used exactly as it is, or can be modified to suit local interests. It goes (only by request) to nearly 1,000 persons who give regular broadcasts.
- (4) LIBRARIES all over the country have discovered that the choice of books is much influenced by current pictures. Therefore, at their request, this department supplies the "Library Journal" weekly with lists of books, plays or important periods that are to be filmed. Again, more than 1500 libraries are supplied with the "Joint Estimates" mentioned above.
- (5) HIGH SCHOOLS all over the country are more and more offering courses in Motion Picture Appreciation. This department is constantly preparing mimeographed articles that supply teachers with up-to-date information on pictures and technical matters such as music in the pictures, personalities of directors, artistry in pictures, etc.

- (6) BETTER FILMS COUNCIL and committees and picture departments in clubs exist by the thousands all over the country. All departmental printed matter and personal correspondence goes in great quantities to such groups. Many churches also ask for the material and embody it in their bulletins.
- (7) STUDY CLUBS by hundreds ask for material on motion pictures. For them, special outlines for work and many types of special bulletins must be prepared. Their myriad questions concerning their local problems must be answered.
- (8) The department also maintains lists of people over the country to whom the individual bulletins should be sent by the studios concerning films with definite interest. It also provides speakers for some hundreds of meetings every year.

Community Service Department

The Community Service Department provides information and assistance to civic, cultural and educational community leaders who are interested in directing the attention of the public to the finest current motion pictures presented in theaters. The department also assists theater managers to adjust their entertainment programs to the needs of the entire family. Among the activities that have the active cooperation of the department are the following:

New York Previewing Committee

Previewing facilities are maintained in New York with the cooperation of the member companies of the Association for the benefit of organizations and publications whose representatives can see films more conveniently in New York than in California. A representative of the Boy Scouts of America previews pictures to secure material for the monthly movie page in the magazine, Boy's Life. Communications regarding this service should be addressed to Boy Scouts of America, Inc., 2 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Under the leadership of Mrs. LeRoy Montgomery of South Norwalk, Conn., chairman of the National Preview Committee of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, a committee reviews motion pictures regularly for publication in the National Historical Magazine. A mimeographed list is also published and sent monthly to several thousand D.A.R. chapters scattered all over the United States.

The National Committee on Music in Motion Pictures, a special preview committee appointed by the National Federation of Music Clubs, reviews motion pictures that are of particular interest to music teachers and music lovers. The chairman is Mme. Adelaide Gescheidt, a well known New York vocal teacher. The reviews of this music committee are sent to Mrs. Grace W. Mabree for publication in Film Music Notes.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs is represented in the East by the Eastern Division of Motion Picture Reviewers under the chairmanship of Mrs. Dean Gray Edwards. The weekly reports of her committee are sent to the National Motion Picture Chairman, Mrs. Volney Taylor.

Several motion picture councils in the Greater New York area review motion pictures and publish and circulate their comments among their individual clientele.

The New York Public Library has a group of previewers who cover all pictures on books and stage plays. The Library Journal, issued bi-monthly, carries a list of all pictures, completed and in the making, based on books, stage plays, and other published material.

Under the leadership of Mrs. James F. Looman, chairman, Motion Picture Department, the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae has a large previewing group whose findings are published weekly in the Legion of Decency List.

There are several other publications which have a reviewer, checking on pictures of special interest to their individual organizations—The Christian Herald, Parents' Magazine, Columbia Review, etc.

Photoplay Appreciation

It is estimated that not less than 6,000,000 students in elementary and secondary schools, colleges and universities receive more or less detailed guidance from their teachers in the appreciative study of appropriate motion picture pictures and short subjects currently offered in the theaters. This technique is rapidly spreading, especially in high schools and junior high schools. These progressive teachers use the local motion picture theater for illustrative material just as they use the public library for collateral reading. Also, they have found it practical to mould the taste of their pupils toward the development of discriminating habits of choice in the selection of motion picture entertainment. In these activities teachers use study guides of which 25 or 30 are published during each school year in New York and in California, classroom bulletins mailed by the Community Service Department, selected still pictures chosen with special reference to their educational value and research photograph exhibits which are regularly displayed in about 4,000 public libraries and school libraries. Interested teachers are usually able to obtain this material through local exhibitors who secure it from the distributors of the pictures.

Exhibits Available to Schools and Libraries Without Cost

Displays of various types, research exhibits, and brochures featuring the historical background, literary antecedents and technical data concerning production are available from the Department of Community Service without cost. The poster displays usually feature some event such as "Children's Book Week." The research exhibits—approximately 20" x 30" and including from three to 12 posters—present source materials utilized in designing costumes, sets, properties, story sources and other collaterals used in the process of translating fiction, biography, history, etc., to motion pictures. The brochures, covering much the same field, are usable for intimate classroom study as well as display.

Schools and libraries desiring to have their addresses placed on the mailing list should send with their request a statement of their facilities for use and indicate the departments or divisions to which the exhibits will be made available. Where more than one copy is required, arrangement should be made with local exhibitors to supply additional copies.

The Community Service Department, in cooperation with educational groups and librar-ians, selects the pictures to receive this treatment. The cultural, social and educational as well as entertainment values of the pictures are the determining factors. The interest in and desire for mutual collaboration on the part of the producer-members of the Association makes this service possible.

Exhibitors, where it is known that these materials are not locally used, should feel no hesitancy in approaching school administrators or librarians concerning their value. They are now regularly in use by more than 6,000 high schools and 4,000 libraries. While many schools and libraries have limitations and conventions inherent in the public character of their institutions, once they have realized that these display materials have been designed with a knowledge of their properties, welcome them. Only mutual respect can grow from the realization that many current photoplays have great educational value and that filming of the classics greatly extends the public's reading of them. These materials enhance the value of both and attract the public to those photoplays that entertain and should be seen by all.

Stills

Sets of stills have been assembled, suitably selected for school and library display from about 50 photoplays which are based on standard works of literature and other similarly important productions. These stills are provided at $1.00 per set on request of librarians and teachers of photoplay appreciation classes. A list of pictures on which sets of stills are available will be mailed on request.

Non-Current Theatrical Shorts Available for Classrooms

Activities of the MPPDA looking toward the use of films in classroom teaching developed coincidentally with the photoplay appreciation movement but antedated it in time. "Developing the educational as well as the entertainment value and the general usefulness of the motion picture" was included in the statement of the purposes for which the Association was formed in 1922. Will H. Hays has consistently pursued this policy both as regards research and production.

A further distribution of stills is effected in many other communities where librarians cooperate with local exhibitors who obtain stills from branch and sales managers. This is a very valuable arrangement both to the exhibitors and to the libraries, since it stimulates circulation of the library books and interests the patrons of the libraries in photoplays before they are shown in local theaters.

At the 77th Annual Convention of the National Education Association in San Francisco on July 6, 1939, Hays announced the completion of the plan by which about 500 non-current theatrical short subjects selected by a committee of educators out of about 15,000 in the vaults of the member companies may be used by educational institutions in strictly classroom work for a period of three years without compensation to the owners of the copyrighted films.

These pictures were selected by the Advisory Committee on the Use of Motion Pictures in Education consisting of the following members: James R. Angell, President Emeritus, Yale University; Frederick H. Bair, Superintendent of Schools, Bronxville, N. Y.; Isaiah Bowman, President of John Hopkins University; Karl T. Compton, President of Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Edmund E. Day, President of Cornell University; Royal B. Farnum, Executive Vice-President of the Rhode Island School of Design; Willard E. Givens, Executive Secretary of the National Education Association; Jay B. Nash, Professor of Education in New York University; Mark A. May (Chairman), Professor of Educational Psychology, and Director of the Institute of Human Relations, Yale University; Francis T. Spaulding, Dean of the Graduate School of Education, Howard University.

For the purpose of handling the physical distribution of the films, the educators who are members of this Advisory Committee formed themselves into a corporation known as Teaching Film Custodians, Inc. This corporation, in turn appointed three Trustees—Dr. James R. Angell, President Emeritus of Yale University; Dr. Willard E. Givens, Executive Secretary of the National Education Association; and Carl E. Milliken, Secretary of MPPDA.

Under the terms and conditions of the contracts with the producing companies, these trustees are permitted to license non-current short subjects to schools for limited periods not to exceed three years with stated limitations as follows:

"Prints will be furnished only to bona fide educational institutions; the exhibitions shall be before classroom or kindred groups composed only of bona fide students or enrolled members of such educational institutions, and such exhibitions shall be an integral factor of class or group study.

"Admission fees, directly or indirectly, shall never be charged or permitted to be paid for admission at the door or otherwise in advance or afterwards, for the right to attend either single exhibitors, or a series of such exhibitions."

Under the contract, these pictures must be projected without change or alteration. The unauthorized copying of these films is a violation of the United States Copyright Law. Any unauthorized exhibition of these pictures would also be a violation of the Copyright Law.

The Advisory Committee has prepared and published a 328-page Handbook of Films listing and describing the short subjects which, under this plan, are made available to schools for classroom use. This catalog is organized in three main parts. The first is a classification and description of all pictures according to the outline shown below; the second is an alphabetical index of titles; and the third is an appendix including indices of films for specialized curricular purposes, and a copy of the standard license agreement.

A description of each of the films will be found in the main body of the handbook. Each description contains, first, an account of the visual and sound elements of the film; and second, a brief resume of the panel's appraisal. This usually includes a statement of the grade level and the school subject in which the picture is judged by the panel probably to have its greatest usefulness. The panel's estimate of the film as a whole, or of its educational promise is expressed by such phrases as "highly recommended," "recommended," "should have value or be useful for," or "suggested by panel as having limited value, or some degree of value for . . ."

The panel appraisals of these films are, of course, quite subjective and preliminary. The ultimate test of their educational usefulness is in the classroom. The Advisory Committee wishes to emphasize the experimental nature of this work and invites the cooperation of all teachers who use these films. It is hoped that records of the responses of pupils will be kept and that copies will be sent to the office of the trustee. These reports will be used as guides to the selection of additional pictures which are not now available. Schools of education and other research agencies are invited to send in the results of any investigations that they may make on the educational values of these films.

Character Education Films

The development of the new discussion technique with the Secrets of Success films and the establishment of a broad basis of general knowledge of the problems of adolescents by the Commission on Human Relations of the Progressive Education Association were both necessary preliminaries to the Character Education film project which the Commission is now carrying on.

The general studies indicate that American youth passing from childhood through adolescence to adult development is likely to encounter as many as 175 difficult human relation situations. These transitions are required by the culture into which the youth is born. It is an educational responsibility to aid him in making these adaptations. It is an educational opportunity to give him an understanding of why the adaptations are required. The Commission believes that approximately 100 of these situations can best be approached and understood through the distinctive film discussion method originated by the Committee on Social Values in Motion Pictures under the leadership of Dr. Howard

M. LeSourd and further developed by the Commission on Human Relations with the cooperation of the member companies of the MPPDA.

Up to the termination of the first contract with the film companies on July 1, 1939, approximately 75 of these situations had been covered by excerpts from non-current feature pictures edited and prepared by the Commission and used in 20 experimental schools.

Before the expiration of the contract, the producing companies agreed to extend its terms for a period of two years. This has been further extended. It was agreed also that the Commission be permitted to distribute the film to educational institutions which would agree to use the film discussion technique under the general direction of the Commission.

Information regarding the details of this experiment and the terms on which films may be secured can be obtained from Dr. Alice V. Keliher, Chairman, Commission on Human Relations, New York University, Washington Square, N. Y. City.

Production Code of Ethics

 and The Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc.*

MOTION picture producers recognize the high trust and confidence which have been placed in them by the people of the world and which have made motion pictures a universal form of entertainment.

They recognize their responsibility to the public because of this trust and because entertainment and art are important influences in the life of a nation.

Hence, though regarding motion pictures primarily as entertainment without any explicit purpose of teaching or propaganda, they know that the motion picture within its own field of entertainment may be directly responsible for spiritual or moral progress, for higher types of social life, and for much correct thinking.

During the rapid transition from silent to talking pictures they have realized the necessity and the opportunity of subscribing to a Code to govern the production of talking pictures and of reacknowledging this responsibility.

On their part, they ask from the public and from public leaders a sympathetic understanding of their purposes and problems and a spirit of cooperation that will allow them the freedom and opportunity necessary to bring the motion picture to a still higher level of wholesome entertainment for all the people.

General Principles

1. No picture shall be produced which will lower the moral standards of those who see it. Hence the sympathy of the audience shall never be thrown to the side of crime, wrongdoing, evil or sin.

2. Correct standards of life, subject only to the requirements of drama and entertainment, shall be presented.

3. Law, natural or human, shall not be ridiculed, nor shall sympathy be created for its violation.

Particular Applications

I. Crimes Against the Law

These shall never be presented in such a way as to throw sympathy with the crime as against law and justice or to inspire others with a desire for imitation.

1. Murder.
  - a. The technique of murder must be presented in a way that will not inspire imitation.
  - b. Brutal killings are not to be presented in detail.
  - c. Revenge in modern times shall not be justified.
2. Methods of Crime should not be explicitly presented.
  - a. Theft, robbery, safe-cracking, and dynamiting of trains, mines, buildings, etc., should not be detailed in method.
  - b. Arson must be subject to the same safeguards.
  - c. The use of firearms should be restricted to essentials.
  - d. Methods of smuggling should not be presented.
3. Illegal Drug Traffic must never be presented.
4. The use of liquor in American life, when not required by the plot or for proper characterization, will not be shown.

II. Sex

The sanctity of the institution of marriage and the home shall be upheld. Pictures shall not infer that low forms of sex relationship are the accepted or common thing.

1. Adultery, sometimes necessary plot material, must not be explicitly treated, or justified, or presented attractively.
2. Scenes of Passion.
  - a. They should not be introduced when not essential to the plot.
  - b. Excessive and lustful kissing, lustful embraces, suggestive postures and gestures, are not to be shown.
  - c. In general, passion should so be treated that these scenes do not stimulate the lower and baser element.

3. Seduction or Rape.

- a. They should never be more than suggested, and only when essential for the plot, and even then never shown by explicit method.
  - b. They are never the proper subject for comedy.
1. Sex perversion or any inference to it is forbidden.
  5. White slavery shall not be treated.
  6. Miscegenation (sex relationship between the white and black races) is forbidden.
  7. Sex hygiene and venereal diseases are not subjects for motion pictures.
  8. Scenes of actual child birth, in fact or in silhouette, are never to be presented.
  9. Children's sex organs are never to be exposed.

III. Vulgarity

The treatment of low, disgusting, unpleasant, though not necessarily evil, subjects should be subject always to the dictate of good taste and a regard for the sensibilities of the audience.

IV. Obscenity

Obscenity in word, gesture, reference, song, joke, or by suggestion (even when likely to be understood only by part of the audience) is forbidden.

V. Profanity

Pointed profanity (this includes the words, God, Lord, Jesus, Christ—unless used reverently—Hell, S.O.B., damn, Gawd), or every other profane or vulgar expression however used, is forbidden.

VI. Costume

1. Complete nudity is never permitted. This includes nudity in fact or in silhouette, or any lecherous or licentious notice thereof by other characters in the picture.
2. Undressing scenes should be avoided and never used save where essential to the plot.
3. Indecent or undue exposure is forbidden.
4. Dancing costumes intended to permit undue exposure or indecent movements in the dance are forbidden.

VII. Dances

1. Dances suggesting or representing sexual actions or indecent passion are forbidden.
2. Dances which emphasize indecent movements are to be regarded as obscene.

VIII. Religion

1. No film or episode may throw ridicule on any religious faith.
2. Ministers of Religion in their character as ministers of religion should not be used as comic characters or as villains.
3. Ceremonies of any definite religion should be carefully and respectfully handled.

IX. Locations

The treatment of bedrooms must be governed by good taste and delicacy.

X. National Feelings

1. The use of the flag shall be consistently respectful.
2. The history, institutions, prominent people and citizenry of other nations shall be represented fairly.

XI. Titles

XII. Repellent Subjects

The following subjects must be treated within the careful limits of good taste:

1. Actual hangings or electrocutions as legal punishments for crime.
2. Third degree methods.
3. Brutality and possible gruesomeness.
4. Branding of people or animals.
5. Apparent cruelty to children or animals.
6. The sale of women, or a woman selling her virtue.
7. Surgical operations.

Resolution for Uniform Interpretation

1. When requested by production managers, the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America, Incorporated, shall secure any facts, information or suggestions concerning the probable reception of stories or the manner in which in its opinion they may best be treated.

2. That each production manager shall submit in confidence a copy of each or any script to the Production Code Administration of the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America, Incorporated (and of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc., California). Such Production Code Administration will give the production manager for his guidance such confidential advice and suggestions as experience, research, and information indicate, designating wherein in its judgement the script departs from the provisions of the Code, or wherein from experience or knowledge it is believed that exception will be taken to the story or treatment.

3. Each production manager of a company belonging to the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America, Incorporated, and any producer proposing to distribute and/or distributing his picture through the facilities of any member of the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America, Incorporated, shall submit to such Production Code Administration every picture he produces before the negative goes to the laboratory for printing. Said Production Code Administration, having seen the picture, shall inform the production manager in writing whether in its opinion the picture conforms or does not conform to the Code, stating specifically wherein either by theme, treatment or incident, the picture violates the provisions of the Code. In such latter event, the picture shall not be released until the changes indicated by the Production Code Administration have been made; provided, however, that the production manager may appeal from such opinion of said Production Code Administration, so indicated in writing, to the Board of Directors of the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America, Incorporated, whose findings shall be final, and such production manager and company shall be governed accordingly.

A Survey of Sunday Closing Regulations

Alabama

Legalized by local option. Sunday shows in Anniston, Ensley, Montgomery, Auburn, Demopolis, Dothan, Selma, Troy, Bessemer, Cullman, Jasper, Tuscaloosa. Bill passed in 1937 legalizing Sunday shows in Jefferson County (Leeds, Tarrant, Birmingham). Sunday closing in Camden, Greenville, Linden, Livingstone, York. Attorney General ruled in 1942, Sunday films not prohibited in towns less than 15,000.

Arizona

No state legislation.

Arkansas

Legislature of 1931 passed law legalizing Sunday shows by local option. 1939 legislature passed bill legalizing Sunday motion pictures.

California

No state legislation against Sunday amusements.

Colorado

Legalized by local option—law on statute books interpreted as prohibiting Sunday shows, passed in 1871, but some years ago case was appealed to Supreme Court of State and decision rendered that law did not prevent operation of motion picture theaters on Sunday. No towns forbid shows by local ordinance, although some of smaller towns do not have Sunday shows.

Connecticut

Local option throughout the state. Hartford and Danbury do not allow Sunday matinees, but theaters open at five p.m. State passed bill in 1937 permitting theaters to remain open Sunday night until 11 p.m. instead of 10:30.

Delaware

Legislature defeated bill in 1937 for statewide Sunday films instead of local option. 1941—Repeated Blue Laws—provides local option for Sunday movies between noon and 6 p.m. and from 8 p.m. until midnight on Sunday.

District of Columbia

Theaters open on Sunday.

Florida

Legalized by local option. All large towns have Sunday shows.

Georgia

Does not permit motion pictures on Sunday. In spite of blue laws, however, Atlanta, Albany, Columbus, and Thomasville do show pictures. Savannah permits Sunday shows between 2 and 6 and after 9:30 p.m. Proceeds to charity.

Idaho

State law prohibits Sunday shows, but upon signed petition of the majority of voters, presented to City Council, question is submitted to voters of community and popular vote governs action of council. Practically every sizeable town in state operates on Sunday.

Illinois

No state law legalizing or making illegal showing of pictures on Sunday. This is controlled by municipalities. No Sunday shows in Sparta and Waverly.

Indiana

Not legalized, but Sunday motion pictures are shown in every principal city in State. No Sunday shows in Oakland City.

Iowa

Legalized by local option.

Kansas

Has Sunday labor laws which include motion pictures for Sunday showing. Law has never been enforced and all towns operate except White Cloud, Smith Center, Lindsborg, Scott City, Clifton, Baldwin, Greenleaf, Lincoln, Jetmore, Spearville, Oskaloosa.

Kentucky

Bill legalizing Sunday performances passed 1934. The following have Sunday showings by local ordinance: Falmouth, Harrodsburg, Russell, Vanceburg, Williamsburg, Campbellsville, Livermore, Munfordsville, Beaver Dam, Columbia, Elizabethtown, Greenville, Hodgenville. State Court of Appeals in 1942 declared Sunday movies permitted by state law and no municipality can prohibit them.

Louisiana

Legalized by local option.

Maine

1939 law permits Sunday movies between 3 and 11 p.m. 1941—Legislature passed local option referendum exercised at regular elections—effective July 26, 1941.

Maryland

Legislature in 1931 enacted law providing referendum for city of Baltimore which was voted on and passed. Theaters open in following counties: Baltimore, Montgomery, Prince George, St. Mary's, Howard, Oakland, and Anne Arundel. Incorporated towns in Allegheny County may have Sunday showings provided that they obtain permit from municipal authorities. Other counties have not passed laws permitting Sunday shows. 1941—Legislature passed law permitting Sunday shows in Carroll county.

Massachusetts

Legalized for Sunday showing. A large number of cities and towns are forbidden showings on Sundays.

Michigan

Has old blue law statute prohibiting showing of pictures on Sunday but statute is not enforced. Holland is only city which has Sunday closing law by city ordinance.

Minnesota

Sunday closing law of 1905 amended 1909 legalizing outdoor sports. In a decision of 1910 motion pictures classed same as sports and allowed to operate on Sundays.

Mississippi

Not legalized. One town, Shaw, operates—they open on Sunday, pay the fine and continue to operate. In May 1942 city commission of Jackson gave permission for Sunday shows but in October State Circuit Court closed Sunday shows after city police chief had declared theaters might remain open.

Missouri

Have Sunday labor laws which include motion pictures for Sunday showing. Law was never enforced and all towns operate except Marshall, Fairfax, Fulton.

Montana

No state statute prohibiting showing of motion pictures on Sunday and no law legalizing such showing, but all towns run shows on Sunday.

Nebraska

Legalized by local option. Sunday shows forbidden in Stromsberg. Town council opened Arnold for Sunday shows Jan. 18, 1937. Beatrice voted for Sunday pictures April 3, 1940.

Nevada

No state legislation against Sunday amusements.

New Hampshire

State passed Sunday sports and entertainment bill in 1931 and individual cities and towns vote on it. The entire state is now open.

New Jersey

Blue laws repealed in 1933. Towns which have local ordinance prohibiting Sunday shows: Belvedere, Blairstown, Frenchtown, Highbridge, Jamesburg, Metuchen, Ocean Grove, Peapack, Ridgwood, Upper Montclair, Westfield, Nov. 8, 1938—Montclair by referendum vote made Sunday movies legal. State removed ban on Sunday shows in Princeton to provide recreation for men in Army and Navy training camps.

New Mexico

Bill passed 1931 legislature legalizing Sunday showings and prohibiting local option measures from closing theaters.

New York

Home rule law by which towns and cities are legalized to show motion pictures on Sunday after 2 p.m., provided local ordinance is enacted to this effect by local legislative body and ratified by direct vote of people at special election. Under this law leading towns and cities show pictures on Sunday. The following towns have local ordinances prohibiting Sunday shows: Bronxville, Carmel, Middletown, New Paltz, Hancock, Cazenovia. Rensselaer repealed ordinance Nov. 1940. 1939 law provides referendum by villages on Sunday shows.

North Carolina

Not legalized. State law, city ordinances and public opinion opposed to Sunday pictures. The following towns do have Sunday shows Asheville, Benson, Chapel Hill, Dunn, Durham, Elizabeth City, Henderson, High Point, Louisburg, Plymouth, Raleigh, Robersonville, Sanford, Scotland Neck, Tarboro, Williamston. Sunday films legalized for Cherokee County in 1937. Numerous towns have Sunday shows and a per cent of the proceeds is given to charity. 1939—Sunday closing law repealed in Johnston and Hyde counties. Law also passed 1939 prohibiting Sunday shows in Yadkin county and Sunday movies in Northampton between 1 and 6 p.m. Sunday movies permitted in Charlotte and Salisbury in 1941.

North Dakota

Sunday shows legalized by referendum in 1933.

Ohio

Legalized showing on Sunday. Forbidden in Bayesville and Cambridge. On June 18, 1940 Supreme Court of Ohio upheld rights of municipalities to forbid Sunday shows.

Oklahoma

Legalized by local option. No state law against operation of Sunday shows. No towns of any consequence have Sunday closing ordinances.

Oregon

Pennsylvania

Sunday opening law passed in 1935. Legalized by local option. 1941 legislature changed law providing referendum be held every 4 years instead of 5 on request of 20 per cent of highest vote cast for any candidate (old law 5 per cent).

Rhode Island

South Carolina

Not legalized. Same statute as North Carolina. 1941 legislature passed law permitting Sunday movies after 2 p.m. in Richland and Charleston counties (due to government bascs).

South Dakota

Has state law prohibiting Sunday pictures. Local option has over-ruled this law, however, and pictures are shown on Sunday in all principal towns.

Tennessee

Governor signed bill repealing blue laws in 1935. Sunday opening by local option. However, not many operate. Memphis, Dresden and Savannah have Sunday shows. 1939 laws passed providing majority vote of municipality should decide for Sunday movies. Previous law 4/5 majority. Nashville approved Sunday shows in 1939. Murfreesboro closed by poll tax vote October, 1940. On Feb. 5, 1942, Etowah and Clarksville approved Sunday films. City council approved Sunday opening in Knoxville from 1 to 6 p.m. in Aug., 1942.

Texas

Governor signed bill legalizing Sunday pictures which became effective in 1931, subject to local option. Prior to passage of law, majority of principal towns were open. Most towns now have Sunday shows.

Utah

No law preventing showing of pictures on Sundays. Former state statute made it illegal to operate a theater on Sunday, but this statute was repealed in 1925. Local option bill was subsequently introduced, but failed to pass.

Vermont

Law permitting Sunday movies after 6 p.m. passed in 1939. 1941 legislature eliminated necessity for voting every year on Sunday amusements, except on petition of 5 per cent of voters.

Virginia

Not legalized. Norfolk shows motion pictures on Sunday by virtue of test case where court held motion pictures were works of necessity. In Richmond motion pictures were shown on Sunday by making contribution to city for charitable works. Court upheld Sunday opening in Richmond and Charlottesville. Decision taken as allowing all theaters to operate on Sunday. Roanoke operated for a few Sundays but court held it was in violation of law. Legalized in Arlington county May, 1939 by court decision. Victoria and Williamsburg opened to Sunday movies in 1942.

Washington

Sunday opening not legalized except in Colfax where old statute providing Sunday closing was attempted to be enforced, but was defeated. Theaters close in Pullman on Sunday evenings as result of friendly arrangement with people of Normal School of Pullman. Theaters throughout state operate without interference. There are no Sunday closing ordinances.

West Virginia

Not legalized, but all principal cities show pictures on Sunday which include Charleston, Bluefield, Huntington, Williamson (theaters in last city open after closing of church in morning and close prior to evening service). Forbidden by local ordinance in Lewisburg, Milton, and Roncoveite.

Wisconsin

Blue laws repealed in 1933.

Wyoming

No state law concerning motion pictures.

The Academy In War Time

By WALTER WANGER

President, Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences

DURING its first year under war conditions the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences has not only carried on its normal peacetime activities but has retooled its facilities to deliver added services to industry and government in the interests of winning the war.

The Research Council has cooperated with the War Department in the making of training films, and has conducted a great deal of research looking toward the conservation of raw film and other critical materials. Details of the Council's activities will be found elsewhere in this publication.

The most direct, tangible new service to the industry was the establishment by the Academy of a War Film Library which makes available for private studio screenings the war films of Great Britain, Canada, Russia, Mexico, and this country's own war reporting films. In April, 1942, studio representatives met with the British Consul, Eric Clough, M.V.O., and Thomas Baird, representing the British Ministry of Information; J. C. Britton, acting Canadian Government Trade Commissioner in Los Angeles, representing the National Film Board of Canada; and Donald Gledhill, Executive Secretary of the Academy. At that meeting the machinery to obtain war films and stock footage from British and Canadian government sources was set up.

Under this system the Academy has acquired prints of all the British Ministry of Information short subjects which are in New York. The Academy also receives a 35 mm. reviewing print of all subjects as they arrive in this country. Advance information is supplied to the Academy before the release of each subject, and this information is supplied to the Academy before the release of each subject, and this information stating availability of additional footage, is passed on to the studios.

The Academy War Film Library acts as a clearing house where studios may obtain reviewing prints of subjects sought, either as a guide to current production, or for inclusion in stock footage. While the Academy arranges for the delivery of such subjects from New York by air, negotiations for purchase of footage or release of the films is handled by the individual companies. To date a total of 170 titles are cataloged in the film library, with the number steadily increasing. A great saving in time and money has been brought about by this new service.

Reviewing the events of the past year, the most outstanding was the 14th Annual Awards Dinner on the night of February 26. Chief guests were Wendell L. Willkie, Dr. Hu Shi, Chinese Ambassador, and John Grierson, film commissioner of the Canadian National Film Board. As in the past several years, the Screen Actors, Writers and Directors Guilds actively participated with the Academy membership in voting for the awards. Some 10,000 ballots were mailed for the voting.

The Second Annual Still Photography Show proved a success, gaining wide and favorable publicity for the photographers and the industry. Throughout the country traveling exhibits of the winning prints are still being shown in art galleries, schools, colleges, theaters and stores.

The Academy Players Directory has increased in usefulness and importance, as has the Bulletin of Screen Achievement Records. Both publications have become more essential than ever in wartime. They effect direct savings in rubber, gasoline, telephoning and clerical and executive time. Incalculable are the number of man-hours saved by production companies who use the Players Directory, which lists more than 1,700 actors and actresses.

The Academy's motion picture Reference Library is now one of the three largest in the world. Compiled diligently over a period of years, the collection was considerably increased during 1942, despite a curtailed wartime staff.

An important service inaugurated during 1942 was a system of press previews of the industry's outstanding short subjects, both straight entertainment shorts and those that are war-influenced. In collaboration with the War Activities Committee—Motion Picture Industry, the first special showing of war effort short subjects was presented. Later this type of subject was included in the short subjects press showings. A total of five such previews have been held, resulting in wider recognition of the work of those in the short subjects field. The showings also brought to the minds of some 300 newspaper correspondents a new consciousness of the industry's patriotic activities.

A continuing service of the Academy has been the showing of important war documentary films before their general release, and a time when they are most useful to the creative personnel of the industry. Among the films thus shown were "Ring of Steel," "Civilian and Military Cooperation," "Fighting the Firebomb," "This is Blitz," "Tanks," "Strategy of Metals," "Listen to Britain," "Fire Guard," "All Those In Favor," "Food, Weapon of Conquest," "The WEFT System," "In the Rear of the Enemy" and "Inside Fighting Russia."

Attuned to the times, the Academy prepared and distributed within the industry a reference volume of clippings of news stories and editorial comment concerning the investigation—just before Pearl Harbor—of so-called "propaganda films" by a U. S. Senate sub-committee. The Academy's publication of this data, made within its educational field, represented a unique achievement in communicating to the industry's key leaders background data and factual information which in the years to come may well prove to the best historical reference on the investigation and the public reaction to it.

In general, the Academy through its research facilities, its War Film Library, its Reference Library, the publications and the series of special showings, has adapted itself to the business of playing a significant part in the war effort of the United Nations. When Victory is won, the Academy looks toward a peacetime when it can be of maximum service to the industry in helping to further a better international understanding throughout the world.

An Outlook For The Immediate Future

By EMERY HUSE

Past President, SMPE

AS THE year 1942 draws to a close, most of the officers and many of the elected members of the board of governors of the Society complete their normal term of office. As president of the Society, it is with great satisfaction that I am able to report that the Society has maintained its position as the outstanding technical organization in the field of motion picture engineering. This is particularly gratifying in view of the fact that this past year has also been the first year of World War II, in which normal events must give precedence to the war effort.

During the past year two very successful conventions were held and it is with great satisfaction that a report can be made to the effect that the October, 1942 convention proved to be the most outstanding of all of those held during the past several years. The members of the board of governors felt that during these trying war times technical society conventions might be somewhat out of order, and with that thought in mind a great deal of time and energy was applied toward making this recent convention as outstanding as possible, particularly with regard to its relationship to the war effort.

Of the many papers presented at this convention, most of them had direct bearing upon war activities. The convention, held as it was in New York City, drew many engineers from various Government agencies in the Eastern section of the United States, particularly those from Washington, D. C. and New York City. Likewise, many of the branches of the armed services were represented and some technical papers were presented dealing with the application of motion picture engineering in its various phases with the work of these services.

In its outlook for 1943-44 the endeavors of the Society are pointed toward further aid in the war program. A very capable group of new officers has been elected, chief among whom are Herbert Griffin, vice-president of the International Projector Company, who was elected president of the Society; Loren L. Ryder, head of the sound department of Paramount Pictures Inc., Hollywood, who was elected executive vice-president, and E. Allan Williford, past president of the Society, who was elected to the post of secretary. Acting upon authority granted by a new by-law of the constitution, additional governors were elected to the board.

Due to limitations placed upon civilians relative to transportation, and realizing that it would be next to impossible to hold all regular board meetings with a quorum present, a new executive committee was established, made up of a group of Eastern members of the board, headed by E. Allan Williford, past president of the Society. This committee is authorized to act in lieu of the board whenever matters present themselves which need immediate action.

It is hoped that the activities of the Society during the next two years will not be curtailed and it is the prime duty of this committee to see to it that the Society and the membership continue their aid in the successful prosecution of the war. It is of outstanding interest to note that most of the membership of the Society is already engaged in some phase of war work, much of which has technical bearing upon motion picture engineering problems.

As a result of the foregoing changes within the Society and the fine attitude that is shown by all of the officers and members, it is with great hope that we of the board of governors look forward to continued success during the next two years.

The National Board of Review

Activities in 1942

THE National Board of Review of Motion Pictures, Inc., is a group of men and women of all ages, representing a wide variety of professions and callings, who serve without remuneration as a body whose aim is to express the reactions of the intelligent and selective public to motion pictures, to supply advance information about pictures as they are released, and to spread appreciation of the best that the motion picture produces both as entertainment and as a cultural and educational force.

The Board was organized in 1909 by the People's Institute of New York City. It reviews films and distributes information about them to individuals and organizations and affiliated citizen groups in various parts of the country who do local work in conducting the constructive program of community cooperation in the advancement and uses of the motion picture.

The National Board is opposed to all forms of censorship and believes firmly in selection and classification—a plan it was the first to evolve—as the most effective and constructive method of creating a public appreciation and demand for good films. It classifies films according to the type of audience for which they are most suitable, and publishes a weekly list of films selected for recommendation as worthwhile entertainment.

The membership is composed of people who, believing that the motion picture screen should be a free medium of expression according to the American conception of freedom of speech, volunteer their services in the reviewing of motion pictures, with the object of encouraging the production and appreciation of worthwhile films of all kinds, with special references to the educational and socially valuable elements in the motion picture. Membership is open to people throughout the United States who in their own communities are engaged in work with the same methods and purposes as those of the National Board.

The National Board of Review, of which

Quincy Howe is the president, functions through various committees appointed annually by its Board of Directors:

GENERAL COMMITTEE—The General Committee is the group developed out of the original group organized in 1909. It is made up of appointed delegates from the local membership of the Board and from such organizations as may be designated by the board of directors and confirmed at their annual meeting. This General Committee is the appeal and central advisory Committee of the Board to which policies are referred and to which decisions of the Review Committee may be carried by the producers of pictures or by the Review Committee itself.

REVIEW COMMITTEE — The Review Committee, through sub-groups into which it is divided as convenient and practicable, reviews and classifies all films submitted to the National Board, and its recommendations are published in a Weekly Guide to Selected Pictures.

MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE—This committee supervises the work of the Review Committee meeting regularly to act upon applications and qualifications of prospective members, to continue or terminate the service of regular members, and to make recommendations to the board of directors for the election of new members.

COMMITTEE ON EXCEPTIONAL PHOTOPLAYS—This committee, composed of critics and students of the art of the motion picture, is particularly interested in whatever esthetic value can be found in films, as distinguished from mere popular entertainment. It looks at all films recommended to it for unusual qualities and publishes criticism of those thought worthy of special discussion. It selects, annually, the ten films considered to be artistically the best of the year, and through all means possible tries to encourage the showing of films that will create a more general appreciation of the motion picture as an important medium of artistic expression. Their selection of the ten best films of 1942 appears in another section of this publication.

SCHOOLS MOTION PICTURE COMMITTEE—This committee represents groups of parents and teachers from public and private schools in Greater New York who are interested in securing suitable motion picture programs for children, and issues a weekly list of New York theaters where the entire program is approved for children of school age.

COMMITTEE ON JUNIOR ACTIVITIES—This committee is the advisory body on the activities of the National Board related to young people, with particular reference to securing their frank and uninfluenced reactions to specific motion pictures, learning from them how pictures can be improved from their point of view, and most of all in raising the level of their taste, since they are the motion picture public of the future.

There is also a Finance Committee, A Law Committee, a Committee on Affiliations, a Committee on Publications and a Committee on Education.

JUNIOR ACTIVITIES—In 1931 the National Board organized a group of boys and girls ranging in age from 8 to 14 years, to review and discuss motion pictures in order to learn directly from them what young people think about the pictures they see. The opinions of the Young Reviewers, as this group is called, have been of great educational value in making larger and larger numbers of young people critically conscious of films, as well as being an invaluable check for adults to apply to their own ideas of juvenile reactions.

The 4-Star Clubs, young people's motion picture organizations, developed as an outgrowth of the Young Reviewers. These motion picture clubs are functioning increasingly in various parts of the country. Their program of activities is divided into four parts—appreciation, projection, production and community service. Each year these boys and girls join in a poll to determine the Juniors' Ten Best Pictures. The selections for 1942 appear elsewhere in this book. Every year a Make Your Own Movies contest is held and the prize-winning films are shown at the 4-Star Spring Conference where talks are also given by club delegates on their motion picture interests. The juniors also have charge of one of the sessions of the annual conference of the adult councils of the Board.

NATIONAL ADVISORY COUNCIL—The membership of this council consists of representatives of local groups or other individuals through whom the field work of the National Board is carried on, and constitutes the national channels through which the work of the Board is spread north, south, east and west.

NATIONAL MOTIONAL PICTURE COUNCIL—The work of the National Board has been projected throughout the country by means of community or field groups under a central department since 1916. It was first known as the National Committee on Films for Young People, starting with merely classifying films for young people. As the program of selection grew to cover the need of selective information for adults as well, the name National Committee for Better Films was adopted. Outgrowing single committee activity, it became the Better Films Council, and in 1935 the more accurate name of National Motion Picture Council was given it. It is the belief of the Board that the present work of a community organization is to unite effectively in a constructive program for the support, study and use, both recreationally and educationally, of the finer motion pictures now available. The Council program is carried out through affiliated memberships, both group and individual, service contact groups and correspondents throughout the country.

Local councils follow the plan initiated by the National Board in 1916 of having a membership composed of representatives from many organizations, cultural, educational, recreational, religious and civic, so that they typify the original movement for organized community participation in the best uses of the motion picture and the support of the best pictures in the community. They provide a means of unifying and making articulate the wishes of the public in regard to the motion picture, and offer a plan which avoids duplication of effort and most effectively integrates the varied and various community interests.

The objectives of such organizations are:

To demonstrate through the education of public opinion, the effectiveness of selection and classification, instead of censorship, as a means of forwarding the development of the motion picture and its best uses.

To encourage through open meetings, forums, classes and other means, the study of the motion picture as a medium of entertainment, education and artistic expression.

To concentrate the attention of the public on specific worthwhile films through the publication of a Photoplay Guide to the Selected Pictures currently showing at local theaters.

To arrange family Friday night of weekend programs of selected films and junior matinees of pictures particularly suited to the tastes of children, through cooperation with local exhibitors.

To endorse and further the use of visual education through motion pictures in the schools.

To arrange and promote occasional exhibitions of exceptional and cultural films that would not ordinarily be shown in the commercial theaters.

Through its publications the National Board makes available advance information on the selected pictures, with their audience classification, and on the exceptional pictures so that community groups can be prepared to publish local Photoplay Guides to the Selected Pictures, sponsor special showings and in other ways give community support to the best pictures.

The Board and the Council have sent, in answer to invitation, speakers from the various committees and the staff personnel to many communities, to aid in the formation and development of community organizations to present various phases of motion picture interest and activity on council, club, school and other programs. Councils are invited to vote annually on the ten best pictures of the year.

PUBLICATIONS—New Movies, the National Board of Review magazine, is a monthly containing articles of general interest on motion pictures and motion picture activities, and reviews of exceptional and selected features and short subjects. It carries reports of activities by both adult and junior groups. The Weekly Guide to Selected Pictures, giving the most up-to-date information on the pictures selected by the Review Committee, and the Weekly Official Bulletin are compiled regularly. Special lists such as Books on the Motion Picture, Exceptional Photoplays and Their Directors, One Hundred Questions and Answers on the Motion Picture, a study series Facts and Opinions About the Motion Picture are compiled from time to time. Two pamphlets descriptive of the Board's organization and functioning are available, entitled: The National Board of Review: Its Background, Growth and Present Status; and the National Board of Review: How It Works.

A pamphlet, "Films for the Community in Wartime," by Mary Losey, has been prepared for publication early in 1943.

UNIVERSITY STUDY COURSE—The Motion Picture: Its Artistic, Educational and Social Aspects, the first general course, begun in 1934-35, on motion pictures as a part of the accredited work of a university given under the joint auspices of the National Board and the School of Education, New York University, under the direction of Dr. Frederic M. Thrasher, was repeated during the school year 1941-42. Speakers of prominence lecture on their special motion picture interests.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE—The 28th annual Conference of the Board was held Nov. 12, 1942 at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York City, discussing The Movies and the War. Speakers were: Lowell Mellett, Chief, Bureau of Motion Pictures, Office of War Information; Maj. Albert Warner, Vice-President, Warner Bros.; Capt. Leonard Spieglass, Film Production Section, Special Services Division, War Department; Iris Barry, Curator Museum of Modern Art Film Library; Donald Slesinger, Chief, Visual Training Section, Office of Civilian Defense; Howard Dietz, Vice-President, Loew's, Inc.; Claude F. Lee, Director of Public Relations, Paramount Pictures; Prof. Robert Gessner, Chairman, Department of Motion Pictures, New York University.

Wartime Theater Operating Problems

By ED KUYKENDALL

President, Motion Picture Theater Owners of America

MPTOA was first to emphasize and make clear that our No. 1 job in wartime is to keep the theaters operating. We insisted that no theater must close during the emergency, because motion picture entertainment is indispensable, not only to the men in uniform, both at the front and in training, but even more so to the civilian population, war workers and families of our armed forces.

No matter how fine a record we make selling war bonds, raising funds for numerous war reliefs, showing war information films, collecting salvage materials and so on, we must never lose sight of the main job, which is to keep the theaters operating. This requires personal effort and initiative, personal responsibility and showmanship by the exhibitor, rather than the blithe promises, frightening and running advice of exhibitor lawyers and organizers.

Not only does it involve hard work, expert management and a determined resistance to excessive film rental demands by the theater owner to keep a theater operating under wartime conditions, but its operation must be adapted to the numerous restrictions, shortages and controls imposed by the vast number of Government agencies, and to the many new and trying conditions that war has developed.

It is the purpose of MPTOA to devote its organized efforts to advancing the job of adapting theater operations to wartime restrictions by cooperation with each other and with the Government agencies responsible for the conduct of the war, so that no theater will be forced to close because of the emergency. We are united for mutual benefit and protection. It is only by alert, well organized coordination of exhibitor effort that we can meet emergencies and effectively protect our individual interests.

Any time an impossible law or regulation is imposed upon us because we failed to make the Government agency understand its effect; or a harsh, destructive and discriminatory tax is passed on to the theaters and the movies, or an unnecessary lawsuit leads to a disruptive court decision; or reckless agitation by irresponsible promoters inside the industry brings about burdensome and hostile investigations, litigation and consent decrees, then organization weakness in this industry and among responsible theater owners is revealed.

We suffer the damage for such mistakes individually, but they can be prevented only by the cooperation and collaboration of the more responsible factors in exhibition and production with each other. The protective and self-disciplining activities of the organized industry are more important than ever under war conditions, with taxes, priorities, allocations, gasoline, fuel and power rationing, conscription, population shifts, blackouts, price controls, etc., and etc., to contend with.

MPTOA Backs War Activities Committee

Recognizing the great need for coordination and collaboration of the entire industry in order that the special jobs we are called upon to do for the war effort can be done most effectively, the MPTOA group of exhibitor organizations has given complete and unhesitating cooperation to the War Activities Committee, as it is the only agency that could mobilize the whole industry for this job. MPTOA leaders have been prominent in planning and organizing the War Activities Committee undertakings, but prefer to work as individuals to avoid exhibitor politics and bickering in getting the job done. The War Activities Committee has done such a magnificent job on behalf of the entire industry that they are entitled to every possible exhibitor cooperation and support.

MPTOA and UMPI

MPTOA gave unstinted support to the so-called "unity movement" from its inception as such in 1941, as we have been for many years the foremost advocate in this industry of a united front for self-defense, for self-regulation and for the negotiated settlement of grievances and disputes. The agitation for anti-trust suits that eventually resulted in the infamous blocks-of-five, trade showing sales plan imposed by the consent decree could only be undone by cooperation between the distributors and organized exhibitors, such as was proposed in the UMPI national conference committee.

Blocks-of-five selling had not only completely destroyed the small exhibitors' meagre cancellation rights which MPTOA had long fought for, but had also destroyed his right to buy feature pictures in quantity, and also as anticipated had enabled the distributors to sharply increase film prices to the smaller theaters who lack circuit buying facilities.

Consequently MPTOA gave full and complete support and cooperation to UMPI to gain as much relief from the consent decree for exhibitors as possible.

The MPTOA group of organizations were represented officially on the UMPI national committee by Fred Wehrenberg, of St. Louis; H. V. Harvey, of San Francisco; Max A. Cohen, of New York City; Lewen Pizor, of Philadelphia, and myself. We were disappointed in the unyielding position taken by the distributors on adequate minimum cancellation clauses, establishment of organized local conciliation facilities, and insistence on refusing to discuss unfair competitive practices not part of the consent decree; and by the exhibitor politics and the endless argument over film prices that were injected into the negotiations; but believed that the ultimate plan agreed upon was a step, however short, in the right direction, and gave it our full support to the very end.

Association Activities in Wartime

Because of the Government request to curtail travel in wartime and the difficulties in securing hotel and Pullman accommodations, the directors of MPTOA decided to forego a national convention this year, and to avoid as far as possible national meetings of the MPTOA directors and executive committee. A method of exchanging views, information and experiences by correspondence between the officers and directors, and between the regional and state exhibitor associations leagued together in MPTOA was devised and inaugurated in lieu of the usual meetings and conferences. It has enabled us to coordinate the efforts of widely separated exhibitors and exhibitor associations on many important issues, and to combine our collective views for effective presentations in defense of the theater interests, without the necessity of meetings and travel.

No important motion picture legislation was introduced in 1942 in Congress or in the state legislatures. Other than taxes, none is likely to receive serious attention during the war, as the necessary prelude to serious consideration is a public hearing or an investigation, and Congress has no time to waste on such matters not related to the war effort these days.

But the rapidly increasing number of peremptory orders, directives, and regulations imposed on the industry and upon theaters by numerous Government agencies grows every day—and will become more and more vital in the future. Seldom is the industry consulted on these peremptory orders; no hearings are held; and not always are the regulations practical or possible of compliance, or even serve a useful purpose. To keep these agencies informed sufficiently about our business so they will understand tant job of a national exhibitor association until the war ends.

Allied States in 1942

By ABRAM F. MYERS

of Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors*

THE efforts of Allied during the first half of the year were largely concerned with United Motion Picture Industry which had been sponsored by Allied and which Allied hoped would succeed. Jack Kirsch, of Allied Theaters of Illinois, Inc., was the first chairman of UMPI and after he had been succeeded in that office by William F. Rodgers, of Metro, Kirsch became chairman of the all-important Committee on Trade Relations.

The Allied representatives on UMPI—Col. H. A. Cole, S. E. Samuelson, Jack Kirsch,

Abram F. Myers

Martin G. Smith and Roy E. Harrold—labored diligently to frame a platform on which all branches and factions could stand and which would enable the industry to face a precarious future with a united front.

By early spring it had become evident that there had been back-sliding in the church and that at least two of the participating distributors were giving the movement little or no support. These companies—Paramount and Warner Bros.—walked out on the tentative agreements summarized in the report of the Trade Relations Committee and thereby cut the heart out of UMPI. Nevertheless, Allied continued to strive for a new selling system to supplant the blocks-of-five when the selling provisions of the Consent Decree expired on June 1.

After a plan had been reported out by UMPI and put in proper form by a legal committee including the general counsel of Allied, it was duly submitted to the Department of Justice for incorporation in the decree. Meantime, the UMPI plan was approved by National Allied (except one regional member), by MPTOA, and by the several unaffiliated associations. There was greater unanimity on the plan than had ever been accorded any such plan in the past.

While Assistant Attorney General Arnold did not formally approve the plan when it was submitted, he and his assistant indicated so plainly that it was their purpose to approve it that the industry delegation left the Department of Justice confident that approval would be forthcoming within a week. What occurred thereafter in the Department of Justice is a mystery which Allied hopes some day to solve.

Many weeks after the plan was submitted, and after Arnold had been accused of giving it a pocket veto, he issued a statement disapproving the plan. The most amazing feature of the statement was the charge that the proceedings in UMPI had been in violation of the Sherman Act notwithstanding (1) the Consent Decree itself, with all its hampering limitations and restraints, was the product of such a conference with Department of Justice attorneys sitting in; (2) the Department, including Arnold personally, had been consulted and informed from time to time as to the work of UMPI and he could at any time have halted the proceedings by a bare intimation that he thought them improper; and (3) the only purpose of the proceedings, as Arnold well knew, was to evolve a plan to submit to the Department and not to put it into effect without governmental approval.

UMPI never recovered from this blow and, of course, further attempts to work out a solution of trade relations cooperatively will not be undertaken so long as the quixotic Arnold remains in charge of the Anti-Trust Division.

Recognizing that ever-increasing film rentals were a menace not only to the exhibitors, but to the distributors who had been excepted from the price control legislation, Allied strove by a series of statements addressed to the distributors to bring about a moderation of their policies. These were buttressed by published figures of the mounting net earnings of the companies which constituted a challenge to ill-disposed legislators and others.

A committee headed by M. A. Rosenberg, known as the Caravan Committee, addressed mass meetings of exhibitors in 13 of the principal cities pointing out the danger to the exhibitors and to the industry as a whole inherent in a situation where the prices and earnings of the producer-distributors were running wild whilst many exhibitors were suffering serious losses. A communications system designed to give Allied members information concerning market conditions approximating that enjoyed by the distributors was established and it has functioned to the satisfaction of the exhibitors. The Caravan Committee hopes to extend and intensify this effort during 1943.

Col. Cole having signified his desire to retire from the presidency of Allied, an office which he had held for three terms, the Board of Directors succeeded in inducing M. A. Rosenberg, of Pittsburgh, to assume the burden. Rosenberg had served several terms as president of Allied MPTO of Western Pennsylvania and had long held a high place in Allied councils. "Mr. Five-by-Five," as he is affectionately known, has the confidence and respect not only of all Allied members but of the entire industry. Rosenberg visited all the units of Allied during the year and conducted regional meetings as substitutes for the annual convention which was omitted because of transportation difficulties.

The able work of the president was supplemented by that of many other leaders, among them the following, to whom Allied makes special acknowledgment: Col. H. A. Cole, Sidney E. Samuelson, Jack Kirsch, Treasurer Martin G. Smith, Ray Branch, Roy E. Harrold, William L. Ainsworth, Meyer Leventhal, Maxwell A. Alderman, Harry Lowenstein, Lee Newbury, Joe Conway, P. J. Wood, E. L. Peaslee.

Allied leaders have served with distinction on many committees carrying on difficult activities incident to the war effort. The regional associations have thrown their weight and energy behind every worthy movement for which their cooperation was sought.

Allied has several times pointed out the obvious mistake in not including the exhibitor associations as such in more of these undertakings. The contrary policy has left these important sources of prestige, influence and energy virtually untapped.

Allied regionals have been alert in combating adverse legislation and, 1943 being a legislative year, they now have their work cut out for them.

The war brought many new difficulties which have sometimes been dealt with by the regional associations alone, often in co-operation with National Allied and always with the effect of softening in some measure the impact on the exhibitors.

The regular functions of Allied and the regionals have been discharged with increased effectiveness.

Screen Actors' Guild In 1942

By KENNETH THOMSON

Executive Secretary

TO THE Screen Actors Guild and to its individual members, the war has brought new duties and new responsibilities. These new responsibilities have augmented, rather than displaced, the Guild's primary obligation to serve and protect its membership.

The war has made deep inroads into Guild membership during the past year. We're proud to report that to date (and the list grows daily) 781 members have secured military withdrawals to serve with the armed forces. In addition to these withdrawals, another 469 members have left the Guild for the duration to work in war industries.

For the entire membership, the Guild has, during the past year, worked unceasingly to see that its contract has been observed to the letter—and to follow up claims filed by members for violation of contract. In September, prior to our annual membership meetings, we had occasion to review the records of our claims department for the full five-year period during which the contract has been in force. Those records showed that in the five years, the Guild has collected claims for Class A members amounting to $183,844.18, and for Class B members claims amounting to $239,036.43—a grand total of $423,780.61 involving more than 27,000 individual claims.

Last April, the Guild, in accordance with the provisions of its contract, opened negotiations to obtain an increase in minimum wages for its members. Before negotiations were completed, the Presidential wage-freezing order was issued. Since the stabilization order, the Guild has had its representatives in Washington twice to attempt to iron out the special applications of wage-freezing as it involves actors—not only with respect to minimum wages but also in terms of the many inequities which it would impose upon actors because of the economic structure of the motion picture industry.

The Guild, in stating the case for actors, placed special emphasis on the impracticability of freezing at any arbitrary level the wages of free-lance actors, day players and stunt men. Whatever final decision is made in Washington on these problems, the authorities have available complete factual information presented by the Guild.

In addition to its activities on behalf of its membership, the Guild, as an influential AFL union, has lent its support to all issues which involve the welfare of organized labor. In cooperation with other talent guilds affiliated with the California State Federation of Labor, it has made possible labor's own weekly radio program, "This Is Our America."

The Guild has, together with the rest of the motion picture industry, assumed more than its share of contributions for charitable causes. The past year saw the completion of the Motion Picture Country House—an accomplishment of which the Guild is extremely proud, because it was Guild members, through their generosity in appearing, week after week, on the Screen Guild Theater, who made the Country House possible. Nor has the Guild stopped with the opening of the House. The Screen Guild Theater is continuing, with the proceeds going toward the maintenance of the Country House. In addition, the Guild has endowed two of the bungalows at the institution.

To the responsibilities for caring for industry workers who are in need have been added those of sharing in community charity drives. The Guild has lent full support to all authorized industry-wide drives, including campaigns for the Community Chest, Red Cross, Infantile Paralysis Fund, USO, Navy War Relief, Army War Relief and war relief for our allies—campaigns which, during 1942, totalled almost two million dollars in contributions from the industry.

The Guild has, during the past year, been a clearing house and a point of integration in carrying out war-necessary projects, such as the citizenship registration, the transportation survey, the payroll allocation plan for the purchase of War Bonds, the drive for conservation of raw film. By thus establishing constant contact between Guild members and other industry groups and the Government, the Guild has eased and expedited the host of necessary adjustments which the war has imposed on us all.

The final Guild achievement which should be recorded is the magnificent work which Guild members, individually, have done in the war effort. Through the Hollywood Victory Committee, they have willingly, eagerly and competently undertaken assignments that only actors can execute. Tours of Army camps and Naval stations, countless Bond-selling excursions, personal appearances for patriotic causes, radio work in the aid of our Government—all these contributions have won for the actor the admiration and devotion and respect of all America.

Leadership of the Guild is now in the hands of James Cagney who was elected president in September. Other officers elected at that time were: George Murphy, first vice-president; Paul Harvey, second vice-president; Walter Abel, third vice-president; Lucile Gleason, recording secretary; Porter Hall, treasurer.

Screen Writers' Guild In 1942

By MARY C. McCALL, Jr.

President

UNDER the presidency of Sidney Buchman, the Screen Writers Guild this year entered upon a new and important phase in its development. The Guild took its place beside the other industry guilds and unions as an officially-recognized body, functioning under a minimum basic agreement with the major producing companies.

The Guild contract, which was effective as of May, provides tangible benefits for many members, in the form of a minimum wage, guarantees of employment, longer notice periods, regulation of flat deals, elimination of speculative writing. It has benefited the entire screen writing profession because it has brought a spirit of cooperation and mutual trust to the relationship of producers and writers in Hollywood.

Together with representatives of all branches of our industry, the SWG has helped to achieve prompt and intelligent cooperation with our Government in the film consideration and the wage stabilization programs.

One hundred and fifty Guild members are in the armed forces or in civilian Government service. From the board elected in November, 1941, Claude Binyon, Ralph Block, Jerome Chodorov, Philip Dunne, Leonard Lee, Richard Maibaum, George Oppenheimer, Stanley Rubin, have gone to serve their country.

Guild members have contributed their services to many phases of the war effort: the writing of training films, morale and propaganda shorts, pamphlets, radio programs, speeches for the use of actors on bond selling tours and material for camp shows. And in our daily work in the studios, the war has brought us an increased sense of responsibility for the use we make of our tremendously potent medium. The realization is always with us that every picture which we write, whether it be a musical comedy, a drama, a farce, or a mystery melodrama, can serve the cause of freedom well, can help to break down the barriers of ignorance and fear which separate free men from each other.

Screen Directors' Guild In 1942

By J. P. McGOWAN

Executive Secretary, Screen Directors' Guild

WE USUALLY classify every passing year as "momentous," but 1942 will go down in the history of the industry as the "most momentous" of all time.

We have been faced with so many problems that it is hard to figure out which should occupy the most attention. However, "it's an ill wind that blows no good" and I think we can safely say that out of all the chaos and confusion has come a closer bond of friendship and harmonious and intelligent cooperation between the producers, the guilds and the various technical crafts throughout the industry.

"Self-preservation" is the first law of life and this in itself has drawn us all closer together in a combined effort to do our utmost in the national war effort and in support of the Administration's policies and programs, as well as fulfilling our own responsibility as a contributing factor in maintaining the public morale through the medium of the entertainment field.

We say "entertainment field" rather than confining it to the "screen" as the past 12 months are notable for the unselfish contribution that actors, directors, writers and and crafts have made in furnishing personal entertainment to our armed forces all over the globe, in addition to the many hundreds of films shipped overseas to our boys in active service.

As with all other branches of the industry, a great many members of the Screen Directors' Guild joined the Army, the Navy, the Air Force, the Marines and other branches of the service. To date 107 directors and assistants are wearing the uniform of Uncle Sam and this includes such prominent directors as Frank Capra, George Cukor, John Ford, Anatole Litvak, Garson Kanin, William Keighley, and Paul Sloane.

This is being written at the end of January, 1943, and so far as the problem of the validity of existing contracts under the wage stabilization law has not been solved, and the industry as a whole seems to be marking time waiting for development in Congress.

We are now confronted with the decree issued by the War Manpower Commission which makes approximately 10,000 employees in the motion picture industry subject to draft into essential war industries. This will complicate the present shortage of manpower, which might result in the curtailment of production to some degree.

So far 1943 has been marked by subnormal production activity and there is a possibility that this might continue. The Signal Corps has some 800 subjects scheduled for production during the year, some of which have already been made or are now in the making process. These will help to make 1943 a fairly active year, although it is safe to assume that the producers will try to reduce the back-log of entertainment pictures now on the shelf awaiting release dates. These undistributed features total well over 100 and, even if production should be reduced, it will not interfere with the normal number of pictures sent out through regular distribution channels.

Society of Motion Picture Art Directors

By BILLY LEYSER

Business Manager and Public Relations Counsel

THE year 1942 will remain indelibly impressed upon every individual in the motion picture industry, especially those associated with the production of motion picture entertainment. It was a year saturated with problems effecting every branch of the production schedule, with some departments suffering more than others, but with each department having its specific headaches.

Among the problems confronting the producers of motion pictures under present war time conditions those which fall within the scope of the art directors and their associates are confusing and bewildering, but so far, are being solved in a surprisingly satisfactory manner.

Before we entered the war we were in a period of many unstable business conditions with the loss of our foreign market and consequently the revenue derived therefrom, and studios were not spending any more money than was absolutely necessary on their productions.

Economy was the watchword. Now we find that theaters are filled and people are waiting in line to see pictures; revenues seem to be good; people are demanding better productions and the type of productions which are more costly and more difficult to make. The physical and technical problems involved are enormous, and it is these problems which are up to the art director mainly to solve.

All of this would have been perfectly all right if the Government had not found it necessary to restrict the amount of materials used in the production of films, especially the curtailment of construction materials to a figure not to exceed $5000 worth of new material for each production. This creates a paradoxical situation...to expand the size and scope of pictures at the same time trying to produce them with less materials than have been used since the time pictures have grown up.

Realism in pictures has developed to such an extent that merely to have scenery is not sufficient and an educated audience is constantly increasing its demands for more innovations in its screen fare.

This problem has been met in part by the re-use of sets previously built for other pictures but that is only part of the problem, then too this problem would have been easier had our present conditions been preceded by a tremendous boom era of extensive construction.

Some studios have sufficient storage space and found themselves with a fair inventory of new materials, but others whose storage space was limited find themselves without any materials. Even those who have materials find themselves restricted in the use of materials just the same.

Construction of sets on the studio lots is only another part of the problem because a great deal of work in this department was done out of doors, at night, which necessitated the use of artificial light. The dimout regulations now preclude the making of pictures outside at night within a radius of 150 miles of the coast.

The answer seems to be to do this kind of work at some inland point but then we are confronted with gasoline rationing and the rubber shortage and we find ourselves without adequate transportation to handle the problem.

Then there is the man power problem which has naturally taken away the young men and put an added burden on those who are left.

The ingenuity of an art director, who is also a skilled technician, is being put to the test. This he welcomes for he is coming through in good shape.

Many members of the Society of Motion Picture Art Directors are now with the armed forces, in every branch of the service, while still a greater number have found it possible to do camouflage problems, nights and Sundays after they have completed their work at the studios.

Two Years of Arbitration

By J. NOBLE BRADEN

Executive Director, Motion Picture Arbitration System

ARBITRATION has long been hailed as a method for preventing disputes as well as a process for their prompt and economic settlement. The small number of 277 cases filed in the first two years of operation of the Motion Picture Tribunals would indicate that arbitration has once again served the purpose of preventing disputes rather than the function of providing a forum for their settlement.

The general object of the Arbitration System established under the Consent Decree was to afford an opportunity for the exhibitor to present to an important arbitrator complaints of what he considered was an unfair competitive situation imposed upon him through his contract with the distributors for the purchasing of pictures, and of course as provided in Section VI an opportunity to secure pictures if pictures were refused to him.

J. Noble Braden

It appears during the pendency of the Government suit that several thousand exhibitors in the United States were desirous of filing complaints but the two years of opportunity afforded by the Decree for the filing of such complaints has demonstrated again that the presence of a complaint bureau has made it unnecessary in many instances to bring that system into service.

From the surveys conducted by representatives of the American Arbitration Association throughout the country in visiting the 31 Tribunal cities it has been clearly evident that distributors and exhibitors have been getting together and settling their disputes in a manner previously unheard of. The mere suggestion by the exhibitor that he was about to file a demand for arbitration, it has been reported, has brought a renewal of negotiations and a settlement of the controversy.

Clearance continues to be the principal source of dispute. Some 73 per cent of the cases filed during the two year period have involved clearance disputes and in the great majority of these disputes an improvement in clearance time has been awarded by the arbitrator in favor of the exhibitor. Almost half of the balance of the cases filed were combination cases which were brought under Sections VI and VIII or VIII and X. The others were Section X and Section VI cases. In the two year period 67 cases have been appealed and 52 decisions have been rendered by the Appeal Board. Approximately three-quarters of the awards have been affirmed or slightly modified by the Appeal Board. Only 14 have been set aside.

In three recent decisions by the Appeal Board a new departure was provided in Section VI cases. It will be remembered that under Section VI the question presented to the arbitrator for determination was whether a distributor had refused to grant pictures to an exhibitor on terms and conditions not calculated to defeat the intent of Section VI. In cases in New Orleans, Dallas and St. Louis an arbitrator had directed the distributors to make contracts with an exhibitor for pictures in accordance with Section VI.

The Appeal Board affirmed the award of the arbitrator in each instance but in addition returned the award to him in order that the question of whether or not the run offered met the requirements of Section VI might be determined by the same arbitrator who heard the original application. The right of the Appeal Board to make such a ruling has already been challenged but as none of these cases have been reheard by the Appeal Board the disposition of such challenge is not known at this time.

It would appear from the direction of the Appeal Board that it was endeavoring to establish a shortcut in the bargaining process between the distributor and exhibitor rather than have a negotiation take place and a new arbitration brought by the exhibitor on the ground that the distributor had failed to give him pictures as required by the previous arbitrator's award or to have to resort to an action for contempt under the Decree. The board believed that the arbitrator should pass upon the contract offered so as to save the parties themselves additional expenditure of both time and money.

Various suggestions and comments have been received during the year but in the main these suggestions and comments have been directed at provisions of the Decree rather than the arbitration system. The comments regarding the arbitration procedure have been based upon two general objections—one, that cases frequently took too much time, and two, that the expense of minutes made it prohibitive for the small exhibitor to bring a complaint. Both of these objections are clearly within the control of the parties themselves.

In practically all instances arbitrators have shown themselves willing to sacrifice all the time necessary for a prompt and complete hearing. In some instances arbitrators have conducted hearings from early in the morning to late at night to conclude cases promptly; but on the other hand counsel for the parties have frequently requested adjournment of hearings because of other arrangements or for need to secure additional evidence. It therefore appears that if counsel for the parties would cooperate to a greater extent than has heretofore been experienced in arranging dates for hearings and in preparing cases thoroughly matters would be disposed of much more promptly. And at the same time the second objection would likewise be met, the objection of expense, for in hearings that are promptly prosecuted one or two sessions are found sufficient and testimony is generally greatly reduced and of course a resultant saving in stenographic costs effected.

Suggestion has been made before and may again be repeated that particularly in clearance cases counsel might stipulate a very considerable amount of evidence required under Section VIII of the Decree. Early in the first year of the Decree an experiment was undertaken to try and reduce the time and expense of hearings. Two cases were bought in the same tribunal—one was tried and the arbitrator kept the parties in session for a complete week sitting until late in the evening in order to finish the case. Several days were consumed in presenting factual evidence in regard to clearance. In the second case, with the same attorneys present, a conference was held before the hearings were started with the result that much of the factual evidence was presented to the arbitrator in the form of a stipulation resulting in the saving of at least three days' hearing time and several hundred pages of testimony.

Procedure under the arbitration rules can be prompt and economical, but as indicated, it depends upon the preparation of the cases and the cooperation of the parties. Arbitrators and clerks are anxious to cooperate and the 31 tribunals stand ready to render the service for which the Government and the industry has established them.

Rules of Arbitration and Appeals

Pursuant to Subdivision 6 of Section XXII of the Decree

I. Initiation of Arbitration

An arbitration proceeding shall be initiated by filing with the Clerk of the Tribunal having jurisdiction of the controversy a Demand for Arbitration and a submission as provided in subdivision 9 of Section XXII of the Decree, and by paying a filing fee of $10.00 to the Clerk of the Tribunal.

Filed herewith and made a part of these Rules is a map showing the territory throughout which each Arbitration Tribunal shall have jurisdiction (each of which territories is hereinafter called an Arbitration District), and the city in each such Arbitration District in which the Arbitration Tribunal shall be located. The Tribunal having jurisdiction in a particular proceeding shall be the Tribunal maintained pursuant to Section XXII of the Decree in the Arbitration District in which the complainant's theatre is located, except that when a distributor institutes an arbitration proceeding the Tribunal having jurisdiction shall be the Tribunal in the Arbitration District in which the theatre involved is located.

The Demand for Arbitration shall be signed by the complainant and shall set forth:

The name and address of the complaining party; the name and address of each theatre involved in the controversy; the name and address of each exhibitor or distributor against whom complaint is made (hereafter sometimes referred to as a defending party); the name and address of each other exhibitor and distributor whose business or property it is believed by the complainant may be affected by an award in the proceeding; and a brief statement in simple language of the claim and the relief sought.

At the same time of filing the Demand the complainant shall deliver to the Clerk of the Tribunal sufficient copies of the Demand to enable the Clerk to deliver one copy to each defending party and to each other exhibitor and distributor named in the Demand, and the Clerk shall forthwith make such delivery.

Within seven days after the date on which the Clerk of the Tribunal delivers a copy of the Demand to a defending party, such party may sign and file with the Clerk of the Tribunal a list giving the name and address of each exhibitor or distributor not named in the Demand whose business or property it is believed by such party may be affected by an award in the proceeding.

The Clerk of the Tribunal shall forthwith deliver a copy of the Demand to each exhibitor and distributor named in any list filed by a defending party.

Any exhibitor or distributor named either in the Demand or in any list filed by any defending party and any other exhibitor or distributor whose business or property may be affected by an award in the proceeding, may at any time prior to the commencement of the first hearing intervene and thereby become a party to the proceeding by filing with the Clerk of the Tribunal a statement which shall set forth his interest as an intervenor in the proceeding and a submission as provided in subdivision 9 of Section XXII of the Decree and by paying a filing fee of $10.00 to the Clerk of the Tribunal. The Clerk of the Tribunal shall forthwith deliver notice of each intervention to each other party to the proceeding.

Any party who intervenes more than fifteen days after the filing of the Demand shall not be entitled to participate in the selection of the arbitrator.

If, at any time after the fifteenth day following the filing of the Demand and prior to the appointment of an arbitrator, all parties to a proceeding who became parties, by intervention or otherwise, on or before said fifteenth day shall by written agreement select another Tribunal as the Tribunal having jurisdiction and file such agreement with the Clerk of the Tribunal originally having jurisdiction, jurisdiction of the proceeding shall thereby be transferred to the Tribunal so selected. Thereafter no further proceedings shall be had in the Tribunal originally having jurisdiction except that the Clerk thereof shall forthwith deliver notice of such transfer to the American Arbitration Association and shall forthwith deliver the entire file in such proceeding to the Clerk of the Tribunal so selected, who shall forthwith take the action prescribed in Rule III for the appointment of an Arbitrator from the Panel of Arbitrators for his Tribunal.

II. Qualifications of Arbitrators

No person shall be appointed a member of a Panel of Arbitrators established in accordance with the Decree who has any financial interest in, or has or has had any connection with, the production, distribution or exhibition of motion pictures, or has or has had any interest in any motion picture theatre, as landlord, lessor or otherwise.

No member of a Panel shall serve as an arbitrator in any proceeding if he has or has had any financial or other relations with any party to the proceeding, or has any interest in the result of the proceeding, or has any personal bias, which might prejudice the right of any party to a fair and impartial award.

III. Appointment of Arbitrators

Not less than fifteen nor more than seventeen days after the filing of the Demand in accordance with Rule 1, the Clerk of the Tribunal shall deliver to each party an identical list of arbitrators selected from the Panel of Arbitrators, for the purpose of enabling the parties to indicate thereon their preference of arbitrators. If the Clerk of the Tribunal does not receive the list from any party within seven days after the delivery of the list to such party, all the names on such list shall be deemed acceptable to such party.

The Clerk of the Tribunal shall forthwith appoint an arbitrator from the names indicated as acceptable to all parties. In the event no name appears from the lists to be acceptable to all parties, or that none of those shown to be acceptable is available, the American Arbitration Association shall appoint an arbitrator from the remaining members of the Panel.

Not less than sixteen days after the filing of the Demand and prior to the appointment of an arbitrator, (or in the case of an arbitration of a controversy under either Section IV or Section VII of the Decree, at any time prior to the appointment of an arbitrator) the parties to any controversy may by written agreement unanimously appoint one or more arbitrators from the Panel of Arbitrators to arbitrate such controversy, by filing such agreement with the Clerk of the Tribunal.

No irregularity in the appointment of an arbitrator shall affect the validity of the proceeding or of the award.

Notice of appointment shall forthwith be given to the arbitrator by the Clerk of the Tribunal, and a signed acceptance obtained.

IV. Removal of Arbitrator and Filling of Vacancy

Upon written application of any party prior to the date the arbitrator's award becomes final, the American Arbitration Association shall, upon proof satisfactory to it that an arbitrator is disqualified under Rule II, revoke the appointment of such arbitrator and declare the office vacant and the award, if any, vacated. No such action shall be taken by the American Arbitration Association in any case where an award has been made unless the applicant party shall have given five days notice of its application to all other parties. Unless application for disqualification is made immediately following a party's discovery of the reason therefor, such party shall be deemed to have waived such disqualification.

The American Arbitration Association also may revoke the appointment of an arbitrator at any time by reason of his neglect, refusal or failure to perform the duties of his office.

If the appointment of an arbitrator is revoked, or if by reason of resignation, death or illness an arbitrator is unable to perform the duties of his office, a new arbitrator shall forthwith be appointed by the Clerk of the Tribunal from among the names acceptable to the parties or by the American Arbitration Association, in accordance with the second paragraph of Rule III.

V. Hearings

Hearings shall be held at the office of the Arbitration Tribunal having jurisdiction of the controversy involved or at such other place in the same Arbitration District as may be agreed upon by the parties with the consent of the arbitrator.

Hearings shall commence as promptly as possible after the appointment of the arbitrator.

The arbitrator shall fix the time of the beginning of the hearing and may adjourn the hearing from time to time.

The Clerk of the Tribunal shall deliver to the parties written notice of the name of the arbitrator and of the time and place of the beginning of the hearing at least five days prior thereto, unless such notice is waived by the parties.

VI. Procedure at Hearings

The arbitrator shall take the oath of office in the form prescribed by the Administrator before commencing the hearing.

Parties may be represented by counsel or by others.

Each party shall have the right to examine or cross-examine all witnesses.

Witnesses shall testify under oath or its legal equivalent.

Evidence shall be received only at hearings of which all parties shall have had due notice and the arbitrator in making his award shall consider only evidence so received and such inspections as he may make hereunder.

The arbitrator shall have the power to require any party to produce such records or documents as the arbitrator may deem necessary to a proper determination of the controversy. In lieu of producing or offering original records or documents, any party may, with the approval of the arbitrator, produce or offer sworn copies thereof or sworn excerpts of the relevant or material portions thereof. If any party challenges the authenticity, correctness or adequacy of such documents or excerpts, the arbitrator shall determine such authenticity, correctness or adequacy. All exhibits offered in evidence shall be numbered and so marked as to indicate whether or not they were received.

The arbitrator shall be the judge of the relevancy and materiality of the evidence offered and conformity to legal rules of evidence shall not be necessary.

Whenever the arbitrator deems it necessary he may make an inspection in connection with the subject matter of the controversy upon notice to the parties.

The arbitrator may hear argument and receive briefs.

VII. Closing and Reopening the Proceeding

After all parties have indicated that they have no further evidence to offer, the arbitrator shall declare the proceeding closed.

Prior to the expiration of the time for making an award the arbitrator may reopen the proceeding upon his own initiative, or for good cause upon the written application of any party on five days notice to all other parties.

At any time within twenty days after the award has been filed the arbitrator may also reopen the proceeding for the purpose of correcting inadvertent errors in the award.

VIII. Defaults and Withdrawals

If any party to a proceeding defaults by failure to comply with the fourth paragraph of Rule XI or withdraws from the proceeding after an arbitrator is appointed, the proceeding shall nevertheless continue to an award unless all other parties to the proceeding consent to a dismissal. A party who defaults or withdraws shall not be entitled to participate further in the proceeding but shall be bound by the award.

IX. Powers of Arbitrators

The arbitrator shall have the powers and shall perform the duties granted to and imposed upon him by the Decree and these Rules, and in making his award he shall comply with the Decree and these Rules.

X. Awards

The award shall be filed with the Clerk of the Tribunal within thirty days from the date of closing the proceeding, or from the date fixed by the arbitrator for the filing of briefs, whichever is later.

The award shall be specific, shall contain such findings as are required by the Decree and shall be signed by the arbitrator and acknowledged before a notary public or other officer duly authorized to administer oaths.

In his award the arbitrator shall assess costs against the losing party or parties or apportion them among the parties as he may deem proper. Costs shall be limited to the arbitrator's fee and the filing fees.

The Clerk of the Tribunal shall forthwith deliver a copy of the award and any corrected award to each party, with the date of filing endorsed thereon.

The award, or, if corrected, the corrected award, shall become final and binding upon the parties upon the expiration of the time for filing a notice of appeal therefrom, unless an appeal is taken in accordance with these Rules.

XI. Arbitrator's Fees

The American Arbitration Association shall fix for each Arbitration District the per diem rate of the arbitrator's fee, which in no event shall exceed $50.00 per diem. The arbitrator shall be entitled to the per diem fee for each day or part thereof that he shall attend a hearing or make an inspection.

Any expenses incurred by an arbitrator in making inspections as provided in Rule VI, and in conducting hearings at other places than the Tribunal office as provided in Rule V, shall be borne equally by the parties.

No other compensation or expenses and no gratuities or benefits of any kind shall be paid to or conferred upon an arbitrator by any party.

Prior to the commencement of each day's hearing or inspection, each party to the proceeding shall deposit with the Clerk of the Tribunal a sum equal to the arbitrator's per diem fee. Failure to make such deposit shall constitute a default.

After the award is filed, the arbitrator shall be paid his fee out of the sums deposited by the parties to the proceeding. The Clerk of the Tribunal shall return any undisbursed sums to the parties entitled thereto upon the final disposition of the controversy.

XII. Stenographic Cost<sup>1</sup>

The Clerk of the Tribunal shall make the necessary arrangements for the taking of a stenographic record of the testimony when such a record is requested by one or more of the parties, who shall deposit the cost thereof with the Clerk of the Tribunal.

Any party desiring a transcript of the stenographic record of the hearing shall pay the cost thereof and in the event that such party did not pay the cost of taking the stenographic record it shall reimburse the other party or parties for the cost thereof.

XIII. Extensions of Time

The parties may in writing unanimously agree to extend the time specified in any of the foregoing Rules and, except as to Rule X, the arbitrator may extend such time upon the written application of any party upon five days notice to all other parties.

XIV. Notice of Appeal

Any party to a proceeding may appeal from an award by filing a notice of appeal with, and paying a filing fee of $25.00 to, the Clerk of the Tribunal in which the award was made, not later than twenty days after the date of filing of the award or the corrected award. The Clerk of the Tribunal shall forthwith deliver a copy of the notice of appeal with the date of filing endorsed thereon to each party to the proceeding and to the Clerk of the Appeal Board.

The appellant shall have made at his own expense, and, within ten days after filing the notice of appeal, shall file with the Clerk of the Tribunal in which the award was made, three copies of the transcript of the stenographic record of the hearing or such abbreviation thereof as may be agreed upon by the parties.

XV. Record on Appeal

Upon receipt of the three copies of the transcript or of an agreed abbreviation thereof filed by the appellant, the Clerk of the Tribunal shall forthwith prepare the record on appeal which shall consist of the following:

1. The Demand for Arbitration and the submission.
2. Statements and submissions of intervening parties.
3. Notice of appointment and signed acceptance of the arbitrator.
4. Clerk's record of hearing.
5. Three copies of the transcript of the stenographic record of hearing or such abbreviation thereof as may have been agreed upon by the parties.
6. Exhibits received in evidence and exhibits offered but not received in evidence, except such as may be omitted by stipulation of the parties.
7. The award.

Unless otherwise directed by the Appeal Board, the record on appeal shall remain on file in the Tribunal until the expiration of the time for filing of all briefs as provided in Rule XVI.

Immediately upon the expiration of such time the Clerk of the Tribunal shall transmit the record on appeal to the Clerk of the Appeal Board.

XVI. Proceedings on Appeal

Within thirty days after the filing of the notice of appeal, each party shall deliver a copy of his brief on appeal to every other party and file with the Clerk of the Appeal Board six copies of such brief with proof of delivery of a copy thereof to each other party.

Within forty days after the filing of the notice of appeal, each party shall deliver a copy of any answering brief to each other party and file with the Clerk of the Appeal Board six copies of such brief with proof of delivery of a copy thereof to each other party.

Upon the written agreement of all parties the Appeal Board shall, and upon its own initiative may, order oral argument, at any time not later than five days after the expiration of the time for filing answering briefs any party may apply to the Appeal Board for permission to present oral argument. Such application shall be in writing, shall state the reasons therefor and shall be filed with the Clerk of the Appeal Board, together with proof of Delivery of a copy thereof to each other party. Any objection to such application shall be made in writing and filed with the Clerk of the Appeal Board, together with proof of delivery of a copy thereof to each other party, within five days after the filing of the application. The ruling on such application shall be made by the Appeal Board forthwith after the expiration of the five day period allowed for the filing of objections and a copy of the ruling shall forthwith be delivered by the Clerk of the Appeal Board to all parties.

When the Appeal Board has ordered oral argument it shall fix the date thereof. The Clerk of the Appeal Board shall deliver to the parties notice in writing of the time and place of such argument, at least ten days prior thereto.

Oral arguments shall be heard by the Appeal Board only in New York, New York.

XVII. Decision and Opinion of the Appeal Board

All members of the Appeal Board shall pass on all appeals and, except as provided in Rule XIX, on all other matters, and the concurrence of two shall be necessary to a decision.

The decision of the Appeal Board together with an opinion stating the reasons therefor shall be in writing and signed by the members of the Appeal Board or a majority thereof. The decision shall be acknowledged before a notary public or other officer duly authorized to administer oaths. The decision and opinion shall be filed with the Clerk of the Appeal Board, who shall forthwith file a copy thereof with the Clerk of the Tribunal and shall forthwith deliver a copy thereof to each of the parties. The Clerk of the Tribunal shall forthwith notify each of the parties of the date of filing with him.

The Appeal Board in its decision may assess the modify, correct or reverse the award of the arbitrator, including provision for costs therein, or may remand the proceeding to the Tribunal for a rehearing or for further action in accordance with the decision of the Appeal Board.

The Appeal Board in its decision may assess the cost of the stenographic record and of the transcript thereof against the losing party or parties, or apportion it among the parties as it deems proper.

XVIII. Proceedings Subsequent to Decision of Appeal Board

Unless the Appeal Board remands the proceeding to the Tribunal or reopens the proceeding as hereinafter provided, the decision of the Appeal Board shall become the final award and shall become binding on all parties ten days after it is filed with the Clerk of the Tribunal.

When the Appeal Board remands a proceeding the arbitration shall thereupon proceed in accordance with the decision of the Appeal Board.

Within ten days after the decision of the Appeal Board has been filed with the Clerk of the Tribunal the Appeal Board may reopen the proceeding for the purpose of correcting inadvertent errors. In such case the corrected decision shall be signed and acknowledged and copies thereof shall be delivered and filed as provided in Rule XVII. Such corrected decision, unless it remands the proceeding to the Tribunal, shall become the final award and shall become binding on all parties when it is filed with the Clerk of the Tribunal, or ten days after the decision corrected thereby was filed with the Clerk of the Tribunal, whichever is later.

XIX. Extension of Time

The parties may by written agreement extend the time specified in any of the Rules relating to appeals, and any member of the Appeal Board may do so upon the written application of any party made upon five days notice to all other parties.

XX. Submission of Other Controversies

Controversies between exhibitors and distributors other than those for which arbitration is provided by the Decree may be submitted to the arbitration system by the parties thereto, provided:

- A) At least one of the parties thereto is a distributor defendant as defined in the Decree; and
- B) A submission in writing setting forth the controversy to be arbitrated is signed by all the parties thereto and filed with the Clerk of the Tribunal having jurisdiction.

These Rules insofar as they are applicable shall apply to the arbitration of such controversies except as the submission may otherwise provide and except that no exhibitor or distributor may intervene therein.

XXI. Access to Records

Variety Clubs of America

By JOHN H. HARRIS

Past National Chief Barker

AT THE last convention of the Variety Clubs of America in Atlantic City, I was instructed by the convention to write a letter to the President of the United States asking him to designate to the Variety Club their duties in these war years. Our President replied:

"Variety" has made for itself in the space of a few years a unique place in our national life. It has come to stand for unselfish service.

"I, therefore, like the spirit which is back of the whole-hearted pledge of support embodied in your fine letter of January seventeenth. You ask for an immediate assignment. I cannot think of a better suggestion just now than to ask you to continue those good deeds in behalf of the under-privileged which have pointed your activities in other times. The underprivileged we shall always have with us and we must not forget their needs in this time of national crisis.

"Very sincerely yours,

(s) Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Naturally, all tents have continued all the work that they have been doing in the past years for the less fortunates. The President clearly said there won't always be wars but there will always be underprivileged. For those familiar with the work of Variety in the past, they need not be told that the usual work required of members of Variety in normal years did not leave any time of the so-called spare time to a member's self.

Every moment was taken up in carrying out the work that had been determined for each particular club. Now with the additional demand of show business in the entertainment world at large, there not only has not been a moment but most people have found it necessary to even eliminate some of their own work in order to do the job as required of show business by our government. All tents and all members have tied right in with the War Activities Committee in doing the job that is required.

It was determined to cancel this year's convention, scheduled for Los Angeles, because the men in the entertainment business could not afford the time necessary away from their war commitments.

War Heroes' Day was handled by showmen of the Variety Clubs, as well as the appearance of stars at breakfasts, luncheons, arenas, and coliseums during, before and after the September Bond Drive.

It is not possible, nor would it be wise, to attempt to divide the work done by the Variety members and others of the entertainment world. This war job is required of show business and the Variety Clubs are most proud to be a part of the group that is doing such a tremendous job, whether they be of the Variety or just of the amusement business. Naturally, most of the leaders in most of the cities are Variety Club members, that is, where there are Variety Clubs, but they work hand in hand and together with the few men in the amusement business who have no membership in Variety.

The amount of charity for this particular year: the continuance of Variety Clubs own charity will go over the million dollar mark. All tents are continuing their summer camps, swimming pools, hospitals, supplying hospital equipment, supplying and handing of blood banks, milk banks and so forth.

No figures can be given as to the amount of money raised through the Variety Clubs for war activities. When the war is over and all the figures are reported, it will be sufficient to know that the Variety Clubs have done more than their share.

U. S. Government

MOST Government films are available without cost or for a nominal service fee and shipping costs to and from the distributing agency. Additional information and complete lists of available films may be obtained from the various Government agencies or from the Bureau of Public Inquiries, Office of War Information, 521 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.

American Red Cross

Has three films suitable for high schools and colleges but not recommended for elementary school pupils. Subjects, in 16 and 35 mm. sound, are "Foot Steps," "Mobilized for Mercy," and "Why Not Live?" Address: Office of the Director, Public Information Service, American Red Cross, 19 E. 47th St., New York, N. Y.

Department of Agriculture

A library of educational pictures, 16 mm. and 35 mm., sound and silent, on various phases of agriculture, including crops, livestock, poultry, dairying, forestry, rural engineering, home economics and related subjects is maintained by the Department. Most of these films are made for specialized use to assist the Department in its extension, regulatory, and administrative work, and available prints have been provided primarily for this purpose. Thus relatively few films can be loaned to other organizations. However, prints of most of the Department films, may be obtained from various State institutions on payment of a small service charge. Department employees and State extension workers may obtain prints free for use in their work.

A list of State depositories is available from Motion Pictures, Extension Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Department of Commerce

Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce: Has one film, "Commerce Around the Coffee Cup," in 16 and 35 mm. sound. Address: U. S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Motion Picture Division, Washington, D. C.

U. S. Weather Bureau: Has three films, "Clouds," "Fire Weather" and "Flood Weather," in 16 and 35 mm. sound. Address: U. S. Department of Commerce, Chief of the Weather Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Department of Justice

Bureau of Prisons: Has one film, "Protecting the Public," in 16 mm. sound only. Address: U. S. Department of Justice, Bureau of Prisons, Office of the Director, Washington, D. C.

Department of Labor

Bureau of Mines: Has 48 subjects pertaining to the mineral and allied industries. Address: U. S. Dept. of the Interior, Bureau of Mines Department Station, 4800 Forbes St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Division of Information: Has a number of subjects in 16 and 35 mm. silent and sound. Address: U. S. Dept. of the Interior, Division of Information, Photographic Section, Washington, D. C.

Department of the Navy

Bureau of Navigation: Has about 27 films on scenes of life in the Navy, travelogues, etc. Address: U. S. Dept. of the Navy, Recruiting Section, Bureau of Navigation, Washington, D. C., or any Navy recruiting station.

U. S. Marine Corps: Two subjects, "Soldiers of the Sea" and "The U. S. Marines" in 16 and 35 mm. sound are available from the Officer in Charge, Publicity Bureau, USMC, 1100 S. Broad St., Philadelphia, Pa. A number of newer subjects are handled by the Marine Corps Photographic Section, Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va.

Department of the Treasury

Coast Guard: Has four one-reel 16 mm. sound subjects, "Men of the Coast Guard," "The U. S. Coast Guard Academy," "Off-shore Patrol," and "Cadet Cruise." Address: Public Relations Office, U. S. Treasury Dept., Washington, D. C., or to the Commander of the nearest district.

Secret Service: Distributes "Know Your Money," 16 mm. sound. Address: U. S. Dept. of the Treasury, Secret Service, Washington, D. C.

Department of War

The Photographic Division of the Office of the Chief Signal Officer of the Army handles the production and distribution of all military instructional films, and all historical and general interest pictures of the Army except the post war pictures of aviation activities. The Signal Corps produces instructional motion pictures on military subjects designed specifically for class use. A number of silent and sound training films on military subjects are available to the Regular Army, National Guard, Organized Reserves, Reserve Officers Training Corps, and other similar patriotic organizations interested specifically in military training. Lists of available films will be supplied upon request to the Chief Signal Officer.

In addition to the training films, the Signal Corps distributes a limited number of general interest pictures on the Army which are available for loan to recognized patriotic societies, schools, organizations, etc., upon payment of transportation costs.

Department's loan policy has been extended to include civilian defense agencies and state defense councils. A number of civilian defense subjects are available from the nine Army Service Commands or can be purchased from DeLuxe Laboratories, 850 Tenth Ave., New York, N. Y.

War Dept. policy does not permit the loan of any of these pictures for showing where an admission charge is made. Lists of films available for loan may be obtained upon application to the Chief Signal Officer of the Army, Munitions Bldg., Washington, D. C. Prints are available in 16 and 35 mm. sound and silent versions. Because of the limited number of prints available, their use is restricted to organizations and groups.

Federal Loan Agency

Federal Housing Administration: Has two films, "Design and Construction of Three Small Homes," 16 mm. sound and silent, and "Today We Build," 16 and 35 mm. sound. Address: Federal Loan Agency, Federal Housing Administration, Radio and Motion Picture Section, Washington, D. C.

Film Censorship Regulations

Issued by the Office of Censorship, Chief Postal Censor, at Washington, D. C., Dec. 11, 1942

BASIC information and Types of Scenes Prohibited for Wartime Export or Import in Motion Picture Form, Including Newsreels.

Purpose of Censorship

The purpose of pictorial censorship is to keep information concerning possible bombing objectives, technical data, military or economic conditions, and adverse propaganda harmful to the war effort from leaving the country. Likewise, film censorship is designed to prevent enemy propaganda and information leading to subversive activities from entering the country.

There is no hard and fast rule of thumb applicable to censorship. Interpretation and application of the following principles must be governed by the knowledge, understanding and judgment of those applying them.

The final responsibility for wartime export or import censorship of motion pictures and newsreels rests with the Film Censorship Board of Review of the Office of Censorship. Certain types of material also require official written approval from the War Department, Navy Department, or other Government agency having direct supervision over the subject involved. Approval by any other agency represents release only insofar as that agency is concerned, and is not binding on the Board of Review.

Local Board to Judge

The Los Angeles Board of Review will be responsible for censorship examination of all dramatic and other commercial film produced on the West Coast for export.

The New York Board of Review will be responsible for the examination of all newsreels offered for export, regardless of port of exit, and for all incoming newsreels, regardless of port of entry. It will be responsible also for dramatic pictures, commercial and industrial films and 'shorts' produced in the east, or imported through ports of entry in the eastern half of the United States.

Foreign language titles and translations will be reviewed by whichever board originally examined the picture on which the ti-titles are to be superimposed. Foreign language titles and translations for a picture produced in Hollywood will be reviewed by the Los Angeles board. Similarly, the New York board will review foreign language titles and translations for pictures produced in the eastern area or imported through ports of entry in the eastern half of the United States.

This change is made in the belief that the Board of Review that originally passes on the picture is in a much better position to consider proposed foreign language changes than a board without previous knowledge of the picture.

Applies to Changes

The above allocation of responsibility will apply when it is necessary to review any changes in a film.

1. Photographic shots which require approval by the Army, the Navy or other appropriate authority include:

a. All aerial photographs and detailed close-up air shots of war production plants, docks, shipyards, railroad terminals, dams power plants, storage tanks, reservoirs, radio towers, arsenals munitions dumps, forts and all other military installations, including air fields, and military depots; detailed close-up shots of panoramic shots of civil as well as military air fields, cities, factories, or terrain showing distinguishing buildings or landin marks -in relation to each other or to the general landscape; any picture of new-type planes, tanks, guns or other military equipment.

Coast Shots Included

b. Detail photographs of identifiable beaches and coast-lines which would aid enemy landing parties on any seacoast of the United States, its territories or possessions. This does not include conventional scenic views of coastline which do not disclose information of strategic value to the enemy.

c. Technical data of any kind (other than that which discloses well-known processes, installations and other information of no importance to the military, naval or economic war efforts of the United States) which could be used or adapted for use in connection with any process, synthesis of operation in the production manufacture, reconstruction, servicing, repair or use of any article for any phase of warfare. The list is so comprehensive that technical data generally is prohibited except that contained in industrial films approved by the Board of Economic Warfare and a Board of Review.

All Troop Movements

d. Movements of land, air or sea forces, and merchant ships, when identification, origin or destination is indicated.

e. Views of Army, Navy or Marine Corps activities and detailed views of equipment.

f. Movement of naval or merchant ships in the coastal waters of the United States, its possessions, or naval bases which might be of value to the enemy with regard to attack, sabotage, or otherwise.

g. Pictures of internment camps or of persons interned.

Disturbances Barred

2. In addition, labor, class or other disturbances since 1917 which might be distorted into enemy propaganda generally are prohibited for export. Such scenes shown as an incident to the main theme of a picture which, in the opinion of the Board of Review having jurisdiction, are not harmful to the war effort may be used in dramatic productions. Likewise scenes of lawlessness or disorder in which order is restored and the offenders punished may be approved if lawlessness is not the main theme and is not the major part of the production. While it is realized that "gangster" productions reflect discredit on the American system of government in most cases—in the eyes of foreign audiences—such scenes are not prohibited per se. The Board of Review having jurisdiction will give an unofficial opinion on such scenes, prior to completion of a picture, but any such opinion will not be binding inasmuch as final action will not be taken on any production until it has been completed.

3. Undue emphasis should not be placed on rationing of essentials or other information revealing economic preparation by this country for prolonged war effort.

4. Derogatory picturization or presentation of nationals of United Nations and of the neutral countries is objectionable.

Burlesque Forbidden

5. United Nations armed forces should not be burlesqued, held up to ridicule or shown as unworthy representatives of their governments as the main theme or major part of any dramatic production. Briefer sequences of this character are objectionable in newsreels.

Censorship examination of photographic information and communications coming into the United States has the basic functions of preventing enemy propaganda from entering the country, and halting information which might lead to sabotage or other subversive activity.

The foregoing are not all-inclusive but are provided as a guide. They will be modified from time to time. Censorship reserves the right to take appropriate action in cases where any scenes or text will impede the war effort.

W. PRESTON CORDERMAN,
Chief Postal Censor.
Colonel, G.S.C.

U. S. Army Theaters

RAPID expansion of the Army has been accompanied by corresponding increases in operation of the motion picture services of the armed forces. The Army is fully aware of the tremendous factor which movies play in maintaining morale, and it is doing everything possible to see that its men are given an adequate supply of this type of entertainment.

In this, the armed services of course enjoy the fullest cooperation of the industry. The cooperation was signally instanced in late February, 1942, by the industry's presentation, through the War Activities Committee, of the first 80 motion picture programs on 16 mm. film for showing to American soldiers in combat areas.

It was the first time all 11 distributing companies had ever agreed to reduce current features and shorts to 16 mm. size, and that programs thus made available included pictures not yet in general release. There will be no admission charge for the exhibition of these 16 mm. prints in combat areas to relatively small groups of service men at each performance. An overseas unit of the Special Service Division of the War Department, rather than the Army Motion Picture Service, handles the showings abroad.

During the past several months a number of improvements have been made in facilities of the Army Motion Picture Service.

Operation and maintenance of Army motion pictures is under direct control and supervision of Brigadier General F. H. Osborn, Director, Special Service Division. Raymond B. Murray is Director and F. Bund, Jr., Assistant Director, of the U. S. Army Motion Picture Service.

More than 784 Army theaters with standard projection equipment are now in operation; 250 more will open within a few months. At all, low admission charges are in effect; profits, if any, are distributed to camp canteen funds.

The Service maintains the following District and Branch offices booking for the number of theaters indicated:

EASTERN DISTRICT—81 theaters; 904 RKO Bldg., Rockefeller Center, New York City; Thomas H. Martell, District Manager; Lee C. Beecher, Assistant District Manager.

Boston Branch—Room 828, Statler Office Bldg., Boston Mass.; John T. Babbitt, Branch Manager.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT—110 Theaters. Suite 63, 640 K. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. Arthur J. Dwyer, District Manager; Laurence Ady, Assistant District Manager.

Charlotte Branch—Room 507 Commercial Bank Bldg., 200 South Tyron Street, Charlotte, N. C. George S. Helms, Branch Manager.

SOUTHEASTERN DISTRICT—182 Theaters. Room 415, 120 Marietta Street, Atlanta, Georgia. M. W. Smith, District Manager; Raymond W. Beaudry, Assistant District Manager.

New Orleans Branch—218 South Liberty Street, New Orleans, Louisiana. William H. Suder, Branch Manager.

CENTRAL DISTRICT—134 Theaters, 3327 Locust Street, St. Louis, Missouri. T. G. Kemper, District Manager; G. Dale Larson, Assistant District Manager.

Denver Branch—Suite 421, U. S. National Bank Building, Denver, Colorado. Wendell A. Overturf, Branch Manager.

SOUTHWESTERN DIVISION—167 Theaters. 312½ South Harwood Street, Dallas, Texas. W. E. Crist, District Manager; Edwin V. Green, Assistant District Manager.

Los Angeles Branch—Room 25, 1584 W. Washington Blvd., Los Angeles, California. Weyman E. Loader, Branch Manager.

WESTERN DISTRICT—110 Theaters. 200 Orpheum Building, 1900 5th Avenue, Seattle, Washington. R. O. Schmidt, District Manager; Anthony V. Filigno, Assistant District manager.

RADIO-KEITH-ORPHEUM CORP.

Holding Company

Incorporated July 24, 1939, in Delaware

General Office, 1270 Sixth Ave., New York

The corporation was formed pursuant to a plan of reorganization of its predecessor, a Maryland corporation of the same name, confirmed by the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York by order dated April 11, 1939. A further order of the District Court dated January 18, 1940 and entered on January 20, 1940, directed the consummation of the plan. As a result thereof title to substantially all of the assets and the properties then included in the estate of its predecessor was vested in this corporation on January 26, 1940, but effective as of the opening of business on January 1, 1940, free and clear of all claims of the stockholders and creditors of its predecessor, except as provided in the plan of organization or in said order, but subject to certain liens and charges. In consideration for such transfer this corporation, among other things, issued certain of its securities for distribution to the holders of securities of and claims against its predecessor.

Principal subsidiaries: RKO Radio Pictures, Inc., Pathe News, Inc., Keith Albee Orpheum Corporation, RKO Midwest Corporation, RKO Proctor Corporation, and RKO Orpheum Corporation.

Capitalization: 128,170 shares of 6% preferred stock issued out of an authorized total of 130,000 shares (par value $100 each) and 2,873,053 shares of common stock issued out of an authorized total of 8,000,000 shares (par value $1 each). In addition to the foregoing there are outstanding option warrants to purchase 2,559,573 additional shares of common stock.

The new preferred and common stocks above referred to were listed on the New York Stock Exchange on June 14, 1940, and the option warrants were listed on the New York Curb Exchange on the same date.

Paid dividend of $2.00 per share on the 6 per cent preferred stock on May 1, 1941.

A Survey

WONDERFUL response to Victory Loans and the increase in theater receipts indicate national prosperity. If taxes are at their height, so is employment. Never in Canadian history have so many persons been profitably employed. Some 600,000 men are in the Army, Navy and Air Force. Approximately a million more people are employed in industry than ever before. About one quarter of these are women who were never expected to be wage-earners. Grain crops in 1942 were the greatest in the nation's history. Railway earnings were never higher. Yes, Canada is prosperous.

Yet with all this increase in earnings, there has been but a slight increase in the cost of living. The low figure for the Dominion Bureau of Statistics index in 1941 was 115.4. The highest for 1942 was only 118.6. In this control of inflation, the Dominion Government has done extremely well. It means regimentation, but the results seem to justify the methods adopted. The lower the cost of living, the more money there is to meet war taxes and purchases of government bonds. In this respect, Canada believes that price control in this country is as efficient and reasonable as in Great Britain or the United States.

The rigid control of excess profits, company dividends, wages and salaries has not pleased everybody. Nevertheless, the great weight of public opinion is strongly behind these economic regulations.

Aiding The War Effort

Keynote of the Industry's activities in 1942 is the activity of the Canadian Motion Picture War Services Committee which was formed early in the war. N. L. Nathanson is chairman and Ray Lewis, secretary-treasurer. The other members of the committee are J. J. Fitzgibbons, president Famous Players Canadian Corp.; T. J. Bragg and Haskell Masters of Odeon Theaters; Morris Stein and R. W. Bolsted of Famous Players; J. P. O'Loughlin of 20th Century-Fox; Leo Devaney of RKO; Henry Nathanson of Regal (M-G-M); N. A. Taylor, 20th Century Theaters; Herbert Allen, Allen Theaters; Louis Rosenfeld, Columbia Pictures; John A. Cooper, chairman Motion Picture Distributors Association; Clair Hague, Universal Pictures; Oscar R. Hanson, Monogram Pictures; and others.

This Committee had a number of duties in 1942, the main one being assisting the Canadian Government in the two War Loan Drives, one held in the Spring, and one held in the Autumn. In the Spring, the committee sent out letters to all exhibitors and suggested forming local committees in the different provinces, and in the various cities. This was done, and the industry rendered considerable help in that campaign by decorating their theaters, putting on parades and holding entertainments of one kind or another. That loan was a great success.

In the Autumn, the War Services Committee decided that a more intense campaign was required as the situation was a little more difficult on account of the higher income taxes and other economic conditions. A delegation headed by Fitzgibbons went to Ottawa and worked out a plan of cooperation with the National War Finance Committee of the Government. Fitzgibbons was named national chairman of the particular committee which was to handle the industry's activities across the country. He appointed assistant chairmen for each province as follows:

British Columbia—D. Griesdorf, Odeon Theaters of Canada Ltd., Vancouver, B. C.; Alberta—K. M. Leach, Strand Theater, Calgary, Alta; Saskatchewan—J. M. Butler, Byers Bros. Ltd., Saskatoon, and Bill Winterton, Capitol Theater, Winnipeg, Man.; Ontario—J. P. O'Loughlin, 20th Century-Fox Films Ltd. Toronto and T. J. Bragg, Odeon Theaters Toronto; Quebec—Eugene Beaulac, Quebec Allied Theatrical Industries, Montreal; New Brunswick—R. March, 20th Century-Fox Films Ltd. Saint John, N. B.; Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island—A. J. Mason, Springhill, N. S.

This organization was highly successful largely because Fitzgibbons gave strict personal attention to its activities during the four-week period of the campaign. The provinces were well organized. For example in British Columbia, Griesdorf had a committee of about 60 theater owners throughout the province and in the city of Vancouver he had seven units each working under a separate chairman. The Alberta organization was also exceptionally effective. In Saint John, Walter Pidgeon, whom Canadians claim as one of their own, made two personal appearances and received a civic welcome. While there he placed flowers on his father's grave and on the grave of Mrs. Sarah Mayer, mother of Louis B. Mayer.

Fitzgibbons visited New York and discussed the situation with the heads of the distributing companies having branch offices in Canada. He received substantial subscriptions from Paramount, 20th Century-Fox, Warners, M-G-M, Loew's Theaters, United Artists, and RKO. Other distributor subscriptions were given in Canada by Columbia Pictures, Empire-Universal, and Regal Films. The larger circuits also gave adequate support to the loan.

Each exchange also organized its staff throughout Canada. Employees of these 54 offices in the six exchange centers subscribed double the amount subscribed in the Spring campaign.

The success of these activities is best proven by a letter received by Fitzgibbons from G. W. Spinney, chairman of the National War Finance Committee at Ottawa, dated November 12th. The letter reads:

"I wish to express my sincere thanks to the Canadian Motion Picture War Services Committee, as well as to yourself as joint Motion Picture Industry advisor to this Committee, for the assistance rendered during the Third Victory Loan campaign which has just come to a successful close.

"The organization which was established throughout the country by the Motion Picture Industry extended valuable aid in many ways to our Provincial and Local Committees. This whole-hearted co-operation was in no small measure responsible for the success of the drive.

"I should like you to feel assured that everyone concerned with the Loan is most grateful to you."

In addition to direct activities in these two campaigns, the industry cooperated during the whole of the year with the Canadian Government through the National Film Board at Ottawa. This co-operation included a newsclip every week on some topic in which the Government was interested and which was embodied in the four newsreels, Metro, Fox, Paramount and Universal which are distributed in this country.

Several special trailers re War Savings Stamps and similar Government activities were also sent to the theaters by the kindness of the Distributors.

There is not space in this survey to detail all the work that has been done, but enough has been stated to indicate that the motion picture industry has used its dominant position in the entertainment world to the fullest extent in aid of the Government's activity.

Government Control

The Canadian theater industry has been more or less under Government control since October, 1940. The regulations are issued by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and the immediate supervisor of the Industry is James Stewart, Administrator of Services whose office is in Toronto. With him is associated a committee of distributors and a committee of exhibitors. The sales policy of each distributor must be approved in detail by the administrator. Any exhibitor or distributor who is dissatisfied with the terms, run, clearance or priority, with respect to any product, may appeal to the administrator for adjustment. Section Eleven of Order No. A398 of Sept. 21, 1942 contains the following clause:

"The Administrator may from time to time grant such exemption, permit or authority, and issue such general or specific instructions or directives with respect to any of the terms or provisions of this Order or of any matter related thereto as he deems proper."

Despite the fact that theater prices are frozen and no new theaters can be opened, the industry has not suffered financially to any alarming extent. In the smaller communities where the young men have gone away for military training, some theaters have had to be closed. The total number of theaters in Canada has declined from

This activity has been apparent in connection with each of the five consecutive war loans issued by the Government. The subscriptions received in these five loans aggregated $3,525,000,000, which is much larger than the national debt at the beginning of the war.

1356 to 1275. In spite of these handicaps, the total box-office receipts in Canada for the past three years were as follows: 1939, $34,010,115; 1940, $37,858,955; 1941, $42,182,000.

There has been a somewhat similar increase in rentals but the percentage of increase is not so great as the percentage increase in box-office receipts. The percentage of film rentals to gross theater receipts has been about 30 per cent for the past five years, but in 1941 was slightly lower than in 1910. The decrease in the number of theaters has a bearing on this.

There have been numerous other forms of control. Employees cannot be increased in number, nor salaries increased without permission. Cost-of-living bonuses may be paid employees under certain conditions and at specified rates. Theaters cannot be built or improved without special permits which are difficult to obtain. To transfer ownership of a theater, a permit must be obtained. Each of the two larger circuits have been successful in securing permits for the addition of another house, one in Halifax and one in North Vancouver.

None of these controls has proved quite as unpleasant in practice as it seemed likely to be when first announced. In other words, controls are exercised judiciously by reasonable administrators.

Theater Conditions

As has been mentioned, no new theaters have been opened since October, 1940. To add to the difficulties, the male population has moved from the smaller towns to the armed forces or to the war industries. This has caused the closing of theaters in summer districts, in outlying mining towns and in certain purely farming districts. The 20 per cent Dominion Amusement Tax has also had its influence where theaters were working on a narrow margin.

Nevertheless the figures for box-office receipts for 1941, already given, indicate the healthy condition for the majority of theaters. The figures for 1942 are only partially available but they indicate that the 12 per cent increase in receipts for 1941 may be duplicated. Rentals will naturally show a corresponding increase since fully 50 per cent of these receipts come from percentage contracts.

Organizations

There are theater organizations in each of the provinces. The Allied Exhibitors of Nova Scotia, and the Quebec Allied Theatrical Industries, are the two most active. The Independent Theater Association of Ontario, founded by N. A. Taylor and now managed by Syd Taube has recently taken a spurt forward.

One of the most important bodies in Ontario is the Motion Picture Branch of the Toronto Board of Trade. At its Annual Meeting recently, the following officers were elected for 1943:

Chairman, Louis Rosenfeld; Vice Chairman, R. Bolstad; Secretary, F. D. Tolchard; Executives, L. M. Devaney, J. J. Fitzgibbons, H. Freedman.

The Motion Picture Distributors Association, 105 Bond Street, Toronto, remains the senior distributor organization with which are affiliated Film Boards of Trade in Saint John, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary, and Vancouver. J. P. O'Loughlin of 20th Century-Fox is the president, Col.

Arbitration Boards

Arbitration boards are still functioning successfully in Canada. These were established in 1925 and have had a long and useful career. They have kept the courts clear of petty suits between theater-owner and distributor and have done much to preserve "the happy family" idea in this country.

J. A. Cooper, chairman, and E. H. Wells, secretary-treasurer. Oscar Hanson of Monogram and Pioneer is the newest member.

Films For Soldiers

Basic film for Army camps in Canada is 16mm., not 35mm. as in the United States. Early in 1940, the job of getting a supply of film was entrusted by the military authorities to the N.A.A.F. Film Committee of which N. L. Nathanson is honorary chairman and Col. J. A. Cooper honorary secretary. The producers at Hollywood were informed of the requirements and all expressed their willingness to help. When the work began, there were about 35 camps; now there are about 400. At first there were two distributors now there are six. The physical showing of the films in camps is financed and managed by the four "Service" organizations, Y.M.C.A. Legion, Salvation Army and K. of C. The uniform price is $30.00 per week per show (feature and shorts). No admissions are charged.

The 16mm. copies are released simultaneously with the 35mm. but the distributors are asked to see that there is no clash with the first-run theaters. In practice the 16mm. is shown about six months after general release in competitive areas.

In addition there are about 35 camps, mostly Air Force, which have regular theater equipment. These theaters are managed by local camp authorities and admission prices are usually 15 cents. These situations are treated as local theaters.

Canadian Exchange Territories

Toronto

Toronto, in addition to having head offices for all Canadian distributors, also has Toronto branches to supply the Province of Ontario. This Province has 407 theaters. Of these, 113 theaters are situated in Toronto. About 40 per cent of Canadian film rentals are derived from this Province. The leading cities, other than Toronto, are Hamilton, Ottawa, Windsor, Kitchener, St. Catharines, London, and Brantford. There is a Provincial Censor Board of four members, and censorship is the highest in Canada, viz., $6.00 per reel for "foreign" sound films and $3.00 per reel for British pictures. Even trailers are charged $3.00 per reel for censorship, and there is also a charge for censoring advertising "per subject." News reels were reduced to $1.00 each in June, 1939. Ontario amusement tax was abolished in 1937. The 35 mm. exchange license is $100.00 a year, and 16 mm. exchanges pay $50.00 a year. The censorship fee for 16 mm. is $2.00 per reel of 400 feet.

Montreal

Quebec Province is the second territory in Canada as regards rentals. The number of theaters in December, 1942, is 210, which is a decrease from 1941. Five theaters showed French pictures exclusively and about one-tenth of the balance used both French and English dialogue pictures. A newly constructed censorship board has been operating and some pictures used in all other provinces were refused a license in Quebec because of their strict ideals in social matters, such as divorce. This strict censorship has also been applied to French-dialogue pictures. Children under 16 years of age are prohibited from attending picture shows. The exchange fee is $200.00 a year and the censorship fee is $3.00. There are no regulations with regard to 16 mm. The principal centers of population are Montreal, Quebec, Three Rivers, Sherbrooke, and Verdun.

Saint John

Saint John territory includes New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, and Newfoundland. The number of theaters operating at the end of 1942, was 116. The largest of these were located in such cities as Saint John, N. B.; Halifax, N. S.; Moncton, N. B.; Sidney, N. S.; Glace Bay, N. S., and St. John's, Newfoundland. Nova Scotia charges a censorship fee of $3.00 per reel for 35 mm. and $1.50 per reel for 16 mm. New Brunswick fees are $2.50 per reel for 35 mm. and $1.00 per reel for 16 mm. Exchange licenses are $250.00 in both New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. There are neither exchange licenses nor censorship fees in Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland. However, film entering Newfoundland pays an import duty of 65 per cent on a valuation of $4.00 per reel, which is double what it was in previous year.

Winnipeg

The Winnipeg Territory includes the eastern half of Saskatchewan, the Province of Manitoba, and a portion of Western Ontario. The total number of theaters in this territory is 235. Of these, 110 are open one or two days a week and 15 are open only in the summer. Winnipeg, Regina and Saskatoon are the three largest cities in this territory. The Manitoba and Saskatchewan Censor Boards sit in Winnipeg, where the exchanges have their offices. The Manitoba censorship fee is $2.00 per reel for 35 mm. and the same fee for 16 mm. Saskatchewan charges $2.00 for 35 mm. and $1.50 for 16 mm. (750 feet). The exchange license fee in each Province is $250.00.

Calgary

Exchange offices in Calgary supply Western Saskatchewan, the Province of Alberta, and seven towns in British Columbia. The number of theaters operating at the end of 1942 was 156. Of these, about 28 are open in summer only and 78 operate only one or two days a week. The Alberta censorship charge is $4.00 per reel for 35 mm. and $2.00 per reel for 16 mm. Exchange license fee in Alberta is $250.00.

Vancouver

Vancouver territory is the smallest in Canada and is confined to the Province of British Columbia. The total number of theaters is 117. Vancouver and Victoria are the largest cities. The exchange license fee is $300.00 and the censorship fee is $3.00 per reel for 35 mm. and $1.50 per reel for 16 mm. All distributors have their offices in Vancouver, where there is a special film building for housing exchanges, as there is in all other Provinces.

Canadian Prices and Trade Board Administrator's Order No. A-398

Respecting the Rental and Exhibition of Moving Picture Films

Pursuant to authority conferred by The War-time Prices and Trade Board, I do hereby order, on behalf of such Board, as follows:

1. For the purposes of this Order,

- (a) "Administrator" means the Administrator of Services or any Deputy Administrator of Services duly appointed by the War-time Prices and Trade Board, with the approval of the Governor in Council;
- (b) "Automobile vehicle" means any vehicle or trailer propelled or drawn by mechanical means (otherwise than on rails) and adapted or designed for the carrying of goods;
- (c) "Basic contract" means and includes a contract between a distributor and an exhibitor for the rental of not less than six feature products of the 1940-41 releasing period, and a contract made prior to October 12, 1941, between a distributor and an exhibitor for the rental of not less than six feature products of the 1941-42 releasing period, and a contract made at any time between a distributor and an exhibitor for the rental of not less than six feature products of the 1941-42 releasing period in pursuance of an Order of or with the approval of the Administrator; provided, however, that a contract for product of the 1940-41 releasing period shall not be a basic contract if there exists another contract made prior to October 12, 1941, between the same distributor and the same or another exhibitor for not less than six feature products of the 1941-42 releasing period and dealing with the corresponding product in the same

- run and in the same zone as those dealt with in the said contract for the 1940-41 releasing period; and provided, further, that any contract which conflicts with a contract made in pursuance of an Order of and/or with the approval of the Administrator shall not be a basic contract for the purposes of this Order;
- (d) "Clearance" means the interval elapsing between any two consecutive runs of the same product;
- (e) "Distributor" means any person renting or selling or contracting for the rental or sale of product to an exhibitor, but does not include any agency or department of the Dominion of Canada or of any Provincial Government;
- (f) "Exhibitor" means any person exhibiting product to the public for profit;
- (g) "Feature product" means any product consisting of at least 5,000 feet of moving picture film prepared for exhibition at one time and recognized by producers, exhibitors and distributors as the principal attraction in a theater and which is usually exhibited in conjunction with what is known to the trade as "news reels", "cartoons", "shorts" and/or other feature product;
- (h) "Grouping" means the manner in which the product of any releasing period is classified into groups by a distributor for the purpose of rental in descending order as to quality and price, as, for example, special, first (or top), second, third, etc., groups or, in the alternative, special, A, B, C, etc., groups;

- (i) "Priority" means the right of an exhibitor, recognized by exhibitors and distributors, to distribute product prior to its exhibition in another theater or theaters in a different zone;
  - (j) "Producer" means any person producing moving picture film in all respects ready for exhibition but does not include any agency or department of the Dominion of Canada or of any Provincial Government;
  - (k) "Product" means moving picture film made or produced or to be made or produced for purposes of public exhibition.
  - (l) "Product of any releasing period" means the product which is designated by a distributor as being available for exhibition for the first time during a particular releasing period, whether or not such exhibition actually occurs during such releasing period or later;
  - (m) "Releasing period" means a twelve month period during which product is made available for exhibition, generally speaking, from the 1st September in any one year to the 31st August in the year following, both inclusive, and is identified by the figures of the two years, parts of which are included therein, the releasing period from 1st September, 1940, to 31st August, 1941, for example, being identified as the 1940-1941 releasing period;
  - (n) "Run" means the order of sequence in which product is exhibited in any certain theater in relation to the exhibition of the same product in any other theater or theaters in the same zone, as, for example, "first run" or "second run";
  - (o) "Theater" means any premises where moving picture film is exhibited to the public for profit;
  - (p) "Zone" means an area within which is situate one or more theaters which as at the 11th October, 1941, was recognized by exhibitors and distributors as being a unit for the purpose of determining the respective runs and/or clearances of such theaters.
2. Except with the permission, in writing, of the Administrator.
    - (a) The run, clearance and/or priority enjoyed under a basic contract with respect to any product by any exhibitor in relation to any theater shall not be changed with respect to the corresponding product of the same distributor of any subsequent releasing period;
    - (b) No person shall alter or cause to be altered in any manner any zone from that existing on the 11th day of October, 1941.
  3. (1) On or before the 1st day of October, 1942, with respect to the product of the 1942-1943 releasing period and at least fifteen days prior to the commencement of each subsequent releasing period, every distributor shall, with respect to each feature product of each producer represented by him, furnish the Administrator with full particulars of the proposed grouping of each such product to be offered for exhibition in such releasing period.
    - (2) The Administrator may appear or vary such proposed grouping. No contract for the rental of any feature product of the 1942-43 or any subsequent releasing period shall be valid unless and until the grouping thereof has been approved or determined by the Administrator.
  4. No distributor shall make the rental to any exhibitor of any product of any producer conditional upon the rental by such exhibitor of another class of product of the same producer or any product of another producer.
  5. No person shall use or cause or permit to be used any automotive vehicle for the purpose of advertising any theater, product or any exhibition of any product.
  6. No exhibitor shall make or cause or permit to be made any change in the number, class, type or location of seats which were, on the 11th day of October, 1941, allotted to any price range in any theater.
  7. At any time after one o'clock in the afternoon of the days hereinafter named in respect of any part of Canada in which a theater is located, any exhibitor may charge as admission to a location in such theater a price not exceeding the highest lawful evened admission price in effect for such location in such theater during the basic period as defined in The Wartime Prices and Trade Regulations. The days above referred to are:
    - (a) In Canada, excepting the Province of Quebec, New Year's Day, Good Friday, Easter Monday, Empire Day, The King's Birthday, Dominion Day, Any locally proclaimed Civic Holiday, Labour Day, Thanksgiving Day, Remembrance Day, Christmas Day, Boxing Day (if proclaimed);
    - (b) In the Province of Quebec, All days named in paragraph (a) above, and Every Sunday in the year, Epiphany (January 6th), Ash Wednesday, Ascension Day, St. Jean Baptiste (June 24th), All Saints Day (November 1st), Immaculate Conception (December 8th).
  8. (1) No exhibitor shall charge, as admission to or for any location in any theater exhibiting any product, any price in excess of the price established for that location in that theater in the said basic period, notwithstanding that any exhibitor may, at any time, and from time to time in such theater and in conjunction with the exhibition of any product, present any name band, variety or vaudeville act or any other celebrity, provided, however, that any exhibitor who charged an increased admission price in any theater by reason of added attractions on New Year's Eve of 1941 may, for comparable added attractions on each succeeding New Year's Eve, charge a price which shall not exceed that price charged by him as admission to such theater on New Year's Eve of 1941.
    - (2) No exhibitor shall be required to reduce the price of any admission to any theater on New Year's Eve by reason of the discontinuance by him of the practice or custom of giving or offering any premiums or favours to customers on such occasion.
  9. No exhibitor shall
    - (a) Offer or give any premium to any person in any theater, or conduct what is known to the trade as "Bank-Nite" or "Photo-Nite", in any theater in which such offering, giving or conducting was not in effect during the said basic period and/or during the month of August, 1942;
    - (b) Make any charge for any premium in any theater unless such charge was made in such theater during the said basic period;
    - (c) Increase the amount of any charge for any premium in excess of that charged by him for such premium during the said basic period.
  10. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as authorizing the rental of product by a distributor at prices higher than the maximum prices as provided by The Wartime Prices and Trade Regulations.
  11. The Administrator may from time to time grant such exemption, permit or authority and issue such general specific instructions or directions with respect to any of the terms or provisions of this Order or of any matter related thereto as he deems proper.
  12. This Order shall be effective on and after the 21st day of September, 1942.

Britain In 1942

By ERNEST W. FREDMAN

Managing Editor, The Daily Film Renter

THIS is the United Kingdom's fourth year of war. Looking back over the past 12 months, it seems almost incredible to realize what has been packed into these 365 days. The advent of America into the war, the switch over from defensive to offensive and the changed outlook for the United Nations all have had their profound effect upon the film industry in Britain.

The Editor has asked that this year some attention should be devoted to the British film industry's own contribution to the United Nations' war effort, and it is apt that at this moment this request should be answered.

We are in our fourth year of hostilities, and what Britain has done in these first three years we see duplicated with enthusiasm throughout the great nation of the United States. We read of the unlimited energy with which the American film industry and Hollywood in particular has answered the call to arms—and their supreme efforts to raise money for the war effort, but don't forget, and I say this in no boastful spirit and definitely without the slightest thought of criticism, Britain did this three years before America came in with a mighty contribution to help smash the Axis war of aggression.

We are grateful for that help—we read with gratitude in our hearts of the grand work that Hollywood is doing, of highly paid stars flocking to the colours, of producers and directors giving up highly paid jobs to take their part in the war effort, of technicians of all kinds downing tools to take their place in the fighting zones, and of the subordination of the entire film industry's vast machine to help the Government win the war. We read it, we hear it, and we know it all to be true, and it coincides with our feelings for our cousins overseas who marched proudly side by side with our own men in the great World War.

But dare I point out that the British film industry, although lesser in size and not to be compared in volume with Hollywood, has done an equally great job of work? Our stars have joined the forces. Today the British film studios are at their wits' end to cast pictures. Technicians are at a premium. Directors number a mere handful who go from picture to picture without a break. Many of our studios are taken over by the Government. Those who carry on give prior consideration to serving for the Government need in the way of pictures, carrying a great message to the public.

The industry is depleted of all its resources but carries on with indomitable will and sometimes only that spirit carries a production through. Films are being made in bombed out studios under incredible difficulties, but they have been made, and pictures such as "Target For Tonight," "Coastal Command," "Next of Kin," "The First of the Few," "In Which We Serve," "The Big Blockade," "Convoy," "Unpublished story," "Ships With Wings," and "Men of the Lighthouse," have carried a message of the spirit of the Fighting Forces and the will of the people to screens both in Britain and to your country.

We have raised large sums of money for the war effort. The Government have shown their gratitude in many ways, although necessary restrictions have had to be imposed in common with other industries, but the Government have always expressed their gratitude for the magnificent way in which the British film industry has carried on and done a grand job of work.

Vast sums of money have been raised for benevolent purposes, over 200,000 pounds was collected by the Cinematograph Exhibitors Association from the cinemas for the RAF Benevolent Fund, and a like effort is again in progress on behalf of allied prisoners of war. Close to a million was contributed to the Warner Appeal for the premiere of "Yankee Doodle Dandy." Collection boxes have rattled in thousands of cinemas for one war charity and another, and never rattled in vain. Britain is war minded but largely responsible for the morale of the people is the cheery entertainment that the kinemas provide.

Then we look around and see the tremendous contribution our producers have made in the production of shorts, which the Ministry of Information has distributed far and wide. A colossal number of these pictures have been turned out and found their way into countries all over the globe, the Government Departments, such as the Ministry of Food, Ministry of Fuel, apart altogether from the M.O.I., have asked studios for contributions, and never asked in vain. The news reels have cooperated with the Ministry of Information, and done an immense job of work.

The cinemas themselves have always shown a ready desire to help the war effort. They have placed their screens at the disposal of the War Office for the showing of training films. Liaison officers have been appointed between the exhibitors and the War Office for this purpose. The C.E.A. has whole-heartedly thrown itself with unbounded enthusiasm into the task of furthering the war effort in every direction by means of the screen. No request that has been made to exhibitors has ever been turned down.

Film entertainment is allowed to be shown to troops in camps all over the country, the only restriction being that it should not be within two miles of a cinema, but even that bar is waived on many occasions.

By means of trailers, special films, slides and special addresses from cinema stages, appeals have been made on behalf of the Navy, Army, Air Force, Wrens, A.T.S., etc., and almost every other branch of the fighting services. Similar appeals have likewise been made for the A.F.S., A.R.P., W.V.S., and all the various forms of Civil Defense organizations.

The efforts of this industry on behalf of the many War Savings campaigns have been publicly acknowledged by the head of the Savings Group—Lord Kindersley. The many "Tank" and "Battleship" weeks were given every aid and support, as was likewise the War Savings group scheme. All the cinema screens have for some time past, at the request of and by arrangement with the Ministry of Food, been at the disposal of the local Food Controllers. We have gone to a deal of trouble to publicize the "Dig for Victory," and the very many "Salvage" Drives for scrap metal, paper and other waste products.

In all parts of the country we have been foremost in appeals for Nursing help, blood transfusions, factory workers, land workers, economy in the use of gas, water, coal, oil, etc. Every theater in the country with very few exceptions has screened the special shorts produced by the Ministry of Information every week, and whilst quite a number of these films carry their message in an interesting and entertaining way—there are quite a few that have been the reverse.

On very many occasions special propaganda films have been attached to newsreels including addresses by various Cabinet Ministers past and present. The Ministry of Information have also had the use during the morning on many Sundays of hundreds of cinemas for a mere nominal fee (barely enough to cover the cost of heating, lighting and cleaning) for the purpose of cinematograph performances, addresses by Ministers and Officials, and various public appeals. So likewise have very many city and town municipal authorities. The fighting services, together with the Civil Defense Authorities, have practically since the outbreak of War had the use of most cinemas for the purpose of showing special instructional films, lectures, etc., and this was by arrangement with the C.E.A.

Now, let me refer to yet another side of our activities. Many appeals have from time to time been made for various National causes, such as "Spitfire Funds," "Navy League," "Help for Russia," and many others where by our own efforts and ably assisted by a very generous public, many thousands of pounds have been collected and handed over to many deserving causes. The huge amount recently handed over by the Trade to the Royal Air Force Benevolent Fund must still be in our minds, and we are shortly to embark on a new campaign in an endeavor to get as large a sum as possible for the Red Cross Prisoners of War Fund.

In a minor direction, but not quite unimportant, collections have been and are still going on everywhere for the Comforts and Parcels Funds for the Services—for books, cigarette, tobacco, papers, woollens, and a host of other necessities.

Films have been supplied in vast numbers to the Army for entertainment for the soldiers, at nominal cost, which only a few weeks ago was reduced to print cost, meaning that all the Army authorities have to pay for where shows are free is the cost of the print. Similar work is being done for the Royal Navy, where the distributors have always given their films free so that the lads on the ships throughout the seven seas can have an opportunity of a little relaxation.

Great work has been done by the C.E.A. with Government Departments in every direction, such as throwing their halls open on Sundays where showing is not normally allowed that day, for the troops, and giving special facilities to the Army authorities in every conceivable direction.

I should say that Britain has risen to the occasion in an astounding manner, for which our studios and personnel are chiefly responsible. So if you ask me what the British film industry has contributed to the United Nations war effort, my reply is—everything.

Now let us take a general review of the past 12 months—12 months of extraordinary business. Entertainment vital to the morale of the masses has gone ahead tremendously. Programs have never been interfered with despite the efforts of the Luftwaffe. There has been some addition to our casualties, many houses being bombed, but generally speaking, things in that direction have not been bad.

Attendances are on the up and up everywhere. This is understandable because motion pictures are the only real entertainment today, outside of the legitimate theaters which are comparatively few in number.

The studios have turned out some mighty fine pictures. In the past there used to be a ceiling of 50 to 60 thousand pounds—now the sky is the limit. "In Which We Serve" cost 220,000 pounds, and others in course of production even eclipse that sum. Not bad, I think you will agree, for a country at war getting on for four years, and with innumerable obstacles to overcome in the making of pictures.

The total number of British features registered in 1942 stood at 53, of which 19 were comedies, 18 were subjects with a definite war background and 16 were other dramas or melodramas.

The weekly lists issued by the Board of Trade reveal that there were 10 treble quota, 16 double quota, and 18 single quota films—with nine registered for exhibitors' quota only.

Aggregate footage available for exhibitors is 390,454 ft., and—after correcting the double and treble registrations and product not counted for them—655,470 ft. for renters.

Contributions of the major studios to the program can be assessed as follows: Denham, 11; 7aling, 6; Shepherd's Bush and Islington, 6; National (Rock), 6; Welwyn, 5; Teddington, 4; others, 15.

The past year has seen the introduction of new personalities in the direction of the circuits. Three main circuits operate in England, namely, Associated British Pictures, chairman of which is A. G. Allen, D.S.O., M.C., who control some 500 theaters; Gaumont British Corporation and Odeon Theaters, both of which are under the control of J. Arthur Rank. This latter personality is active in many directions, and undoubtedly will be a big force in the making of British pictures, for he has ambitious ideas in connection with the production of British films, and controlling, as he does, Shepherd's Bush, Islington and Denham studios, is in a position to produce the major part of the pictures turned out by this country.

The past year has been remarkable for changes in the Quota legislation. Repeated agitations on the part of the trade have recently resulted in a concession to the American companies, whereby they need only in future make one film in this country and acquire American rights to British pictures, fulfilling their quota obligations that way. At the time of writing this concession has only just come into force, and there is strong agitation afoot to get the quota percentage decreased by exhibitors, who maintain not enough British pictures are being made to satisfy their obligations.

Nineteen-forty-two has not seen any fresh legislation or curtailment of either production or on the showing of films. The industry works in thoroughly well with the authorities, and, considering the times, it is remarkable the amazing entertainment the films offer and the good value they give for money.

Double feature programs still obtain, and, despite alarming prophesies of a shortage the programs look like continuing that way at least throughout 1943.

The past year has seen an unfortunate rentals dispute between one of the American companies and the C.E.A., which lasted only some three or four weeks, and is now happily out of the way. Otherwise there has been nothing but cordiality between the various sides of the industry, which has adapted itself to present conditions in a manner that I think is entitled to admiration.

So we turn to 1943 with confidence. It may be, and indeed, we all pray that it will be, the last of war, but, whatever the fates have in store, the British film industry will play its part just as conscientiously and every bit as enthusiastically as it has done in the three years of hostilities, and, despite present day difficulties, will continue to keep the flag of production flying high.

England—A Survey

LEGISLATION—Prior to 1938, motion picture legislation in the United Kingdom for a 10-year period was based upon an act which expired March 31, 1938. At this time a new Films Bill was adopted to govern the industry for a further 10-year period from April 1, 1938. This complicated legislation was subject to extensive and detailed consideration and discussion for months before its final acceptance.

Ever since the commencement of the war the question of the retention of the Act has been the subject of lengthy negotiations between the industry and the President of the Board of Trade. Following the option given to distributors in 1940 of making one British film of not less than 7,000 feet, costing a minimum of £3 per foot, for each 100,000 feet of film imported, the Board of Trade in the following year accepted a recommendation to reduce the quotas for the next three years. This decision was mainly forced by exhibitors, who found a rising quota impossible to fulfill in view of restricted British production, a condition which affected distributors to a secondary degree. As a result, from April 1 last year, the distributors' quota became 20 per cent for features and 15 per cent for shorts; from Oct. 1 that for exhibitors became 15 per cent for features and 12½ per cent for shorts. These represent an all-around cut of five per cent in the percentages which would otherwise apply. In October last Board of Trade announced another amendment permitting American distributors to make only one British picture a year, and making up their balance of quota by purchase rights of other British films. It was stipulated they must pay not less than £20,000 per picture and only half the purchase price would count against their monetary quota commitment.

CENSORSHIP—Normally, censorship of films in Great Britain is carried out by the British Board of Film Censors. This is not a statutory body, but one established by the trade many years ago. Since the outbreak of war, however, all questions of censorship have been passed over by the Government to the Ministry of Information, which has appointed the B.B.F.C. as its agent. Films can only be shown in British theaters if they bear the "Security" certificate of the Ministry, a condition applying not only to entertainment pictures, but also to news reels.

Final acceptance or rejection of a film for exhibition officially rests with the Local Licensing Authorities throughout the country, numbering some seven hundred, but almost universal acceptance is given to the decisions and control exercised by the Board and generally the situation is considered satisfactory. In connection with the power of Local Authorities it should be noted that when a film is rejected by the Board of Film Censors an application for special review can be made to Local Authorities and a few notable instances have occurred where this procedure has resulted in local exhibition of the rejected film. London County Council has shown a disposition to establish its own grades of certificates, in which it has the support of Middlesex, Surrey and Essex, who are three important county organizations infringing on the metropolitan area.

Detailed discussion of the specific standards followed in censoring film appears to be superfluous but it might be mentioned that three grades of certificates are issued. "U" means passed for universal exhibition. "A" is recommended more especially for adult audiences and under nearly all Local Licensing Authorities children must be accompanied by adults when attending. The "H" category stands for "Horrific" and usually attendance of children is entirely prohibited. Recent experience has been that well over four-fifths of the film subjects passed by the Board receive the "U" certificate while the "H" category has been confined to one or two per year. It should be noted, however, that this proportionate division applies to the total number of subjects and not to feature film alone which get a smaller proportion of the "U" certificates.

COMPETITION—In the motion picture film market of the United Kingdom competition is practically limited to that between British-made and American films. Other foreign pictures account for an entirely insignificant proportion of the total shown and are practically confined to a few theaters in the largest centers which specialize in this type of entertainment. Since the war, importations of such pictures has virtually ceased except for a recent influx of Russian product, which is being favorably received in the theaters.

In view of war conditions the Board of Trade has ceased to issue its customary analysis of the percentage of British films shown, but, owing to the operation of the double and triple certificates and the general uncertainty, there has been some decline in quantity, although a more than proportionate improvement in quality.

The decline in local production noticed last year continued in 1942. Last official figures issued by the Board of Trade related to quota for the year ended March 31, showing a total of only 46 British features registered, as compared with not less than 200 in normal pre-war years. A breakdown showed these to include 9 "exhibitors' quota" films (costing less than £15,000); 15 "renters' single quota" films (costing not less than £15,000); 15 "renters' double quota" films (costing not less than £30,000); and 7 "renters' treble quota" films (costing not less than £45,000).

It now appears to be conclusively established and due to restrictions of studio space, manpower, essential materials and other war factors, the maximum output of all British pictures in any one year cannot exceed 50. The recent quota amendment recorded under heading of "Legislation" was, in fact, founded on this assumption.

The uneasiness which sprang from the entry of the United States into the war that Hollywood product might also fall off in quantity persisted throughout 1942 and has recently been seriously reinforced by the news of raw stock shortage. U. S. Governmental pronouncements on single features and revised programs of Hollywood majors. As a result, the industry within the U. K. foresees considerable diminution in product as effective before the close of this year.

One result of the current shortage of films (first noted in 1940) has been a series of so-called revivals or re-issues of older pictures throughout the year and in many instances these have given surprisingly satisfactory results, although recognized as a temporary expedient to solve the immediate situation. It can be said in general that without qualification American films continue to be well received by the British public and give continually recurring evidence of their popularity.

COPYRIGHT RELATIONS—Under British law and practice the interest of the author and producer are fully protected. The ordinary legal reference is the Copyright Act of 1911 as amended. Great Britain entered into copyright relations with the United States on July 1, 1891; extended April 9, 1910; further extended January 1, 1915. Great Britain is a member of the International Copyright Union at Berne.

PRODUCTION—See under "Competition." Expectation of local production will be more seriously affected by the recorded Government decision to lower off the Quota percentages for three years, as by the earlier concession whereby American buy U. S. rights of local pictures against Quota, thereby saving themselves from the obligation of producing their full percentage by physical footage.

TAXES—There is a national Entertainment Tax which is specific in amount for each price category of tickets, and it has been considerably increased by special war taxation rates culminating in stiff new Entertainment duties in the 1942 Budget. Local taxation is governed by the individual local rating laws which provide normal tax treatment for motion picture theaters. The import duty for films is reasonable and in the general high field of British taxation the treatment of motion pictures can be considered as moderate, although the Entertainment Tax as amended last year is estimated to yield thirty million pounds sterling to the Exchequer annually.

While not considered in the direct category of taxation there is a special related feature worthy of note under The Sunday Entertainment Act, 1932, which gave local authorities permission to open and regulate cinematograph theaters on Sunday. The local authorities alone have the power to give such permission and it is estimated that about 1,000 out of the approximate 5,000 theaters in England are now permitted Sunday opening. It is provided under this Act that the local authority shall demand from the theater a proportion of the profits for that day, part of which sums collected shall be used for local charitable purposes and another proportion paid into the "Cinematograph Fund" under the direction and control of the Privy Council for the purpose of encouraging the use and development of the cinematograph as a means of entertainment and instruction. Something like 9 or 10 thousand pounds sterling is now received into this central fund annually and the principal use for it has been in supporting the British Film Institute, which is active in the promotion of the use of motion pictures for educational purposes. The amount paid into the national "Cinematograph Fund" is only equal to about 5 per cent of the total collected by the various Local Authorities, the balance collected under the Sunday Entertainment Act, 1932, being devoted to local charitable purposes.

THEATERS—All motion picture theaters in the United Kingdom are now equipped with sound apparatus. The number varies from time to time, due to openings and closings, as a result of new construction, reconstruction, etc. The total number of theaters is well in excess of 5,000 and one of the best trade sources puts the figure at approximately 5,300, although damage by enemy action and closures due to economic stress have caused the shutting down of between 10 and 15 per cent of these. There are a number of relatively small so-called marginal theaters which come and go from time to time but are not considered in the above analysis and the importance of these is relatively insignificant. The estimated total seating capacity of these theaters is approximately 5,000,000, while an estimate for the seating capacity of those not including Ireland would be between 4.5 and 4.6 millions.

Last estimate of the average admission price in motion picture theaters, based upon an analysis of a very large number of tickets was placed at 10.2 pence and the estimated total number of weekly admissions at 23 millions. On this basis total annual gross receipts would be more than fifty million sterling and a published estimate placed the total at forty-six millions. Official information is not available on the above but the data mentioned are believed to be quite sufficiently accurate to furnish a background for all necessary trade purposes. It must be noted, however, that these figures are based on pre-war data; no accurate estimate on current situation is available—nor must be overlooked that new impositions in last year's Budget forced exhibs. to increase basic admission prices over the entire range. It is possible present trends may even show a greater bulk attendance weekly than the peacetime norm, as show business appeared to be undergoing a new gold strike in the latter part of 1941 as throughout 1942. The effects of black-out and general restrictions, combined with continuous air raids of the 1940-41 Winter undoubtedly gave a serious setback to the box office, but the internal reaction to the lull which lasted from Spring till the end of the year and throughout 1942, with its more encouraging picture of the war situation, more than offset that, leaving motion pictures at a peak of popularity as great as they have ever known.

War Service By the Australian Industry

By CLEM WHITELEY*

Trade Liaison Officer and New South Wales Advertising Manager for Fox Film Corp.

THIS year's output of documentary film subjects issued by the Department of Information and so willingly distributed and exhibited by the film industry in Australia reveals some very interesting figures.

From June, 1941, to June, 1942, 28 subjects, necessitating 2,029 prints with a total footage of 1,120,036 feet were screened in theaters throughout the Commonwealth.

This does not include a further 14 subjects screened exclusively in newsreel houses, nor does it include a total of 51,000 feet of original material photographed by the Department of Information War Camera Units and supplied to local newsreels; Cinesound and Movietone particularly. Made up for presentation plus prints for exhibition a total additional footage of these news clips alone would approximate also another 2,000,000 feet.

The smooth, efficient handling of distribution and exhibition of an approximate weekly total footage of 60,000 feet of documentary material to the Australian public is a tremendous compliment to the industry and the Film Division of the Department of Information.

It is confidently anticipated that at least 3,000,000 people weekly are being given instructional, educational, national information per medium of motion picture theater screens in the Commonwealth of Australia.

Although approximately 60 short subjects have been received here from the British Ministry of Information in England, India and other parts of the globe, the best 15 of these have been selected by the National Film Council of the D.O.I. as being most entertaining material of a war nature for exhibitors to screen. Selection of the Council, comprising Ernest Turnbull, N. B. Freeman and N. B. Rydge, is appreciated by showmen, whose enthusiastic cooperation in this section of the nation's War Effort has never been greater. Although only 15 out of 60 films received are given maximum distribution, this does not mean that the remaining subjects are left lying in the vaults; every Ministry of Information short subject received here is put to a useful purpose, and, after selection by the Film Council for more general theater release, the D.O.I. Film Division allocates certain subjects for showing in newsreel "theaterettes" and others to be shown where their instructional qualities will be most appreciated, i.e., Army Instructional Dept., Women's Auxiliaries, N.E.S. Wardens, Department of Munitions employees, etc.

Thus every foot of film of this type landed in Australia is put to useful purpose.

During the year ending June 30, 28 documentary shorts have been released by the D.O.I., of which 2,029 prints have been distributed throughout Australia by the major distributing companies, and 1,120,036 feet of film have been shown in theaters and theaterettes in that time.

B.E.F. distributed two, Columbia four, Fox six, M-G-M five, Paramount five, RKO one, UA one, Universal two, and Warner Bros. two. The total of 28 was constituted as follows: General D.O.I. subjects, 15; N.E.S., four; War Loan, three; Air Board, one; Dept. of War Organization, four; Army Recruiting, one.

Thus it will be quite apparent that the work of the Films Division and, indeed, that of the entire industry, represents close cooperation with the Commonwealth's most active wartime departments.

Of the 28 short subjects, 13 were produced locally, with all credit to Ken G. Hall,

*From a report submitted to the WAC Foreign Managers Division.

Charles Chauvel, Ralph Smart and Harry Guinness.

Additionally, it is interesting to note that 51,000 feet of film, represented in 54 items, has been released to Cinesound and Fox Movietone News during the year ending 30/6/42. Cameramen who have risked their lives in obtaining this material in danger war zones and frequently whilst under fire include Damien Parer, Alan Anderson, Frank Bagnall, Bill Carty, Earl McNeil and Capt. Frank Hurley. Each of these men has proven himself veritably, a war hero. A great number of world camera "scoops" being to their credit.

Speedy and efficient handling of D.O.I. film by the Distributing Companies has at times set new records in Australian distribution.

"It's Up To You," Mr. Curtin's War Loan speech, was blanket-released by 20th-Fox on 15/6/42, and within nine days 375 prints had been screen in every theater in Australia, and it can be truthfully said that every company and every theater in the Commonwealth is contributing solidly towards this aspect of our war effort. It is a great credit to all concerned that in such a vast setup so few prints have gone astray and that such general satisfaction has been voiced re servicing by all concerned, from the film laboratories who have so often rushed hundreds of prints off in emergency time to the exhibitors who screen them to the public. Branch Managers and bookers of the various distributing companies in each state must receive credit for much of the smooth efficiency, also representatives of the Film Renters Association, Bob Scorgie, Melbourne; J. H. Lang, deputizing for Edgar Tonkin, in Brisbane; E. Painter, S.A., and W. Halliday, W.A., who, in honorary capacity, have acted as liaison officers in their respective states between the D.O.I. and Exhibitors.

D.O.I. Films Division, under brisk leadership of Jack Allan, includes Bill Cronin and Lloyd Ravenscroft. It has established itself as quite the most cheerful and efficient Government Department in Australia handling a hundred and one details, in addition to those mentioned above, both during and out of business hours.

These figures are not readily appreciated by the general public—but the plain fact is that a tremendous organization of skilful co-operative experts with nation-wide resources are daily and without fanfare, or remuneration, bringing to millions of people vitally important messages in an unobtrusive, entertaining fashion and appreciably assisting the National War Effort.

Mexico In 1942

By MARCO-AURELIO GALINDO

MEXICO, D. F.

HIGHLIGHTED by several significant developments, the year 1942 proved to be quite the biggest year yet for the Mexican motion picture industry. With 52 pictures completed at native studios, it was not the biggest production twelvemonth as far as quantity went, but it was the brightest on the basis of quality.

Mexican product improved definitely, and local producers did themselves proud with such films as Films Mundiales' "Historia de un Gran Amor" (The Story of a Great Love), Posa's "Los Tres Mosqueteros" (The Three Musketeers), and Grovas, S. A.'s "Yo Bailé con Don Porfirio" (I Danced with Don Porfirio), and "El Angel Negro" (Dark Angel). Both in artistry and box office strength, the pictures cited were outstanding. Specially noteworthy as marking the definite introduction of color to the Mexican industry, was Grovas, S. A.'s "Así se Quiere en Jalisco" (The Way They Love in Jalisco), a feature-length musical romance in color produced and directed by Fernando de Fuentes.

The past year saw the launching of several new producing concerns and a number of distributing organizations. It also marked the establishment of the Cámara Nacional de la Industria Cinematográfica de México (National Chamber of the Mexican Motion Picture Industry), of which General Juan F. Azcárate, former Mexican Ambassador to Berlin, is president, as well as the founding of a new picture financing concern, the Unión de Crédito Cinematográfico (Association of Motion Picture Credit), with Francisco Uribe Montes de Oca as general manager.

Among the new producing and distributing concerns, most potent is the Cinematográfica México, S. A. (CIMESA), of which Jesus Gil is president, Gonzalo Elvira general manager. Established late in the year, CIMESA produced two pictures, one a big musical drama and the other a feature-length phantasy, the second color feature made in native studios, CIMESA also financed two other independently-made pictures which it undertook to distribute throughout the world.

Producciones Ixtla is another producing organization active throughout 1942. Manuel Reachí founded Promesa Films late in the year and turned out as his first effort, "Yolanda," a love story with a ballet company background starring Irina Haronova, internationally famous star of the Ballet Theater, Cinematográfica Internacional, S. A. (CISA), of which Felipe Mier is general manager, and which was long inactive, resumed production and will start work on a number of pictures early in 1943. Cinematográfica Mexicana, S. A. is another producing company which completed two operas late in the year.

The resignation of Jesús Grovas from the general managership of Grovas, S. A., most potent and ambitious of native producing and distributing organizations, and the appointment in his place of Salvador Elizondo, till then head of the Cinematográfica Latino Americana, S. A. (CLASA) studios, came as a sensational surprise. In the reorganization that followed, Mauricio de la Serna, associate producer with the company, was appointed director general of production for Grovas, S. A., a concern originally founded by Jesús Grovas with his brother Adolfo.

Mexican pictures this year dominated the scene from the box office angle. Although the Hollywood product enjoyed as much favor as ever and the American film makers presented a total of 167 pictures, not counting fillers, actually the native product far outdistanced any other picture in popularity. Top among American-made pictures were M-G-M's "Mrs. Miniver," 20th Century-Fox's "How Green Was My Valley" and Columbia's "The Talk of the Town."

Among the native films, top money-makers were Posa Films' "Los Tres Mosqueteros" (The Three Musketeers), starring Mario ("Cantinflas") Moreno, outstanding comedian of Mexican screen, stage and radio; Producciones Rodriguez Hnos.' "¡Ay, Jalisco, no te Rajes!" (Jalisco, Never Say Die!), Grovas, S. A.'s "Yo Bailé con Don Porfirio" (I Danced with Don Porfirio), and Filmadora Mexicana (FILMEX)'s "El Baisano Jalil."

Films Mundiales' production of "Historia de un Gran Amor" (The Story of a Great Love), which Julio Bracho directed, was awarded top honors as the best native picture of 1942 by the Asociación de Periodistas Cinematograficos de Mexico. The studio received a trophy given by President Manuel Avilo Camacho.

Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's production of "Mrs. Miniver" was awarded a special prize as the outstanding foreign-made picture.

Other awards were as follows:

Julio Bracho as best director for his work in "Historia de un Gran Amor." (Last year he won top honors for his "Ay, que tiempos, Sr. Don Simon!" picked as the best picture of 1941.)

Arturo de Cordova, best actor (for "El Conde de Montecristo" (The Count of Monte Cristo), made for Filmex. De Cordova is now under contract to Paramount in Hollywood.

Mapy Cortes, best actress (for "Yo Baile con Don Porfirio" (I Danced with Don Porfirio), a Grovas, S. A. production.

Mario ("Cantinflas") Moreno, best comedian (for "Los Tres Mosqueteros" (The Three Musketeers), made by Posa Films).

Susana Guizar, best young actress (for her work in "Alejandra," a Filmex production.)

Domingo Soler, best supporting actor (for "Historia de un Gran Amor" (The Story of a Great Love), produced by Films Mundiales).

Jose Luis Jimenez, outstanding discovery of 1942 (in "La Virgen Morena" (The Dark Virgin), a Soria and Santander production).

Narciso Busquets, best child actor (for "Historia de un Gran Amor" (The Story of a Great Love), made by Films Mundiales).

Chano Urueta, best screen-play (for "El Conde de Montecristo" (The Count of Monte Cristo), produced by Filmex).

Pedro Galindo, best movie song (for "Soy Puro Mexicano" (I'm Every Inch a Mexican), from Raul de Anda's production of that title).

Manuel Fontanals, best art direction (in "Yo Baile con Don Porfirio" (I Danced with Don Porfirio), Grovas, S. A. production).

Emilio Gomez Muriel, best editing job (in "Yo Baile con Don Porfirio").

Rafael R. Esparaza, best sound recording (in the picture last named).

Swamped by old and new producers' demands for space and laboratory facilities, the three local plants—Cinematografica Latino Americana, S. A. (CLASA), Estudios y Laboratorios Cinematográficos Azteca and México Films, last year were busy enlarging their facilities and acquiring new equipment as fast as would be acquired. CLASA put up two new stages and a new row of dressing rooms, as well as a new office building and a second and larger laboratory. Azteca is building two more stages to be completed early in February while last November it opened what is the largest, most complete stage in Latin America.

The native industry, growing in strength and ambition, in 1942 assured itself of the services of such internationally renowned stars as Dolores del Río, Ramón Novarro and Irene Baronova. It also brought down a Hollywood director, Dudley Murphy, who megaphoned "Yolanda" for Promesa Films. With Mario (Cantinflas) Moreno starring, Posa Films put opposite him in "El Circo" (The Circus) a Chilean star, Gloria Lynch.

As was said before, a total of 167 pictures, fillers excluded, were released by American distributors as follows:

Columbia .....	15
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer .....	39
Paramount .....	20
RKO-Radio .....	10
20th Century-Fox .....	27
United Artists .....	10
Universal .....	18
Warner Bros. ....	22

As the Mexican representative for Republic Pictures, Luis Lczama released five pictures, and Pan American Films, a small independent distributor, presented one from Monogram.

Other foreign-made pictures released in 1942 totalled 30. These were six French ones, of which one was distributed by United Artists, two by Films Mundiales and one by Grovas, S. A.; 13 of the Argentine make, which were handled by Argentina Sono Film (10), CIMEA (two), and Jorge M. Dada (one); six from British studios, of which United Artists presented two, Columbia two, and Warner Bros. and Iracheta y Elvira one each; Columbia also released three Spanish operas; Juan Orol distributed one made in Hollywood factories in Spanish.

Mexican producers were represented in 1942 with a total of 47 pictures released. Of these Grovas, S. A. presented 16 from its various associated producers; CIMEA released six, five from Filmadora Mexicana (FILMEX), and one from Producciones Soria; Raúl de Anda produced and distributed five pictures; Films Mundiales was represented with four in all; Rafael Arzos had three out; Posa Films released two productions through Film Trust de México; Ixtle Films brought out two pictures; while eight other producers presented one each.

About 36 native pictures, a few made late in 1942, and the balance left overs from past seasons, are yet to be released. Of these one was made as early in 1937; five others are from the 1939 product.

The boom in theater construction continued in 1942. Outstanding development in this branch of the industry was the opening of the Lindavista and Lido Theaters in Mexico City, late in December. These two de-luxers are to be first links in a theater chain of which Theodore Gildred is the general manager. Gildred acquired the swank Cine Magerit from R. González Lafarga as an added link for his chain, which he proposes to enlarge eventually. The Lindavista, Magerit and Lido have already contracted for all of the Warner Bros. and RKO-Radio product for the 1942-1943 season.

Several other new houses, equipped with all modern conveniences and equipment, were also opened in a number of principal cities in Mexico.

Financially stronger than it ever was before, and with production plans more ambitious than it ever made in the past, the Mexican picture industry is looking forward to 1943 as the year that will consolidate the native industry's position in the Spanish-language markets. Among the most ambitious pictures which Mexican producers are readying for immediate production are FILMEX's "La Viuda Alegre" (The Merry Widow), CIMESA's "El Hombre de la Máscara de Hierro" and Grovas, S. A.'s "Resurrección" (Resurrection).

The only thing that could upset the Mexican industry in its upward march would be a lack of vital material which it fears may be felt some day because of the war. But it looks as if the industry won't allow any such misgivings to cloud the growing faith in its future with which it is entering the New Year.

Argentina In 1942

By DR. WALTER P. SCHUCK

BUENOS AIRES

ARGENTINA, practically the only neutral country left on the American continent, has so far undoubtedly profited from this position. Money is amply available not only in the higher income brackets but also among the white collar—and the factory workers in the large cities. The situation of the peasants is less favorable; but, as the government has brought-up the crops for the fourth consecutive year, they manage to go along. Besides, film business and exploitation are concentrated to an extent of 80 per cent in Buenos Aires as far as American pictures are concerned. The other larger cities such as Rosario, Cordoba, Santa Fe, Mendoza, Bahia Blanca, and Tucuman absorbing additional 10 to 15 per cent. For local pictures, the percentage is somewhat different: the interior including the smaller towns absorbs about 60 per cent, Buenos Aires with its more exacting population a large part of it of foreign origin taking the remaining 40 per cent.

Thanks to this plethora of liquid funds and the tendency on the part of the public to make use of them now in order to avoid possible losses in a none-too-clear future, spending of money for amusement has not shrunk compared to previous years and, as far as film-business is concerned, has probably increased. That is particularly felt in the case of the B. A. de luxe theaters (first runs) the revenue from which still represents the main income source for American distributors. These theaters have raised their admission prices during 1942 by about 25 per cent, and—in spite of this—the number of patrons has increased rather than diminished. Thus, the representatives of American film companies have been able to obtain higher rentals than ever before.

The general outlook for American film distributors in the Argentine is rather favorable for 1943 . . . provided only that a steady flow of American pictures is maintained. The majority of prints is now arriving by plane owing to the uncertainty of maritime transport, and local distributors hope that the priority rating already recognized for news reels, will be applied as far as possible to feature productions . . . if only in view of the moral importance of maintaining local theaters supplied with U. S. productions. This importance of U. S. Pictures is best illustrated by the fact that out of a grand total of 435 foreign films released in 1942, 368 were of U. S. origin. Of the remaining, only 16 came from Axis countries.

The reduction—compared to former years—in the number of American films released is easily explainable by the difficulties of shipping; but the missing films have been mainly such of secondary commercial value. But that is only a theoretical loss. Practically, however, the decrease of U. S. pictures released is a consequence of the better exploitation of the top-productions. For instance, "Mrs. Miniver" (M-G-M) ran for eight weeks at the Gran Rex (S. A.'s largest film theater seating 3350). GWTW was brought back again and again in the course of the year and has only recently started its career in the neighborhood-houses. Other pictures which distinguished themselves during the past year were: "The Invaders" (Col.), "How Green Was My Valley" (20th-Fox), "To Be or Not to Be" (UA), The Hardy Family Pictures (M-G-M), "Goldrush" (UA).

Walt Disney's "Saludos" was one of the most successful pictures of the past season, it still being shown first run. Local film circles jokingly say that, on the basis of the running time, this film will yield about seven times as much as the 3½ hours GWTW.

An interesting sidelight on how Argentine audiences react to American patriotic pictures is supplied by the fact that "Sergeant York" (Warner) has obtained not more than a moderate success whereas "Wake Island" (Par.) should prove one of the money-getters of the season. "Sergeant York" deals with a personality who had been rather unknown to Argentine audiences whereas "Wake Island" is recognized as a document of the U. S.'s heroic defense of freedom for all nations and touched the moviegoers directly. These two films are just cases in point for a number of other films to come, indicating that, so far, local patrons have not become tired of war-pictures if these films deal with the war in earnest; attempts to glamorize the war are doomed to failure from the start, from the Argentine public's point of view. This is particularly interesting in view of Argentina's neutrality.

Foreign production apart from that of U. S. origin had no importance at all. The bigger British productions are released locally by U. S. distributors. French films have faded out owing to the standstill of French production; what was shown here last year, were a few second-rate remainders of pre-Vichy production. Spanish pictures appeal only to a limited audience; a recently signed Argentine-Spanish commercial treaty provides facilities for the interchange of Spanish and Argentine films; the practical results remain to be seen. Axis films are of even less importance than could be assumed from its release-number; their outlets can be counted on the fingers of one hand all the theaters showing axis films being blacklisted (with the exception, so far, of the B. A. "Astoria").

Censorship was restricted to the political angle of the pictures submitted for approval. "The Great Dictator" (UA), "A Voice in the Night" (Col.), "Confessions of a Nazi Spy" (WB), and "Pastor Hall" (UA) remain banned. "Underground" (WB) was admitted for re-consideration. "The Invaders" was admitted, banned, and re-admitted after considerable shearing, so considerable, in fact, that somebody suggested changing the Spanish title of "Five Hombres" to "Three Hombres." "To Be or Not to Be" was admitted without cuts; "Joan of Paris" had one of its subtitles blacked.

There is no established rule for censors, but each case is considered individually. There were no pictures banned last year on "moral" grounds; but in some cases, admission of people under 14 or 16 years of age was prohibited . . . this resulting, of course, in added and free publicity for a certain class of moviegoers.

Argentine film production increased further with a total of 56 pictures released in the course of the year. Undoubtedly, not only the quantity but also the quality of the Argentine films has made good progress. Still, the great majority of these films was produced without great artistic ambitions, with no claim on novelty in story-material. But there are at least two pictures which have shown an earnest design for artistic accomplishment: "Malambo," produced by EFA, which received the prize of the city of B. A. and "La Guerra Gaucha" (The Gaucha War), produced by the newly-founded "Artistas Argentinos Asociados" (patterned after the UA), which is already running for three months in local first run, and will be found on the top of every "best" list of 1942.

The outlook for Argentine production in 1943 is favorable. The main difficulty for maintaining a steady flow of production might arise from the shortage of raw-film. Negotiations with a view to obtain the necessary priority-rating have been successfully concluded, the agreement being based, of course, on fair play—meaning that Argentine producers will refrain from (1) producing films with pro-axis tendencies; (2) using their negative stocks for making prints of axis pictures; (3) offering a haven and working chances to artists with axis leanings. This last point is illustrated by the case of the Spanish director Benito Ferojo who, before being sent to Argentine by the Spanish authorities, had worked for the Nazis in Berlin studios. So far, no local studio has dared to offer him a job.

A sore spot in Argentine film production are still Argentine news-reels, although the two existing news-reels (Sucesos Argentinos and Noticiario Panamericano) are now also shown in the de luxe houses. Neighborhood theaters still adhere to the three feature shows which leave little money for newsreel rentals. Consequently, the producers of these newsreels have to add items of a pure commercial and political (for provincial and municipal governments) publicity, paid for by the advertisers and recognized by the public as such. A further draw-back of these reels is their technical inferiority. They are shot silent; sound is added afterwards only in the form of a musical background taken from records which curiously enough seldom vary, in addition to a rather monotonous verbal explanation. Sound effects, even dubbed-in ones, are completely absent.

Argentine film producers are rather pleased as state-intervention, which threatened a year ago, has not taken place and that they are still free to produce whatever they like. The only existing entity sponsored and backed financially by the government is the Argentine Film Institute (Instituto Cinematografico del Estado, Buenos Aires, Calle Junin 1276). It produced a small number of documentaries dealing with various aspects of national life, and picturing Argentine scenery at its best in Mendoza and in the lake district; these pictures were obviously produced with an eye on foreign consumption. Production costs of these pictures were fairly high; but the quality has rather justified the expenses.

Summing up the present situation, it can be said that there is no sign of any crisis in Argentine m.p. business; on the contrary—the enormous success of a few excellent pictures mentioned above has rather shown that there exists a large potential audience which, so far, has been brought only occasionally to the theaters. It should be one of the foremost endeavors of the local U. S. distributors (not only from a financial but particularly from a political point of view) to win these people permanently over. This could be easily achieved by proper methods of publicity. So far, U. S. distributors have published their advertising rather indiscriminately, without considering the publicity value of the editorial part of the film-section of the various newspapers. Not the quality of a film-section was decisive for the amount of advertising the newspaper received but the volume of ballyhoo printed . . . although of course, the paper's circulation was duly taken into account. Honest criticism has been considered by some U. S. distributors a nuisance rather than an asset; these men did not recognize that indiscriminate praise eventually defeats its own ends as the public very quickly learns whether it can trust a critic—or not. Instead of encouraging the critic to speak his mind in the case of second-rate pictures in order to bring the first-rate production to the front with the logical advantage for all concerned, punishment has been inflicted by withholding advertising upon those papers which tried to play-up Hollywood's top productions to the detriment of "also run" shows. It should be taken into consideration, though, that the distributor shares the advertising expenses with the release theater on a 50-50 basis.

With the exception of a pending municipal by-law restricting neighborhood theaters to a program of two feature and shorts, no decisive measures are expected for the near future. The U. S. home offices can expect continued prosperity in Argentina film business and good news from their local branches.

Cuba In 1942

By MARY LOUISE BLANCO

Production

ABSENCE of governmental protective laws has made prospective sources of finance shy off and, for the second year, only two features were made on the Island. About the only government help during 1942 was the contribution of several thousand dollars for the film "La que se Murio de Amor."

Bills to help the Cuban industry have been introduced in the Senate of Cuba on a number of occasions but no action has resulted. Latest hope of production enthusiasts is the measure, sponsored by several Senators, presented to the Senate on Dec. 5, 1942.

Provisions call for duty-free entry for all equipment and materials for the development of the national industry for five years upon the law's becoming effective; exemption from fiscal taxes; an increase in taxes on imported pictures; a $10,000 award by the Ministry of Education for the best Cuban films; the establishment of an Academy of Cuban Cinema Art, supported by the government; and the theaters' obligation to exhibit Cuban films if national production is sufficient to fill the need.

Proponents of the new measure point out the tremendous profits realized here on Mexican and Argentine product, the progress made by the Mexican film industry, and the decline in the Cuban industry.

Distribution

UNITED STATES films continue to top the field. There was an increase in the number of Mexican films shown and a decrease in Argentine pictures in 1942.

	1942	1941
United States .....	380	368
Mexico .....	47	34
Argentine .....	35	42
Argentina .....	35	42

Russia .....	7	3
Spain .....	6	4
France .....	5	3
England .....	6	10
TOTALS .....	521	506

United States "A" product exhibited in 1942 had amazing success; the grosses piled up during the last third of the year, and distributors' representatives inform that they increased net profits over 1941.

Exhibition

HIGHLIGHTS in the exhibition end of the Cuban industry:

All electric signs and theater marquees are dark in order to conserve electric power.

As a result of a Government decree every film worker called to the colors is assured of getting his job back after the war.

Minimum monthly salary of Cuban theater employees was set at $45 by a presidential decree. This also applies to distributor workers.

Gasoline shortages and partial blackouts in the suburbs hit most smaller towns. Lower scales resulted and, at the same time, prices of accessories, carbons and tickets were raised.

However, the last part of the year witnessed a decided recovery in box-office revenues and in a few small towns where construction work on U. S. air bases was in progress, exhibitors reported a 90 per cent jump.

Proposed increases in theater taxes were withdrawn when exhibitors threatened to close their houses in protest.

Cuban theaters, including those operating part time, total 396, all wired for sound. Weekly attendance is estimated at 409,000.

Building has practically stopped as the United States has notified Cuba that no building material, except for defense purposes or in the interest of public health, can be delivered. Only three houses were constructed during 1942 and very few were renovated.

Demands for theater equipment were so brisk during 1941-1942 that some dealers have moved to larger quarters.

Costa Rica In 1942

By JULIAN A. WESTON

SAN JOSE

AT THE END of 1942 there were 54 picture theaters operating in the entire country. Of these, 11 are located in San Jose, the capital, and the rest are scattered throughout the provinces. The San Jose theaters are classified as follows: two first-class, centrally located; four second-class, centrally located; and five third-class, corresponding to neighborhood theaters in U.S.A.

Total seating capacity of the capital is 17,000. The largest theater seats 2,300 and the smallest 600. Total attendance in the capital for the last four months of 1942 was slightly over 1,000,000. There are only two circuits operating in the country and they share the business about fifty-fifty.

Of the 43 theaters in the provinces, only four are listed as first-class, two as second-class, and the rest third-class. Total seating in the provinces is approximately 30,000. Largest provincial seating is 900 (in Puerto Limon) and the smallest is 300.

All films receive first showing in one or other of San Jose's two first-class theaters, and then filter down through the second and third-class theaters, and finally to the provinces. Programmes are changed at least four times per week, usually Sundays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and sometimes Fridays as well if there is an accumulation of features on hand.

In the capital, three shows are given daily in the principal theaters: at 3 P.M., 7 P.M., and 8.45 P.M. On Sundays, there are four showings, at 2 P.M., 4 P.M., 7 P.M., and 8.45

P.M. The continuous performance and the double feature have yet to be introduced into Costa Rica.

The 7 P.M. show on Sundays draws most people. The afternoon show at 3 P.M. is the most poorly attended, with special accent on Tuesdays. Admission prices in the capital range from the equivalent of three U. S. cents to 24 U. S. cents, which latter is usually charged as top price for first showings in the better theaters. For second showings, 15 cents U. S. is usually the highest price. In the provincial theaters, prices range from the equivalent of two U. S. cents to 18 U. S. cents, averaging about seven cents.

Practically all theaters have double projection, only about eight of the smaller provincial theaters being still singly equipped. Simplex and Holmes are the favorite projectors. One circuit reports having 15 Simplex, 10 Holmes and six DeVry in operation. Approximately 600 persons are employed in the business in Costa Rica. This embraces distribution, exhibition and advertising, etc.

Taxes are 10 per cent of gross admissions to the federal government and a municipal tax based on the category of the theater. In San Jose there is also a flat tax of 10 centimos (about 2 U. S. cents) destined for the construction of houses for poor people. In the last four months of 1942, this tax produced about $20,000.

Films of all major producers are shown in Costa Rica, including occasional Russian films. There is no doubt that in recent years Spanish films made in Latin-America have made big inroads into the former monopoly enjoyed by Hollywood films. For example, one circuit showed 20 Spanish features in 1938 with a jump to 35 in 1941, with correspondingly less U. S. features shown. The war has not noticeably affected theater attendance.

The public taste in order of preference is accurately tabulated as follows: First place, Mexican films; second, American; third, Argentine; fourth, British; fifth, French.

Story popularity is as follows: First place, drama and tragedy; second, comedy; third, song and dance; fourth, detective and mystery; fifth, biography and history; sixth, anti-Nazi and war; seventh, serials; eighth, westerns.

Technicolor is not a special draw unless the story is good. Serials, as in most Latin-American countries, are never shown as such, but are rushed through in two or three showings on constructive days, and then only in second or third rate theaters. As a result, patrons of the better theaters never see serials with the regular programmes.

Programmes usually consist of the feature, one newsreel and a short (cartoon, musical or educational). Each circuit shows two newsreels per week, one each Movietone News, Paramount, M-G-M and Pathe. British newsreels are shown as opportune and are furnished free by the British Legation.

Favorite film stars are:

Men: Tyrone Power, Gary Cooper, Robert Taylor and Nelson Eddy; Arturo de Cordoba, Chafan, Tito Guizar, Cantinflas and Emilio Tuero (the last five Mexicans); Luis Sandrini and Hugo del Carril (Argentines).

Women: Deanna Durbin, Jeanette MacDonald, Dorothy Lamour and Betty Grable; Libertad Lamarque and Delia Garces (Argentines); Marina Tamayo and Mapy Cortes (Mexicans).

1940: "The Son of Tarzan" and "De Mexico Ilego el Amor" (Argentine).

1941: "Balalaika" and "Al Son de la Marimba" (Mexican).

1942: "Av Jalisco, No te Rajes" and "El Conde de Montecristo" (both Mexican).

When scanning the foregoing facts and figures, the reader should bear in mind that the total population of Costa Rica is not much more than 500,000.

Prepare for Peace

By JOHN EBERSON

Film Theater Architects

DURING 1942,—the first full year of the participation of the United States as an active combatant nation in the current World War,—many changes moved across the composite face of the motion picture industry, both through officially imposed directives and requests for voluntary cooperation. While the overwhelming majority of these decrees and suggested forms of aid had to do directly with the conflict's successful prosecution, there was still substantial indication betimes that the Government itself was consistently looking beyond the present strife to future days of peace, and the many adjustments which will have to be made, and the problems which will, inevitably, have to be solved.

In so casting an eye to the future, without impairing attention to the immediate subject of the war's winning, our officialdom is wisely paraphrased a poignant precept of America's first President: In time of Peace, prepare for War, but setting the example, In time of War, prepare for Peace.

Because the motion picture industry is in the very front ranks in answering the Government's call to conserve, aid and promote, by every action and every sort of constructive influence, there is a great and inescapable degree of sacrifice which is exacted from, and patriotically welcomed by, the trade generally,—and, in the instance of theaters, a constant drain upon physical equipment. The element of Time always takes its toll of material things, and it is akin to a law that the greater and more sustained is the usage, the more rapid is the deterioration.

But, notwithstanding this virtual axiom, and its enforced application currently, which precludes anything approaching the pre-war status of materials and equipment purchasing, there is much that can be accomplished now both in the way of maintenance and intelligent planning for the future.

In each of these matters,—maintenance and planning,—the nation's film theater architects can be of incalculable assistance and value to theater operators. These architects, since the industry's inception, have been most active in service to the exhibition field. With entry of the United States into this war the curtailment, to almost a bed-rock level, of theater construction was foreshadowed, and during 1942, as a result of WPPB directives, became a fact. Thus the normal work of these architect-engineers was halted in its tracks. But appreciation of the purposes behind the action, namely the successful prosecution of the war, quickly softened the blow.

The wide experience of this group of men should be used by the exhibition field now, even though we are in a period where new theater construction and major remodeling is justifiably prohibited. The why of it is that millions of dollars,—yes, I can say conservatively, billions of dollars,—are invested in theater building and equipment. Do not let it be said of the theater owner that he will willfully or thoughtlessly neglect these masses of brick, stone, metal, and decorative value. The doctor, if you will, who brought these structures into being, should not be disregarded from duty at a time when these theaters,—his patients,—are facing deterioration.

Retaining the skilled architect-engineers by circuits and individual exhibitors will mean that the ravages of time and intensified usages of these buildings and their equipment will be definitely postponed.

The foresighted theater owner will employ NOW architects and engineers to inspect and safeguard the theater buildings which are playing such an important role in the sustaining of morale both among our Armed forces and the great mass of civilian population on the home front.

While we are, of course, operating under the wisely arranged and dictated limitations as far as the use of labor and material is concerned, it would be considered prudent to employ the advice and suggestions of the

IT'S WAR NOW!

AND all the effort of the Formica organization is going into the production of Formica parts for airplanes, jeeps, tanks and other war machines. For the moment we are unable to serve our good friends, the theater operators, or the able architects who design their buildings.

But our research department is working on new colors, new products, new methods of using Formica in the theaters of the future and when the war is over you will be able to get, immediately, Formica for theater construction that will be more attractive and serviceable than any you have seen before.

experienced architect. By so doing, the owner can prevent accidents, ruin, abuse and neglect of theater buildings and equipment. There are thousands of theaters in America which are old buildings, and too much time has elapsed since the war's beginning for deterioration not to have set in further, and for structurally dangerous conditions not to have, in many instances, developed. Such conditions can be altered or arrested only under the guidance of the skilled architect.

Personal experience has proved to me that in many cases foundations, walls, trusses, balcony structures and mechanical equipment are worn out, often reaching the danger point and failure. Only the capable and discerning theater architect is qualified to inspect these several elements,—and this should be done. Take his advice in relation to remedying structural components, and his suggestions. And in view of recent disasters, be sure to have his report and recommendations cover existing or recently-discovered fire risks. Observations by our firm indicate that the Government will, in such instances, grant necessary priorities.

My records indicate that just prior to the declaration of war upon the Axis Powers, there were more than 600 theaters east of the Rockies contemplating necessary reinforcing and remodeling operations, and it must be assumed that by this time the number of such theater structures is appreciably greater. Information also at hand points to the fact that in the same territory about 150 new theater structures were contemplated.

At present, it is difficult to state what the demand for expansion will be after the war, inasmuch as a decided shift in population is taking place, and chain as well as individual operators will have to carefully weigh such situations. Experts, however, assert that the planning of new theaters in the post-war period will be greatly increased. The stepped-up business in virtually all of the principal theater territories is very substantial, and there is an accumulation of capital in the expansion budgets which make added facilities in many localities an assured fact.

Following Government, State and Municipal example, the theater owner should do his post-war planning now. Millions have already been appropriated for plans covering post-war construction work. It takes time to prepare plans and fit these plans into labor and material conditions such as now exist and will exist after the war. You may rest assured that your theater architect, alert and conscientious, has had plenty of time to reflect upon and study architect-engineering problems brought on by the war, and the intensified activities of builders during the conflict.

What will the post-war theater be like? It will be a brilliant composite in its conception and execution, of all those advances which have already been achieved, and will continue to be forthcoming, by the research channels of the nation. It will outmode most theaters now in existence, and will undoubtedly surpass all by a wide margin of modernity. Anent the planning of these stands, the theater architect has made himself familiar with new practices, new materials, and new models brought out by the building world under the stress of Government war construction.

The post-war period will hurtle upon the market an enormous amount of building equipment as well as building materials used by the construction industry for the duration, and made worthless for Government ownership after Peace comes. These materials,—particularly in the mechanical line,—will be intelligently embodied in new theater construction, rendering the Government, and the taxpayer behind the Government, an outlet for this surplus material, and, at the same time, offering an opportunity to the theaterman to obtain excellent standard materials, slightly used, for the economical construction of his new theater building.

Now is the time to plan the new peacetime stands. The more time the theaterman gives his architect to prepare the plans, the more inexpensively the construction can be carried out, and the owner, on Peace Day, will be ready to commence his expansion program.

The architect, under present conditions, is in a subservient position, but, though taken out of his accustomed work, has had plenty of opportunity to acquaint himself with the requirements and opportunities for post-war theater planning. I know of a good many men of this type who have spent their time in intensive study of Government war-building as well as planning, and have learned invaluable lessons in construction, plus application of materials and machinery now standardized by the Government. To the observing architect the results of Federal Government research provide a great fund of knowledge.

My remarks in this article should in no wise be confused with hollow, wishful thinking and long-range, guesswork planning, but are recorded as practical aid to filmland's exhibition field. I recommend this practical solution as preparedness for, and mastery of, "things to come." The theater architect-engineer in the key man. Use him.

And with respect to "things that are here,"—our existing theaters,—I recommend his abilities for the essential, careful nursing of each house and all that it contains.

Equipment Industry on the Firing Line

By GEORGE H. MORRIS

Equipment Editor, THE FILM DAILY

SCOPE and intensity of manufacturing facilities' conversion in 1942 to war needs by the makers of motion picture equipment proved a memorable contribution, not only to the Government, our Armed Forces and our Allies, but also to the patriotic stature and prestige of the film industry.

When Victory has been attained, and the history of the conflict has been penned, one of the brightest chapters will be that of the home-front effort as put forth on the part of factory personnel which, in peacetime, served to provide the materials and sinews for theater and studio operation.

It is on the battle line that men—fathers, sons, brothers, boys you know, have pledged their lives to their country, to you and me. And their success in this heroic undertaking depends entirely upon what we—you and I here at home—do.

DONALD M. NELSON, Chairman, War Production Board.

With a representative block of film equipment manufacturing plants as an index, estimates evolved at the termination of 1942 placed factory facilities devoted to war contracts at fractionally above 90 per cent. This overall figure,—a decidedly impressive one,—issued from the fact that in a large number of instances plants were on a 100 per cent war production basis, and most of those which were not entirely converted had anywhere from 75 per cent to well over 90 per cent of their machinery and manpower turning out the sinews of war.

The year 1942 brought a great transition from peacetime operations to intensive war production in the Western Electric Co. Heavy Government demands for communications equipment increased total production manifold over 1941, making it necessary not only to curtail the company's normal functions, including the manufacture of motion picture sound apparatus, but also greatly to expand plant and personnel to fill the war orders.

Though assembly lines which once produced sound equipment for thousands of theaters and studios are now turning out instruments of war, every effort is being made to assure adequate maintenance of Western Electric equipment now in use. The ERPI Division of Western Electric and the Western Electric Export Corp. are also supplying motion picture sound equipment to various branches of the Armed Forces for the making of training films both in the United States and other Allied Nations.

At the year's end, Western Electric announced its intention to terminate two years hence its license contracts with motion picture producers in this country operating under Bell System sound recording patents. A new form of contract was fashioned for licensees. It runs to the end of 1954 and provides for substantially lower recording fees.

Long before Poland fell, Bausch & Lomb had begun a large expansion of buildings and equipment costing millions of dollars. This was before any subsidies were granted or any tax amortization plans devised. The company's primary product, optical glass, was rated a critical and strategical material. New furnaces were added until production rose more than 500 per cent and this product was removed from the critical list. In 1941 B&L is estimated to have produced more than 90 per cent of the optical glass made in the United States and continues to be the major producer. The variety of types required and the standards of quality are far beyond the requirements of World War I.

A recent compilation by Time Magazine from Government sources rated the company first in Rochester in dollar volume of war orders. Aside from scores of military instruments, some of which are made only in the Bausch & Lomb plant, the company has continued to deliver on Government priorities such essential instruments as spectrographs, metallurgical equipment, and contour measuring projectors without which many war industries would be severely handicapped.

Bausch & Lomb has made every effort, with the materials available, to continue its services in the realms of public health and science, but this is of necessity secondary to supplying the needs of the armed forces. In addition to its own work, the company has assisted industries in Canada and the United States with technical advice in the production of optical equipment.

Despite the necessity to train large numbers of optical workers, the company's efficiency in production has been recognized by both the Army and Navy; it flies the joint "E" flag of both services with two added stars.

Some ideas of its production problems may be gleaned from the fact that in photographic lenses alone more than fifteen times as many are being produced today as when the first trickle of Allied orders arrived in 1939. In addition to lenses, the production of filters has jumped enormously—the production in one month being more than twenty times the previous requirements for a whole year.

Projection Optics began to participate in war production on a small scale as early as July 1941. As highly specialized manufacturers of motion picture lenses company was equipped for a certain type of lenses only and a large part of war contracts was inaccessible because of their magnitude. It was therefore firm's problem to fit its facilities into the over-all picture and find the type of contracts which it could fill successfully. This task was achieved by the end of 1941 and Projection Optics went into the year 1942 with a different outlook. Meanwhile restrictions placed upon the manufacturers of motion picture equipment forced firm to discontinue the sale of its merchandise to the civilian trade. By now facilities engaged in war production are as high as 95 per cent.

Prior to the outbreak of the war, International Mutoscope Corp. was engaged in the manufacture of equipment designed primarily to provide amusement for Penny Arcade patrons.

Its world famous Photomatic machine which delivers a framed photograph within 45 seconds after the insertion of a coin, has been converted for identification purposes and is now widely used by some of the larger war plants for employee's badges.

At present, firm is actively engaged in manufacturing equipment which will materially aid the war effort.

Close study of available blueprints indicated that company's facilities, which had provided equipment to amuse the masses, could be adapted to the manufacture of airplane parts, instruments for testing optical glass and lenses, air borne radio equipment, tank guns, and similar devices.

Obviously, no definite information can be given out at this time but eventually the part International Projector Corp. has played in meeting the Government's needs will make an interesting story and will furnish further evidence of the highly important contribution which the motion picture industry has made to the war effort.

Simplex equipment is made with scientific accuracy and even prior to the declaration of war the Government began making demands upon the company's greatly enlarged and exceptional facilities for the manufacture of precision equipment. Firm continued to manufacture equipment for the motion picture industry as long as it did not conflict with the Government's requirements but now its entire plant is engaged nearly 100 per cent in war work. Although IPC is still producing motion picture projection equipment for the Army and Navy, Government restrictions at the present time prevent manufacturing equipment for civilian use.

Simplex parts for essential replacement of equipment used in theaters are still being supplied by firm's distributors as far as Government regulations permit. IPC is actively cooperating with all organizations in this field endeavoring to assist theaters in their efforts which will conserve materials, permit the longest possible use of equipment, and prevent the closing of theaters due to the inability to secure parts for repair and replacement.

To better facilitate the handling of extensive war orders, Motiograph, Inc., Chicago, pioneer manufacturers of projectors and sound systems, has not only gone on a 24-hour work basis but also acquired an additional plant.

After completion of Navy contracts for sound and projection equipment, Motiograph will manufacture aircraft and ordnance components only, and to such production the company will devote nearly 100 per cent of the facilities of both plants.

No new booth equipment, except replacement parts, will be made available for the duration, it was announced after the turn of the year by Fred C. Matthews.

* * *

During 1942, the Century Projector Corp., in conjunction with the engineering departments of the Eastman Kodak Co., the Vitaram Corp. and the Polaroid Corp., developed and placed in manufacture motion picture projectors for gunnery training equipments.

As the performance characteristics of these trainers are a closely guarded military secret, little can be said about the details of design.

This application of motion pictures, however, for purposes other than for entertainment or visual instruction marks a milestone in technical development and one which the industry will be justly proud.

Firm's tool making department has closely cooperated with other manufacturers and the British Purchasing Commission in the production of special tools and devices.

About 80 per cent of the factory facilities have been utilized for the production of direct war material.

The freezing of new projector manufacturing created an increased demand for replacement parts and through the foresight of a planned program these parts have been available with little or no delay.

* * *

The LaVezi Machine Works, Chicago, manufacturers of highly precision motion picture machine projector parts, is now busily engaged in War Work and necessarily production of projector parts is curtailed. Entire plant is at the service of Uncle Sam until victory.

At the same time company is producing units and parts for projectors used in Government-sponsored programs and for the general entertainment of civilians and for the education and entertainment of the armed forces.

As producers of photoelectric tubes and rectifier tubes, which find widespread use in motion picture equipment, Continental Electric Co., Geneva, Ill., has had an opportunity of playing an important part in the development of sound equipment in the service to Victory. Not only has this been in the entertainment field, but sound projection equipment has found some extremely valuable applications in training and defense work, which for the moment must remain secret.

* * *

The production facilities of Agfa Ansco have slowly turned from civilian to Government purposes during the year of 1942.

The program of supplying the Armed Forces with photographic film, paper and chemicals has become an ever increasing function of this organization. Earlier in the year, the Camera Works was changed over to full war production purposes. A color film which had been available since 1938 in limited quantities was placed entirely at the disposal of the Government and such agencies as it designated. The production of certain optical instruments never before manufactured by Agfa Ansco became an active operation of the company.

These factors have kept the production facilities at Binghamton in full swing, even though civilian demands by necessity have been rigidly curtailed.

The air handling equipment designed and manufactured by the United States Air Conditioning Corp. of Minneapolis is performing important war assignments for the Using Services of the United States.

Most of the memorable page one news events of 1942 focussed attention on the feats of men rather than the machines that made their jobs easier and safer.

No mention was in the headlines of smooth-functioning usAIRco Blowers on duty in sea battles and convoy work. But the performance of this equipment was of prime interest to sailors in gun turrets and below decks. Their very lives depended upon fresh clean air supplied to them by usAIRco Blowers.

To Munition workers in shell loading rooms, usAIRco Blowers and Washers provided an extra margin of safety—dispelling dust, the constant threat facing men who work with explosives.

In every phase of America's gigantic War effort—on every front—usAIRco air handling equipment has done its part. usAIRco Blowers, Fans, Heating and Cooling Coils, Air Conditioning units. Marine Corps, Hospitals, Mess Halls, Kitchens, Post Theaters, Barracks and Industrial plants from coast to coast.

Apart from supplying air conditioning equipment, usAIRco produced special instruments for the Navy and needed items for the Army ordnance department.

Thus, with the job well started in 1942, usAIRco will continue to produce the air handling units needed by the men of a Country at War as long as the need exists.

Kroeschell Engineering Co., Chicago, pioneer in theater air conditioning industry, are now devoting their entire time and energies to war work. Their principal work is the design and installation of specialized industrial air conditioning systems and process piping used in connection with the manufacture of bomb sights, gyroscopes, lens grinding, lens collimating, electric welding machinery, shipbuilding, gear cutting, etc.

* * *

Coxsackie Mfg. Co., Coxsackie, N. Y., subsidiary of S.O.S. Cinema Supply Corp., went on a 100 per cent war-work footing on Jan. 5, 1943. During 1942, firm completed a sub-contract through the British Purchasing Commission for submarine parts; sub-contracts for tank parts; dies for stamping out shell casings; gear blanks for gun mounts; relays for signalling devices; special wrenches for aircraft engines. Another job slated for company's shops is a large quantity of firing pins for hand grenades.

* * *

Falk Glass Products Co., while still manufacturing glass letters for theater marquees, has turned considerable attention to fabricating glass ball floats for toilet tanks, a mechanical factor in maintenance of public health on the home front. Other items, also tied in with the general war effort, are on the factory's list of 1942 accomplishments.

Brandt Automatic Cashier Co., Watertown, Wis., have been engaged for some time in manufacture of war products. Although the making of the firm's change machines for theaters was discontinued in September of 1942, in accordance with Government regulations, the company announced that, as of Jan. 1, 1943, it had on hand a substantial number of these machines which are open to purchase without priority rating.

Kliegl Bros., lighting equipment specialists, were early this year utilizing facilities to the extent of over 90 per cent to war work. Besides furnishing stage lighting equipment items to the various Army and Navy centers, the organization is producing a variety of special items. Most of the material is entirely foreign to normal production, and covers the complete field, from equipment as used in the manufacture of war materials, through training equipment for the Armed Forces, and, finally, to items used in combat. For the civilian market the firm continues to serve on such items as blackout emergency lights, repair and maintenance equipment.

Fisher Manufacturing Co., Rochester, developed a Lens Pencil for cleaning and polishing lenses, and also performing the same task for the photographic eyes of the Army and Navy. A very small item in size, but very large in performance. Company hopes to have these pencils eventually used throughout the film industry,—wherever lenses are to be cleaned.

* * *

Wood Conversion Co., St. Paul, Minn., put its Nu-Wood Structural Insulation and Balsam-Wool Blanket Insulation into war use on a large scale in 1942, and is constantly expanding application of these materials. Almost 100 per cent of the Nu-Wood manufactured in 1942 went into construction of cantonments, hutments, roof insulation for small arms munition plants, and all types of manufacturing plants building equipment for our fighting men. Balsam-Wool is being used in prefabricated huts for soldiers, and these huts are shipped to outposts from Iceland to North Africa. It is used in new types of Army houses which replace the familiar tents. As fibre it is used to insulate refrigerators shipped all over the world to keep food fresh for the men in service; as insulation for mattresses used by our Ski Troopers; as packing pads for shells; and as packing for shells, in addition to many other war uses.

* * *

Principal chair manufacturers,—such as American Seating Co., Kroehler, Heywood-Wakefield, General, and Ideal, etc.—made notable contributions to the war effort in 1942, estimates placing their average conversion to this end of more than 90 per cent.

* * *

Throughout 1942, and even more intensively this year, Alexander Smith, like many other leading manufacturers, is an attack plant turning out materials the pre-Pearl Harbor carpet industry would have thought outside the realm of possibility. As in 1917, the firm has "enlisted" for the duration and pledged its utmost efforts and resources to help bring the American peace.

War production, under the slogan, "Nearly Right Won't Do!," goes on 24 hours a day at the hands of 6,500 officers, supervisors and hourly employees. Large orders for Army blankets, for which special blanket-weaving equipment was purchased, and untold thousands of yards of cotton duck, in all widths, for which velvet and axminster weaving equipment has been converted, make up the bulk of this essential work.

The machine and carpenter shops are heavily engaged in contractual work for our Armed Forces, the items running all the way from certain machine gun parts to heavy parts for use on U. S. fighting ships.

Superlative as was the company's record of production in World War I, the magnificent all-out effort in the current struggle has already greatly surpassed it, and places a particularly bright feather in the firm's cap as well as that of the film theater equipment field.

Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co., Inc., one of the oldest and, in peace time, one of the largest producers of carpets, rugs, and other floorcoverings for civilian use, was in 1942 and is today one of the largest producers of Army blankets, heavy Army cotton duck and military products fabricated from duck, and in addition is a large producer of a wide variety of metal military materials.

As part of its contribution to the military demands of the Government, for our own forces and for lend-lease, Bigelow-Sanford had as of Jan. 21, 1943, produced and delivered more than 1,000,000 wool Army blankets and over 5,000,000 square yards of heavy Army cotton duck. Turned out on the same looms which in pre-war time produced floorcoverings, this military material has been fed along to the Government in steadily increasing volume, keeping pace with the mounting needs of the expanding Armed Forces.

In addition to its production of blankets and cotton duck, and a variety of products processed from duck such as crash pads for tanks and gun covers, both of which the company has been and still is making by the thousands, Bigelow-Sanford is turning out a substantial volume of metal products for military use.

The company's two machine shops, normally employed in the production of parts for, and in the maintenance of, its vast textile equipment, have been converted into war work and expanded to double their original size and capacity.

* * *

The conversion of Mohawk's two plants came at a time when Mohawk had attained new heights in the floor covering industry.

However, Mohawk began to think about putting itself on a war footing the day war was declared. And, ever since then they have been devising ways and means to turn mill after mill over to war production.

With the curtailment of wool and jute supplies, much of the equipment would have been idle had it not been possible to convert many of the looms to the manufacture of duck. Mohawk now had three different types of looms working on duck for the Army, the Navy and the War Production Board. These are the Wilton, Velvet and Chenille looms. Another type of loom,—the Axminster,—is also converted to the manufacture of blankets.

Government contracts have made it possible to keep the skilled weavers during a time when they otherwise would be laid off because of lack of work.

But even before Mohawk began converting looms and utilizing its spinning facilities, they were identified with war work. The huge machine shop, maintained for building and maintaining equipment, has long been working on sub-contracts let by contractors for guns and other war equipment.

War work at the Karagheusian carpet mills has been of several kinds. The main activity has been production of duck cloth for use in tents, tarpaulins, gun covers, bomber linings, etc. This is done on Jacquard and velvet looms taken away from carpet production and adapted to duck weaving. In addition, the company purchased and installed as a separate unit 77 automatic duck looms which weave the lighter qualities of duck cloth.

Output is now at its peak and orders on hand will flow over into next year. The Spinning Department has been weaving yarns for use in military equipment. A special fabricating unit makes up gun covers and other similar items. The machine shop has been working almost continuously on parts for Army and Navy and essential Government needs. Women are being used increasingly to take the place of men who joined the Army or are doing defense work.

All this has meant a severe limitation of carpet production which now consists of six qualities in place of 23 standard lines previously offered for sale. At present, no merchandise is being manufactured for movie theater needs but theater supply houses still have a little Karagheusian stocks for such needs.

HOW TO CONSERVE YOUR THEATER EQUIPMENT

Some helpful hints on what to do under present emergency conditions to maintain equipment efficiency

Presented as a Public Service to Theater Owners and Projectionists by National Theater Supply Co.

● ● ● The recommendations on equipment conservation have been made available through the co-operation of the manufacturers of Simplex Projectors and Simplex Four-Star Sound, Hertner Transverters, GE Cooper-Oxide and Simplex High Rectifiers, Peerless Magnarc and Simplex High Projection Lamps, Walker Screens, Bausch & Lomb Lenses and Reflectors, National Comfort Cooling, American Chairs, National Crestwood Carpet, National Super Service and EG Vacuum Cleaners, General Ticket Registers, Royalchrome Metal Furniture and National Rubber Mats.

PROJECTORS

Cleanliness

Keep all projection room equipment clean. Dirt and dust on equipment combine with excess oil, grease and air moisture to increase wear and maintenance. Clean equipment lasts longer and needs fewer replacements. Moreover, electrical and mechanical failures are reduced in clean projection rooms.

Lubrication

Use the specified grade and quantities of oil or grease according to the manufacturer's instructions. Oil or grease that is too heavy or too light will not lubricate properly. Equipment that is properly lubricated lasts longer.

Never lubricate equipment while in operation. Not only is there danger of getting the oil can caught in the gears, but excess oil will be spattered around. The oil level in the intermittent should be maintained at the "oil level" mark. Do not fill above this mark as the excess oil will be thrown out.

All gears in the projector and sound mechanisms, not otherwise lubricated, should have a few drops of oil applied occasionally. Rotate the projector by hand to distribute the oil. Pad rollers should be lubricated so that they are free to rotate to avoid flat spots.

Equipment Operation

Never turn the projector by the shutter shaft knob. This will damage the gears. Always turn the projector by the motor knob or flywheel.

Be sure all switches are off when the show is over. Leave all pad rollers, lateral guide roller and film gate open when the projector or sound mechanism is not in use or threaded, to avoid flat spots in the lateral guide roller, weakening of the film gate tension and possible damage if the projector is accidentally started.

Equipment Adjustments

Watch all equipment carefully and maintain the proper adjustments. If in doubt as to the proper adjustment procedure, consult the dealer from whom the equipment was purchased. Improper adjustments will shorten equipment life and increase replacements.

Film

Inspect and clean all film before running. Re-splice any weak splices and treat film tears properly. Weak splices and torn film may result in damaged film, if run through the projector. Oil on film picks up dust and dirt and contributes to scratching.

Watch film loops in both projector and sound mechanisms. Large loops cause film slap and film damage. Small loops cause unnatural bends in the film and excessive tension, resulting in torn sprocket holes and breakage.

Film Gate, Film Path

Adjust pressure pads for the minimum pressure that will give a steady, sharp picture. Make adjustments carefully to prevent damage to parts.

Keep the gate, all sprockets, guide rollers and pad rollers clean and free of film emulsion. Dirt and emulsion on these parts increase film wear and possibility of film damage.

Fire Shutters

Inspect mechanism fire shutters for proper operation. Make adjustments carefully, and if in doubt, consult the dealer from whom the equipment was purchased. Properly operating fire shutters prevent fires and damage to equipment.

Take-Up

Keep clean and adjust for smooth take-up throughout the entire reel. Improper adjustment will result in film pile-up in the lower magazine or breakage.

Sprockets, Pad Rollers

Watch all sprockets carefully. Hooked sprockets tear film. Replace or reverse (if possible) all sprockets that are worn to the point where the film hangs on to the teeth.

Adjust all pad rollers carefully to rotate freely without excess end play. Adjust the clearance for two thicknesses of film.

SOUND SYSTEMS

Amplifiers, Vacuum Tubes

Some amplifiers require pre-heating of tubes. Leave switch in "Fil" position at least as long as specified by the equipment manufacturers. Never turn immediately to "plate"; otherwise immediate failure or shortened tube life will result.

Operate all vacuum tubes in accordance with the equipment manufacturer's instructions. High or low voltage and high plate voltage and current decrease tube life.

Tubes that are microphonic or noisy in volume control amplifiers should be saved to try in power amplifiers. Save inoperative vacuum tubes for salvage purposes.

Power Distribution Panels

Inspect fuses, switches, busbars and wire connections. Tighten any loose connections and fuse clips. On knife switches keep contacts burnished; don't let pitting start. Loose connections and pitting cause heating and shorten the life of the equipment.

PROJECTION ARCS

Make sure that the lamphouse is kept thoroughly clean both inside and outside. The carbon ash, drippings, etc., should be removed regularly once a day, if required, especially from the shafts, bushings and gears of the arc control operating parts.

At least once a week, tighten up all electrical connections to the arc controls. Every day before the show, clean the mirror with soft tissue or a clean cloth. Do not turn the mirror around in its holder as in a very short time the entire surface will be pitted. Check the mirror-retaining clips for the proper holding tension for when they are too tight, it might cause cracking due to expansion.

If condensers are used, they should be cleaned before each show, and the retaining rings checked for proper holding tension.

All moving parts inside the lamphouse should be oiled slightly with light projection oil, but never over-oiled. The carbon jaw holders should be taken out at least once a week and thoroughly cleaned. For emergency use, an extra negative and positive jaw assembly should be on hand.

The arc control motor bearings should be oiled once a week with only a few drops of light oil, as over-oiling causes most failures. The arc control commutator should be cleaned at least once a month with a clean rag with a little vaseline applied to it. If the spaces between the commutator bars are "caked" with grit, use a tooth pick to remove the grit and then wipe the entire commutator perfectly dry.

The brushes in the arc control motor should be checked at least once a month and if they are wearing unevenly, or have rough and hard spots, new brushes should be installed. Where the arc control gearing mechanism has packing boxes for grease, clean out the old grease at least once a month, and flush with kerosene, then repack with new grease.

The arc exhaust dampers and ducts from the lamphouses should be cleaned thoroughly of carbon ash, dust, etc., at least once every three months because any blockage, no matter how small, will affect the proper burning of the carbons, cause pitting of the mirrors and produce a gradual accumulation of ash within the lamphouse.

RECTIFIERS

Copper Oxide Type

Make sure that the rectifier is not operated above the recommended rating.

Once a year, or oftener if necessary, raise the top section of the rectifier assembly and blow out accumulated dirt and lint in the rectifier stacks. This will insure proper ventilation and cooling.

The ventilating fan in copper oxide rectifiers requires periodic inspection and lubrication from one to two times a year.

See that the rectifier is located in a well-ventilated, cool spot. The flow of air through this equipment should not be restricted by being placed too close to other equipment or by placing material on top of the rectifier.

Make sure that the carbons and other lamp projection equipment are in proper operating adjustment so that excessive voltage or current is not required.

Bulb Type

Check bulb sockets to make sure they are clean and not corroded or pitted. Sandpaper can be used to remove corrosion in order to make a good contact.

Tighten bulbs in sockets securely. Check every few weeks as bulbs may become loose. Clean anode clip (connection at top of bulb) and connection to make certain of good contact. Replace clip connector, if corroded or if clip has lost its tension.

Check power input to the rectifier to insure that the AC supply voltage corresponds to the transformer rating.

Check filament voltage to make certain proper voltage is applied to the bulb. Voltages should be maintained as closely as possible to the recommended values. Variations of over 10 per cent should be corrected.

In some cases, a slight increase in bulb life may be obtained, if filament power is turned on before load is applied. In other words, if 30 to 60 seconds leeway can be allowed, the filament will come up to operating temperature before it is called upon to furnish an output. This can be accomplished either by a switch or a time delay relay in the anode or plate circuit.

When replacing rectifier bulbs, always use the same type and capacity as recommended by the manufacturer.

MOTOR GENERATORS

To get the most out of this equipment, remember that cleanliness is next to godliness. Keep commutators clean and remove all dirt before sparking becomes disastrous. Increased brush life as well as increased commutator life will be the direct result.

Check alignment of motor and generator shafts and keep couplings tight. Misalignment of shafts and loose couplings causes vibration, increased wear and parts replacements.

Dirty and arcing commutators cause heating and pitting, shortening their life and increasing maintenance costs. The contacting surface of each commutator brush should be periodically examined so that commutator and bearing wear is held to a minimum.

If the generator is on a concrete floor, particular care should be taken in sweeping so that abrasive dust from the concrete will not get into the bearings.

Oil bearing housings should be flushed out every six months and refilled with fresh oil of the proper grade.

If a ball bearing motor generator has been out of service for a time, the bearing covers should be removed, the old grease cleaned out and replaced with new grease.

All outside connections on ballast rheostats should be checked. Remove the cover from the rheostats periodically, and check the bolted connections to the resistor material.

LENSES & REFLECTORS

There is practically no deterioration in projection lenses, if they are handled carefully whenever it becomes necessary to remove the lenses from the projectors.

Use only a good quality lens tissue to clean lens surface in order to avoid scratching.

SCREENS

Dirt on the screen shortens its life, reduces the brilliancy and definition of the picture and contributes to poor sound quality.

Once a month remove free dust from the sound holes by vibrating the screen. Simply tap the lower border enough to set up a slight vibration. This will loosen dust clogged in the holes and help maintain better sound.

Every 30 days, brush off any free dust collected on the face of the screen, using a soft, long-haired, special screen brush. Be careful not to rub the screen with the brush as any pressure applied will produce a mark.

A vacuum cleaner may be used on the back of a screen, but if used to clean the front, the nozzle must never touch the screen material. Hold the nozzle about two inches in front of the screen, because any metal, especially aluminum, if rubbed even gently on the screen, will leave a dark mark which cannot be removed.

Do not rub the screen either with a dry or damp cloth, soap and water, cleaning solutions, or spot removers. Any rubbing is likely to leave a mark.

Provide free air movement through the screen. If horn baffles or other objects in the rear are too close to the screen, the passage of air will be blocked and uneven deterioration of the screen will result. Dead air behind the screen may cause mildew or sweating of the screen in hot, damp weather. Normal ventilation should always be provided behind the screen.

Make sure that draw curtains and stage draperies do not drag across the face of the screen.

THEATER CHAIRS

Inspect your chairs regularly. Make a check list of the points covered here and go over the house chair by chair. Use your check list as a means of checking the progress of your maintenance program.

Floor Attachment

If floor standards become loose, a wracking strain is thrown on other parts of the chair and will contribute to loosening of backs, seats and hinges. Keep the standards tightly fastened to the floor. If the concrete is poor in spots, a quick-setting cement, such as Anchorite, will frequently solve the problem. If the concrete slab is thin, anchorage can be obtained by using a long toggle bolt; or, if the underside of the slab is accessible, a plate can be placed on the underside and a long bolt run up through the floor and standard. Keep your floor attachment tight.

Back and Seat Attachment

Examine by shaking the backs and seats of all chairs. Tighten up all loose attachments. Use the wrench and screw driver with care. Hasty and careless operation frequently burrs screws and deforms nuts, leaving cutting edges that will damage clothing.

Hinges

If the hinges are of the mechanical type secured to the standards with bolts, or the hinge parts themselves assembled with bolts, the hinge assembly, as well as the attachment to the standard, should be tightened up. Open and fold the seat and listen for noise. Theater chair hinges, like other moving parts, need lubrication occasionally. Always remember that a little lubricant at the exact point where it is needed is a great deal better than applying it wholesale and soiling patrons' clothing. The manufacturer of the chairs will gladly tell you how to lubricate your chairs and what to use.

Covering Materials

Imitation leather may be cleaned by washing with warm water and a mild soap, such as Ivory or Lux Flakes. Then rinse and dry with a clean cloth. Do not use other cleaning agents, as they may damage the material. Wash imitation leather thoroughly every six months. Washing more frequently may remove the hardened protective surface coat.

To prolong the life of imitation leather, apply a coat of wax after cleaning. This will protect the surface and help keep the material clean for a longer time. Use Duco No. 7 Wax for this purpose.

Bubble Cleaner made by the L. C. Chase Company is recommended for cleaning fabrics. This should be done about once a year. Remove all dust and loose dirt with a whisk broom or vacuum cleaner. After diluting the cleaning fluid in accordance with the directions, pour a small quantity into a flat pan and work into a thick foam with a sponge or stiff brush. Apply the foam in moderate quantities to avoid soaking the fabric, rubbing vigorously against the pile while cleaning. Remove the foam with brush, sponge or dampened cloth, rubbing with the pile. Brush in the direction of the pile with a whisk broom while the fabric is drying. When dry, brush against the pile to restore the nap.

In any house, a portion of the chairs in favored locations are used much more than others. You can considerably increase the overall life of your chairs by a periodic interchanging of seats. In some communities, the cutting of covers, usually seats, is a common nuisance. Keep a small supply of covers of the various sizes and recover cut seats. Where the damage to an imitation leather seat cover is not extensive, patching can be done. Patching is not a permanent repair, but it prevents the hole from being enlarged so that filling material can be removed.

Finishes On Metal and Wood Parts

For cleaning finished metal parts, use DuPont No. 7 Wax. This not only cleans the finish, but leaves a film of wax as a protective coating. Do not use commercial cleaners.

For wood parts, a neutral mild soap and water are recommended. After washing, wipe with a clean wet cloth and dry. DuPont No. 7 Wax and Cleaner may also be used.

Clothing Tearing Hazards

Not all of your patrons will treat your equipment considerably. They may damage chairs by mistreatment so that hosiery and clothing can be torn. Clothing damage costs money and creates dissatisfaction. Check carefully for clothes-tearing hazards and repair them.

CARPETS

Remove gritty dirt. The presence of gritty material in the pile of any carpet may cause considerable loss in wear. Removal of such materials before they get ground down into the pile will add years of life to your carpet.

The only satisfactory method for removing such grit is by the use of a good vacuum cleaner.

Avoid rug wear-outs. Where certain areas receive more than average wear, as in front of settees, tables, etc., protect them with smaller rugs or rubber mats. If possible, allow for changes in furniture arrangement or for the reversibility of the rug. By doing this, traffic is distributed over the whole rug and it may be kept free from worn spots for a long time.

A considerable increase in wear life of stair carpet may be obtained, if it is laid properly. In stairs, experience shows that the back may wear away quicker than the pile. By laying stair carpet over a  $\frac{3}{8}$ " rubber underlay glued to the steps with rubber cement, with a felt pad glued to this with linoleum cement, making certain that both underlays cover the nose of the steps, stair carpet life may be considerably increased.

Remove spilled materials as soon as possible. Oily and greasy materials may be removed with solvents; other materials with clear water. Use water with such things as beverages, food or other water-soluble materials, blotting the pile dry when through. By such treatment, color changes may be minimized.

The best surface cleaner that can be used is made with solvents and a dry cleaner soap. Recommended solvents are "Sanilac," "Renuzit" or "Stoddard's Solvent." The soap recommended is "Di Glycol Laurate S." A  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 1 per cent solution of the soap in the solvent makes an excellent cleaner for removing soily spots or general soil.

VACUUM CLEANERS

Recommendations for vacuum cleaners include the normal care given to any piece of electrical equipment.

Lubricate the fan bearings as recommended and check the carbon brushes occasionally, replacing when worn down short.

If the cleaner is used constantly, it is advisable to send the motor at least once a year to a repair shop for checking and overhauling.

Clean the vacuum cleaner tank and bag regularly to obtain maximum service from the cleaner and thus reduce running time to a minimum.

The bag should be cleaned every day or at least every other day, depending upon the amount of cleaning for which the cleaner is used.

Handle the electric cord on your vacuum cleaner carefully because it is full of copper—a precious metal today. Don't yank the plug out of its socket by the cord. Grasp the plug itself. Always wind the electric cord loosely so that you don't damage the fine wires inside. Turn off the current before you pull out the plug or contacts may burn.

RUBBER MATS

When moving a rubber mat NEVER grasp it by the nosing. If a mat must be moved from one location to another, it should first be rolled and then carried to the new location.

NEVER drag a rubber mat without first rolling it up. No mat material manufactured can stand that strain.

To clean rubber mats, soap and water are satisfactory. Strong cleaning solutions have a deteriorating effect on rubber. After the mat has been cleaned and dried at its location, it can then be rolled back to one end and the floor dried beneath it. The other end of the mat then can be lifted and the balance of the floor dried, making it unnecessary to move the mat.

METAL FURNITURE

use saddle soap or any good alkali-free soap such as Ivory for cleaning. Put the soap on with a little lukewarm water and wipe off with a dry cloth. This preserves the covers and keeps them pliable. Where furniture is in constant use this cleaning should be done at least once every 30 days.

For the chrome on metal furniture,

Simonizing the metal parts will add considerably to the durability of the chrome finish.

AIR WASHERS, BLOWERS

Air Washers

During hard operation in hot weather, check at least twice a week, the water pump, makeup piping, scrubber and eliminator plates, flooding and spray nozzles, float valve and strainer. The scrubber and eliminator plates should be cleaned thoroughly at least once a week especially in dry, dusty climates, by scraping clean the caked mud off the surfaces and washing them down with a water hose. A putty knife should be used where the mud sticks to the surfaces.

The copper screening in the suction strainer should be cleaned by the use of a stiff-haired brush when the holes appear to be blocked. The float valve should be checked for proper adjustment to the water line because, if it is at the improper level either too much water will flow into the tank or not enough.

The flooding and spray nozzles should be checked to see that all the holes are opened and if they are blocked by impurities in the water, a fine wire should be inserted in these holes until the water spurts freely.

When the washer is not to be used for any length of time, it should be covered with canvas or other material to prevent the accumulation of dust within. When the washer is in operation, the tank should be thoroughly cleaned at least once a month by completely drawing the make-

In cold or freezing climates, the washer tank, if remaining idle for any length of time, should be completely drained of water and the plug in the bottom of the pump removed to prevent freezing up or bursting.

Blowers

The blower should be checked at least once a week and the grease cups on the bearings turned down or refilled with grease. The set collars on the shaft at the bearings should be oiled with light motor oil once a month to prevent wear.

The pulleys on the blower and motor should be checked for proper alignment at least once every three months. Improper alignment of these pulleys will surely wear out the belts.

The drive motor bearings should be oiled with No. 10 motor oil at least once a week. Any marred parts on the blower housing should be painted to prevent rapid corrosion or deterioration of the metal. In case the blower is shut down for any length of time, No. 10 motor oil should be spurted inside the grease cups and over the bearing blocks and set collars.

A canvas cover should be placed tightly over the blower and drive motor to prevent accumulation of dirt, dust, moisture, etc., within. In case the blower stands idle for some time, the tension on the belts should also be slightly released by loosening the motor base.

TICKET REGISTERS

Check the carbon motor brushes monthly and install new brushes, if necessary.

Once a week clean out the fluff from the machine interior. Ticket stock gives off a fluff and unless this is removed, it will get into the mechanism and gum it up.

Place a drop or two of thin oil every week on the cutting edges of the knives and the knife hinges. Be sure to wipe away any surplus oil.

A frequent source of trouble in ticket machines is the sticking of ticket flaps caused by metal polish becoming deposited in the ticket flap hinges. If permitted to remain, this metal polish will corrode the hinges. Kerosene is not only something of a lubricant, but it is also a solvent. Once a week, oil ticket flap hinges with kerosene, wiping away the surplus with a cloth.
